Viet Cong Scores In Bloody Ambush

Kill 51 Troops

From dug-in positions along a road, the Viet Cong opened up with heavy weapon and automatic rifle fire that killed 51 government troops. Another 30, including an American Ranger offficer, were wounded in the engagement Thursday 22 miles north of Saigon.

Ten soldiers were reported missing.

"We make the same mistakes all the time," a frustrated American adviser commented.

There is an average of one major Viet Cong ambush every week. American advisers are concentrating much of their effort on making the Vietnamese ambush conscious.

Traditional Style

The Viet Cong laid their trap Thursday in traditional style by attacking three outposts, the district town of Tan Uyen and a strategic hamlet before dawn.

Frantic radio reports from Tan Uyen, 25 miles north of Saigon, alerted authorities.

The attacks appeared coordinated around Tan Uyen.

By morning, three persons had been reported killed, 10 weapons lost and two radio transmitters stolen. A relief force headed up the road along the Dong Nai River.

Elements of a Ranger and infantry battalion were in the relief force, which moved in vehicles, American sources said.

The Viet Cong had apparently moved in alongside the road Wednesday night. Reports of the ambush are still sketchy, but apparently the Viet Cong permitted part of the convoy to pass and then opened up.

Other government units were rushed to the region but reported no contact with the Viet Cong.

Margin Tapering But Lodge Still Oregon Favorite

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Oregon's Republican free-for-all—a presidential primary election with six candidates and one campaigner—is being settled today.

Election officials forecast a record GOP turnout of about 265,000 voters.

Step Up Campaign

And public opinion pollsters predicted more of them would vote for Henry Cabot Lodge than for any of the other five contenders.

But their election-eve samplings indicated the Lodge lead was tapering off from the wide margin they had forecast earlier.

In the face of those predictions, the Lodge campaign forces stepped up their telephone and person-to-person bid for the victory they hope to couple with the absentee ambassador's write-in triumph in New Hampshire two months ago.

18 Delegates at Stake

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—the only candidate who did his own campaigning—eyed the last-minute polls and declared: "Mr. Lodge is the man to stop in Oregon. I would be very happy to make substantial gains."

Eighteen convention delegates are at stake.

Rockefeller said a powerful showing in Oregon would help his cause in California's June 2 primary, where he and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater meet head on, with no write-in votes permitted.

"The results in one state influence the people in another state and that is what happened after the New Hampshire primary," he sad.

Rockefeller said it will take "a massive effort to break through" and beat Goldwater in California, Unless he does, Rockefeller added, Goldwater will be hard to stop at the Republican National Convention.

Frost Warning Is Given for State Sections Tonight

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Frost covered parts of northern and western New York early today amid temperatures down into the mid 20s. The Weather Bureau forecast more, scattered frost tonight in parts of the eastern half of the state.

One spokesman said it was too early to tell whether last night's frost had been damaging. A State Police spokesman at Malone said:

"My wife was worried about her roses, but it didn't kill them."

The overnight low at Malone was 32, while Owls Head, to the south, registered 26. It was 31 at Massena, and generally below freezing across the north. In southwestern New York, readings also were around freezing.

Other temperatures on this mid-May day ranged in the 30s and 40s. New York City report-

Renovation Study Due at Courthouse

A further study, at no cost to the taxpayers, will be made of the Ulster County Courthouse and the county building at 74 John Street by the architectural firm of Augustus R. Schrowang Associates to ascertain what additional improvements should be made to the buildings. The proposed improvements include a new heating plant and air conditioning.

A resolution offered by Chairman Peter Williams (R), Saugerties, who is also chairman of the Building Committee, was adopted 27 to 5 at the May meeting of the board of supervisors Thursday night.

The resolution called for the firm to "examine the portions of the courthouse building which have not been included in the renovation and improvement contracts heretofore let" and present the board with estimates and recommendations of additional work. Minority Leader John C. Quimby, (D), Marlborough moved to amend the Williams resolution by including the County Building at 74 John Street and his amendment was accepted.

Opposition Offered

A long and at times bitter debate followed introduction of the resolution which calls for a "study" by the architect and submission of proposals and estimates of the cost of renovation of the heating system of the entire buliding, air conditioning of the entire building, renovations to the sheriff's office, library, Supreme Court rooms upstairs, and "any other portion of the buildings the said architectural firm believes should be renovated."

Voting against adoption was Supervisors Arnold Banker (D), Hardenburgh; Daniel Smith (D), 7th ward; Arthur J. Smith (D), 8th ward; Irving Bell (D), 6th ward and James J. Carroll (D), 10th ward.

Called 'Poor Planning'

Among several supervisors who referred to the project as the result of "poor planning" was Supervisor Roger Mabie (D), Esopus, who said these renovations should have been included in the original program for renovating the courthouse when they could have been done at less cost. Others said the matter of air conditioning had been brought up at the time other portions of the courthouse had been renovated and voiced an opinion that the work advocated should have been done at that time.

Chairman Peter Williams said the matter of air conditioning and other work had been discussed but due to the cost had been deferred.

Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux (R), Woodstock, said admitting a "mistake" had been made at that time and the cost

High School Has Drivers Listed in Jaycee Road-E-O

Applications have been received from a number of local area high school pupils to participate in the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Teenage Driving Road-E-o scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday in Dietz Stadium.

Arthur Broughton, chairman, said that registrations also will be accepted for the event tomorrow morning at the stadium. He said that local automobile dealers have provided cars and made financial contributions to the competition program. A boy and girl winner will be named in the event, Broughton said, and they in turn will compete in state competition to select representation in national competition He said a trophy will be awarded the first place winner in the local competition and golden keys will be presented to the next five winners.

Other Jaycee members on the Road-E-o committee include Philip Brown, Abe Trowbridge, Charles Carpenter and James Bishopp.

Mid-East War Near Home Says

Headless Bodies Will Get Honors

ADEN (AP)—The remains of two British soldiers whose heads were hacked off by rebel tribesmen are being buried in Aden today with full military honors.

The headless bodies of Capt. Robin Edwardes and Pvt. John Warburton were discovered in the Radfan Mountains 60 miles north of Aden by troops of the British-protected Federation of South Arabia, British army authorities announced Thursday night.

Others Escaped

The shallow graves near the Yemen frontier were within a few hundred yards of where Edwardes' nine-man patrol ran into more than 100 rebels April 30. Edwardes and Warburton were killed as the patrol charged shoulder to shoulder and broke through a ring of tribesmen.

The rest of the patrol escaped. An intelligence report said the severed heads were buried just across the Yemen border in Qataba.

Four days later the British Middle East commander said the heads had been displayed on spikes in Taiz, one of Yemen's two capitals. The report shocked British public opinion.

Later U.S. officials at Taiz reported that the heads had not been displayed there. Leaders of Britain's opposition Labor party criticized the Conservative government for putting out an unverified report.

Won't Intervene

In London, Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home told the House of Commons Thursday night that the Middle East is ready to erupt into war. But he said his government had no intention of intervening in the struggle between Yemen's re-

U. S. to Increase Striking Power For S. Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will increase the new striking power planned for the South Vietnamese Air Force by a third, it was learned today.

The 75 additional Skyraider dive bombers now due in South Viet Nam this summer will be boosted to more than 100, informed sources told The Associated Press.

Coupled with this, U.S. advisers will step up the tempo and scope of training to double the present 400 Vietnamese pilots and channel the best of them into flying the propeller-driven attack planes.

Vietnamese flyers already are piloting single-seat Skyraiders and T28 converted trainers in bombing and strafing attacks on Communist guerrillas. They also are operating certain kinds of transports, light reconnaissance planes and helicopters.

The objective of the expanded U.S. effort in this area is to get more of the Vietnamese to fly combat missions and thus to enable U.S. Air Force pilots, in Viet Nam for training chores, to stay out of the fighting as much as possible.

Informants said this is the meaning of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's statement Thursday that it is desirable to increase by 100 per cent the number of Vietnamese pilots and to strengthen further the Vietnamese Air Force.

"This will be done very promptly," McNamara said at the White House after returning from Saigon and reporting to President Johnson.

The defense secretary also spoke of the need to increase South Viet Nam's regular and paramilitary forces "very substantially and very soon" and of other steps to protect the peasant population from more active Communist terrorism.

The defense secretary's remark that it may be necessary to send over certain additional U.S. personnel to expand the training of the beefed-up Vietnamese forces is in line with what he has said in the past.

But, once again, McNamara made it plain that U.S. policy is to bring home U.S. trainers when their job is done—for example, to withdraw specialists in aircraft maintenance when the Vietnamese have learned to handle the job themselves.

Smoking Tax Dip Threat To Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — An April dip in cigarette-tax revenues in New York State appears to jeopardize the delicate balance of Gov. Rockefeller's $2.9-billion budget.

The State Tax Department reported Thursday that income from the state's five-cent-a-pack cigarette tax last month was $10,510,385, compared with $11,350,190 taken in during April, 1963.

Could Run $8 Million

The drop—which amounted to 6½ per cent — would cost the state $8 million if the trend persisted through the year. The governor's budget for fiscal year 1964-65, which began April 1, provided for a surplus of only $1 million.

Cigarette - tax revenues dropped sharply in January after publication of a report by the U.S. surgeon general that linked smoking to lung cancer.

Have Some Hope

The drop in February was even more dramatic—18.3 per cent—than the January figure. In March, however, revenues were only a shade under those of the corresponding month last year, and tax department officials hopefully expressed the view that the cancer scare had run its course and that New Yorkers had resumed smoking as much as ever.

A department spokesman said he assumed the April drop was "still part of the fallout" from the federal report.

Rockefeller's 1964-65 budget listed anticipated income of $127 million from the cigarette tax—the same amount as in the 1963-64 budget. He said he was not planning on the usual annual rise in the cigarette revenue because of uncertainty over the effct of the smoking rport.

Kiwanis Speaker Is Critical of Schools

That the educational system in the State of New York, purported to be the best in the nation, leaves much to be desired, was emphasized at the Kingston Kiwanis Club meeting by David Jacquith, president of the Board of Education of the City of Syracuse.

Jacquith, a Conservative, prior to his address on a "Business Look at the Public School System," gave a brief review of the Liberal - Conservative standards in the Empire State. He stated that Conservatism "has had a bad press" — that back in the Roosevelt era, the Liberal-Conservative stood for the "rights and freedom of the individual, but that now the Liberals desire to have the government solve their problems." He mentioned that this latter idea means that the individual must "participate or pay whether you want to or not," when the government takes over. He further stated that "the results of your efforts should be true to yourself and your family," and he pointed out that almost a third of a man's working hours in a year are devoted to financially supporting the government.

Touches on Renewal

David Jacquith also spoke of Urban Renewal — stating that "Urban Renewal is a total and absolute failure about half the time." One of the reasons advanced for this result is that "planners take down old structures and expect others to go up—but you need iron-clad insurance that what comes down will go up!"

The speaker pleaded for increased interest in the state educational system on the part of the citizens. He said that 43 per cent of the state budget was concerned with education and "that spending is going up at a fantastic rate." This spending was rising, according to Jacquith, three times as fast as the number of pupils, and therefore pupil increase could not be pinpointed as the prime reason for the spendig. The speaker said that predictions indicated that educational spending in this state would double in the next eight years.

Tied To Welfare

Jacquith declared that the people of the state "are also bearing the cost of the failures in the educational system." He stated that the second highest item in the state budget was welfare, "and this ties in with educational failures."

An explanation of the welfare tie-in with education was given by the speaker through an assertion that "the average child gets a good education in New York State." This education was purported to cost 25 per cent higher then the next highest state in the union — New Jersey — and a third higher than California which statistics claim has the second best educational system in the country. Jacquith pointed out that the New York State system is a "high priced system developed for the middle class child, and is poor for handicapped children." He indicated that this is a major problem in the state and directly leads to the handicapped class failing in education and eventually being the objects of welfare existence.

"Our system just don't teach some kids to read — they don't learn to read early, well, and easily," said Jacquiths. Thus education does not mean much to these handicapped children.

Reasons suggested by Jac-

Gorman Addresses Co. Board

Cites Great Need For More Room

Kingston Hospitals are so crowded at the present time that should a serious emergency arise they would be unable to cope with it, so said Dr. Gerald P. Gorman in addressing the Ulster County Board of Supervisors in relation to use of a limited number of rooms in the Tuberculosis Hospital for lung cases of a non-tubercular nature. The matter was referred to the Public Health Committee.

Dr. Gorman, speaking as a representative of the Ulster County Medical Association, urged the board to take steps to permit admission of non-tubercular, lung case patients to the hospital. It was pointed out by Dr. Gorman that the incidence of tuberculosis was not declining but methods of treatment had changed and there was less demand for long hospitalization of patients.

Would Relieve Hospitals

This change in the manner of treatment of the disease, he said, has made available rooms in the hospital which could be put to use of non-tubercular lung disease cases and thus relieve the local hospitals and make availble additional needed room in those hospitals. Outpatient clinics for tubercular cases are doing "wonderful service" Dr. Gorman said and he advocated, on behalf of the Medical Society, that rooms made available through less need for hospitalization of tubercular patients be used to lighten the load on local hospitals. He pointed out that many lung diseases could be treated at the Tuberculosis Hospital and noted the increase in lung cancer.

State Approval Needed

In order to make use of the Tuberculosis Hospital facilities for non-tubercular patients, state approval in the status of the hospital must be received.

Under the proposal a section would be set aside for use by non-tubercular cases and all facilities, including the kitchen would be separate. The hospital now has two kitchens. Dr. Gorman pointed out that use of the hospital facilities as an "infirmary" was not being sought, the proposal was to use it for non-tubercular pulmonary cases.

Following Dr. Gorman's talk there were numerous questions from supervisors. Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux (R) Woodstock, inquired if capital expenditures would be required. He was informed there were presently two diet kitchens and other facilities would not require any serious expense.

It was pointed out that should the change be made, patients with tuberculosis would have preference and would be admitted over non-tubercular patients.

Could Help Cut Costs

Use of the Tuberculosis Hospital facilities by non-tubercular patients, who would be required to pay as far as their ability to pay permitted, would reduce the per-diem cost per patients. The state would not share in the cost of the non-tubercular patients.

It was stated that not since 1959 had the Tuberculosis Hospital had more than 40 patients at one time.

Supervisor Irving Bell (D), sixth ward, stated that in Jan-

Missile Site Is Destroyed, Cost Runs $5 Million

FREDERICK, Okla. (AP)—An explosion and fire destroyed a $5-million Atlas missile site near this southwest Oklahoma town Thursday.

Twenty men, four of the missile crew members of the Air Force, were completing the final phase of a modification program when the evacuation alarm sounded. All escaped without injury.

There was no nuclear device involved in the fire, a spokesman said. Crewmen said they felt only a thump in the control center, separated by blast proof doors from the silo, when the explosion occurred.

It was reported in Washington fire broke out during fueling operations. The Air Force there said an investigating team will probe the mishap.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The political furor tends either to hide or distort the business perplexities which also may be resolved this summer. And these largely nonpolitical issues can set the pattern for the income you may expect and the prices you may find on the goods and services you want.

Ifs Are Important

The party campaigns are being waged against a background of general prosperity and growing confidence. At the midpoint in the second quarter of the year the majority of reports show the economy at new heights with good chances of going still higher if—

The ifs can be important. And some should become clear before election time.

On the income side there are new wage patterns to be hammered out this summer, with chief interest centered on the auto industry.

Washington is trying hard to get both labor and management to follow what it calls guidelines. Primarily they preach moderation. Washington wants labor to ask for pay increases that won't upset the balance of production costs and prices. And it wants management to resist any wage demands that would force price increases and cancel out the benefits from the cut in federal income taxes.

Labor Knows About Profits

Labor is well aware that many corporations are reporting record profits along with rising sales.

Management spokesmen are busily pointing out that profits should go still higher if new capital is to be attracted for the financing of business expansion to meet the goals of economic growth.

Many businessmen feel that as soon as competition permits, or when production costs mount again, prices must go up to provide adequate profit margins on sales.

Another mystery also is expected to be solved before autumn. This is how the consumer will finally react to the federal tax cut savings. So far he has been spending the new money moderately, saving some of it, using the rest to pay up old debts. If the consumer starts spending a lot more by fall, the pressure to hammer out sizable wage increases and to raise prices to meet the higher payroll will build up.

At issue is the possibility of another round of inflation. There is little sign of it at the second quarter's midpoint. There could be plenty of signs by election time.

Hatching Cardinal Holds Up $400 Sale

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A determined female cardinal bird is holding up sale of more than $400 worth of young oak trees by a nursery.

The cardinal built a nest in one of the trees in a lath house, and Harold Dodd, the nurseryman, said Thursday the entire shipment of oaks couldn't be moved until the cardinal's eggs are hatched and the young birds learn to fly.

The process is expected to take about two more weeks.

"I love birds," Dodd said.

Some Differences Are Noted Between Truman, Eisenhower

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)— Harry S. Truman's influence with the Democrats has declined while Dwight D. Eisenhower's weight with the Republicans has not been tested. That's one difference between them. There's another.

Eisenhower is reluctant to say anything that makes people mad at him; Truman thrives on the opposite. This was how the two ex-presidents acted in the White House and they carried the attitude into retirement.

This week Eisenhower, asked his choice among would-be Republican presidential candidates came up with this: "Oh, well, those are my personal thoughts. Don't let's get too deep into a fellow."

This will be the first presidential election since Eisenhower left the White House. He had tremendous influence with Republicans there. But he doesn't know how much influence he has now. He won't kow until he tries to use it.

Truman didn't have any of this Eisenhower reluctance in saying what he thought in two presidential races after he stepped down.

On Endorsements

In 1956 he endorsed Averell Harriman, then New York's governor, although he waited until two days before the convention. Truman was ignored and Harriman lost to Adlai E. Stevenson.

This didn't deter Truman. In 1960, months before the Democrats met to pick a candidate, Truman came out for a fellow-Missourian, Sen. Stuart Symington, and said another contender, Sen. John F. Kennedy, would be weak.

Truman was ignored again, the second time in a row. But this didn't make him hesitant about speaking his mind, as he demonstrated last week when he reached 80.

Praises Johnson

He said of President Johnson, who will be this year's Democratic candidate, short of a political earthquake: "I don't think we have had a better President in 100 years than we have right now and I am tickled to death with him."

This seemed to put Johnson right next to Abraham Lincoln. But, since Johnson looks like such a sure-shot for the nomination, this was one time when Truman was probably not sticking his neck out.

Dirty Work

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Technicians who work on the first U. S. spacecraft intended to land on Mars may be banned from taking baths. L. B. Hall, special quarantine officer with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, says studies show that dissemination of organisms from the human body is five times as great just after a person takes a bath or shower than it is a few hours later.

In the very early part of 1960, his last full year in the presidency, Eisenhower wouldn't endorse any Republican for his job even though Richard M. Nixon had been his vice president through two terms.

But by March of that year, when Nixon was the only real candidate in sight, Eisenhower announced in his favor. This meant a lot to Nixon. At that time, still in the presidency, Eisenhower had enormous influence with his party.

He May Not Try

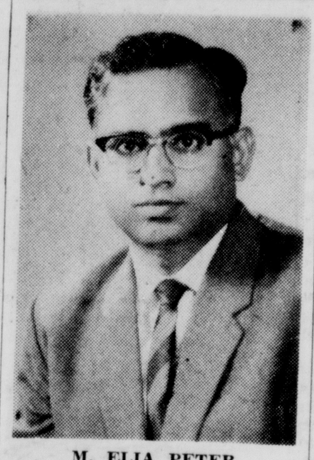

Maybe he still does. But that's not certain if only because of the mixed-up condition of the Republicans. His influence can't be tested at all unless he tries to assert it. He hasn't yet and perhaps he won't try.

He said Thursday he would not try to dictate a choice for the Republican nomination nor try to block any of the most prominently mentioned candidates.

He said: "I, by no means, believe that it is proper for me to say 'this is the man,' and expect all the Republicans, just like a herd of sheep, to run that way."

This was strange phrasing. Simply expressing an opinion or preference is not necessarily dictation. There is no reason why he should expect Republicans to run like sheep if he expressed himself on the candidates.

Asked why he declined to inject his influence into the preconvention maneuvering, he said, "I don't want to do anything that I think would be divisive in the party."

Ridge Methodists To Hear Director Of Indian Youth

Director of youth work of the Methodist Church in India, M. Elia Peter of Hyderabad will be guest speaker Sunday in the Stone Ridge Methodist Charge. Services are at 11:15 a. m. at Stone Ridge; 8:45 a. m., Kripplebush and 10 a. m. Accord.

Mr. Peter is now taking postgraduate religious studies at Union Theological Seminary, New York City. When he returns to India, he will continue his work with youth—organizing training centers and courses for promising Christian leaders-to-be, and preparing educational material for use in church schools and other religious classes.

Mr. Peter was born in Vikarabad, the Deccan, India, of Christian parents. He is fluent in three Indian dialects as well as in English—Talugu, Hindu and Urdu. He was educated at the Methodist Boys High School in Hyderabad, the Deccan; received his BA from Madras Christian College; and then came to the United States, taking a Master of Arts degree at Syracuse University.

Chosen to Head Work

For some years he was a teacher in the Methodist School in his home town of Vikarabad, and then was chosen to direct Methodist work to India youth. In that leadership capacity, he has also served as editor of the publication, Youth Fellowship; has represented the National Christian Council of India in youth departments of World Council of Churches, and in the World Council of Christian Education.

In 1956-57, Mr. Peter was a member of a team that was sent to South America by the youth department of the World Council of Churches to help in the organization of youth groups and youth institutes among Protestant young people. He has also visited Malaya and the Philippine Islands in the interests of Christian youth fellowships, as Secretary and Chairman of the Youth Committee of the East Asia Christian Conference and has worked with the Student Volunteer Movement in the U.S.A.

In 1963, he was organizing secretary of the Asia Consultation of the Methodist Church which brought together leaders of the Methodist Church and related churches from Asia and other continents.

He is married. His wife is a science teacher in Hyderabad They have two children, a son who is four and a daughter who is two and a half.

Dear Abby . . .

Now Calm Down!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A letter came for my husband The few words I could see through the envelope raised my suspicions, so when he came home I made him open it in front of me and reat it out loud. Abby, I almost died! It was a love letter from a married woman my husband had been carrying on with out of town. He travels. She told him how much she missed him and loved him. It was disgusting! She mentioned her two children. I locked my husband in the basement and called her up long distance. I told her what I thought of her and the whole cheap affair. I also told her I was going to call her husband and tell him about it. She cried and begged, saying if I did, they would take her children away from her. Now I am uncertain. Do you think this little tramp deserves a second chance?

PLENTY MAD

DEAR PLENTY: Everybody deserves a second chance. One good scare is sometimes worth a month of Sundays in church.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl with a problem. When I ask my mother if I can go to the movies with three or four girls, she says yes. Then after all the plans are made and I am getting ready to go, my mother thinks up some reason why I can't go. Like she doesn't like what I'm wearing, or the way I talk to my friends, or she will think of something I did a while ago and decide to punish me now by not letting me go. Then I have to call my friends and tell them I can't go. I wouldn't mind so much if my mother told me I couldn't go in the first place. Do you think this is fair to me and my friends?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMARRASSED: No! Parents should realize that their children learn more from example than preaching. Your mother could do a better job of teaching you how to keep your word by keeping hers. And delayed punishments are unjust.

DEAR ABBY: When I have company and I get a telephone call from a friend who wants to pass the time away just chatting, I always tell them I have company, and Ill ring them back as soon as I'm free. Well, I was visiting at the home of this friend (by invitation) and her telephone rang. I heard her say, "Oh, nothing. What are YOU doing?" Then she carried on a conversation with this other party about absolutely nothing while I sat there staring into space for exactly 35 minutes by my watch. I think this was extremely rude. What would you have done in a case like that?

TIME WASTED

DEAR TIME: After 15 minutes of "staring" I would have signaled my hostess a fond farewell and that would have been the last she'd have seen of this guest.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am fed up hearing people say that all the money I spent on my college education was "wasted" because ALL I did was get married. I earned a B.A. degree, and then my Master's, and I have a teaching certificate. Please say something in your column about the importance of education to women.

EDUCATED AND GLAD OF IT

DEAR EDUCATED: A college education is the best insurance a woman can have in case something should happen to her husband. Should he become unable to work, his wife will be faced with the task of supporting the family. She will do much better for having had a college education. And what do people mean, "all" you did was get married? Marriage is the greatest challenge of all.

THE HELPING HAND

The age we live in has been given so many names — atomic, space, electronic, to list a few — that one hesitates to hang another on it. Unfortunately, it seems to deserve it.

Judging from a number of incidents in the news, the proper title summing up the human situation in mid-20th century might well be "The Age of Noninvolvement."

In the New York borough of Queens a few weeks ago, a young woman was pursued and stabbed to death on the street while 38 persons watched from their apartment windows. No one wanted to get involved to the extent of calling the police from the safety of their homes, much less go outside and try to aid the woman.

More recently, a crow of 50 people looked on stupidly from the shore near Atlantic City, N. J., while two boys drowned and one man nearly drowned trying to save them.

"Nobody did a thing, not a damn thing, to save that man and those boys," said a gas station attendant who came on the scene and took a rowboat out to rescue the man. "They just stood there and watched those kids die."

And in Los Angeles the other day two policemen appealed in vain for help from passing motorists as they clung desperately to a man who was trying to jump off a bridge.

"We were hanging on for dear life," said one of the officers, "but they drove on like they didn't want to get involved."

Nor should we forget what happened in Indianapolis a couple of years ago when a bleacher collapsed during the Memorial Day race. Those sitting nearby went on chewing their hot dogs, oblivious to the screams of the people crushed in the wreckage.

Some would argue that a decade of watching daily shootings, knifings, beatings and other assorted assaults in our living rooms on television has anesthetized the faculty of compassion.

Unless we stop being spectators to life and learn to become participants in it — which means to become involved in the welfare of our fellows — we may someday find ourselves spectators to our own demise, if not that of society itself.

Our Nato allies don't think Castro's regime in Cuba can be brought to its knees by economic strangulation. This negative view has the State Department gagging.

MS VOLUNTEERS

Our pioneer forefathers had a great tradition. They helped each other. They gathered together for mutual protection against storm and enemy and famine. They stood side by side, working in concert for the common good.

For, raising a barn was work that called for many willing hands. And the withstanding of attack called forth citizen soldiers in defense of hearth and home.

Just so, the battle against multiple sclerosis invokes a modern tradition of neighbor helping neighbor; evokes willing hearts and hands, calls forth American citizen volunteers against the great crippler of young adults.

Who are those modern citizen volunteers? They are all of us. For multiple sclerosis could strike us. It and related diseases have stricken an estimated 500,000 of our fellow Americans. Multiple sclerosis and its related neurological diseases take a frightening toll of our productivity and happiness.

Sounding the alarm, leading the vanguard against the dread disease, are the volunteers of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society and its chapters across our nation. An army of them, some 250,000 strong, they seek funds to forge the researchers' weapons, to aid and serve the victims of this disease.

The army against multiple sclerosis is a strong and dedicated one, but it does need you. For as the society grows, as its programs of research, patient services and community and professional education expand, so must the supporting volunteer army grow.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

PENNSYLVANIA WAS AHEAD OF LBJ

Somerset, Pa.—Certain politicos in Washington would have the American people believe that the war on poverty and the waste of natural resources has just begun. Actually, as the County of Somerset in this southeast corner of Pennsylvania goes to show, the war began a long time ago. It was being successfully waged in Pennsylvania on a local and state basis before the word "Appalachia" jumped from the sociological texts to the front pages to serve as a blanket symbol of want and depredation.

Congressman J. Irving Whalley, a Republican business man and physical fitness fan who has represented the 12th Pennsylvania District in Washington since 1960, recalls how the drive to restore ravaged strip mine lands began. Next to the Somerset strip mine capitalists themselves, Congressman Whalley has been a hero of the drama. He had been a Somerset County coal mine operator, a car dealer and a banker before his election to the Pennsylvania lower house at Harrisburg in 1951, and he had watched with great interest as Charles Merrill and other local coal capitalists began after World War II to clean up the litter and the spoil banks left by strip mining.

The Pennsylvania law, in 1951, required only the merest sort of token backfilling of stripped coal lands. A believer in local and State responsibility, Whalley began to argue in Harrisburg for a comprehensive Pennsylvania State law to require the coal companies to restore to original contours any land they had defaced in their mining activities. He recalls the day in 1953 when seventeen Somerset County operators came to his office in Harrisburg. Before they had left they had all signed a petition for legislation requiring complete backfilling. The argument that the Federal government would someday step in with a blundering and costly compulsory program if Pennsylvania refused to take care of its own reclamation problems had impressed the seventeen strip mine operators.

Though he charitably refuses to single out the counties that refused to go along with Somerset is asking for a complete strip mine reclamation law, Whalley remembers that for several years his name was mud with many coal people in Harrisburg. Eventually, however, the legislation sponsored by the Somerset seventeen carried the day. It became a law in January, 1964 after Governor Scranton had signed the bill. Whalley had, by this time, been elected to the U. S. House of Representatives three times.

The ironic pay-off, as Whalley now sees it, is that the proposed Federal legislation for the whole of Appalachia may make Pennsylvania suffer for its own forehandedness in trying to take care of its own. Present indications are that Washington will insist on appropriating funds drawn from taxpayers in all the states to pay for backfilling ravaged strip mine lands throughout the Appalachian region. This might enable strip mine operators to go on defacing the land, secure in the knowledge that the people of the U. S. as a whole would have to pay the reclamation bills. Quite properly resenting this, Governor Scranton has asked that Federal money for reclamation be granted only to states which have local legislation compelling coal mine operators in the future to clean up their own debris.

The argument that poor states can't afford to penalize their own coal operators just doesn't go down with the Pennsylvanians. They say that restoration vastly increases the value of property irrespective of state lines. Thomas Balsinger, a conservation consultant, points out that Pennsylvania was virtually denuded of conifers, or pine and spruce trees, before 1945. Since then 120 million conifers have been planted on strip mine spoil areas to give Pennsylvania a new and thriving forest products industry. The strip mine operators have thus done more for the Pennsylvania lumber industry in the past two decades than the lumbermen themselves. And where the operators have owned their own coal lands, they have added considerably to their profits by forestry and other reclamation.

Quite reasonably, Governor Scranton and Congressman Whalley think that Pennsylvania should not be blacked out when credit for concern over the restoration of Appalachia is being distributed. And local editors such as Henry B. Reiley, Jr., of the Somerset American, think that the small towns and counties that are taking care of their own problems deserve at least some commendation from the White House for anticipating the newly popular drive on poverty.

Several Approaches Used To Treat Regional Ileitis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have had a portion of my bowel removed because of Crohn's disease. Is there any chance that the disease will come back? Is it a form of cancer?

A—Crohn's disease or regional ileitis is an inflammation of the small intestine (ileum). The cause is not known. It is not a form of cancer.

It often involves several short portions of the ileum with normal bowel in between. The victim has cramping pains in the abdomen often aggravated by eating, loose stools and loss of appetite.

About one-third of the victims recover spontaneously from an acute attack. In the rest, the disease becomes chronic and extends to involve an ever greater portion of the intestine.

The treatment is not very satisfactory and several approaches must be used. A bland diet with antispasmodic drugs and enough food to prevent loss of weight is important. In some victims psychiatric care is necessary to remove emotional factors that may be aggravating the disease. Antibiotics may be needed for the acute attack.

Removal of the involved segment has been widely used, but because recurrences have been so common surgeons are now advocating an opening of the healthy bowel through the abdominal wall (ileostomy) to give the diseased portion a rest.

Q—I am 30 years old and have been taking Enovid for several months. Are there any harmful results from taking this drug?

A—Although too large a dosage may cause such side effects as headache and nausea, when taken in the prescribed amount this drug can be safely taken for prolonged periods.

Q—What is Decagesic and what is it given for?

A—This is a combination of dexamethasone, one of the cortisone group of drugs, with aspirin and aluminum hydroxide. It is especially recommended for rheumatoid and other types of arthritis, bursitis and other diseases of the joints. As with all drugs containing cortisone or related hormones, it should not be taken over a prolonged period.

Q—I have been taking Dexedrine for several years to help me reduce. Will it cause any bad side effects?

A—Dexedrine is a brand of dextro amphetamine. It is commonly used as a nervous system stimulant and appetite depressant. Large doses may cause insomnia, nausea or fainting. It should not be used continuously because it is habit-forming.

Washington News

SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA) —The Republican party may be in the greatest internal trouble of its long life. The gulf between its moderate-liberal wing and its right wing is widening to perilous dimensions.

The very serious concern felt on this score by many leading Republicans was underlined by a number of GOP governors who attended the recent Western Governors' Conference here.

They are back in their home territories now. But they left behind them in San Francisco, where the 1964 Republican presidential nominee will be chosen in two months, an atmosphere in which are mixed a shrugging resignation, resentment, bitterness and fear.

The only exceptions to this mood among western governors are Governors Paul Fannin of Arizona and Tim Babcock of Montana, who are, of course, for Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater for the GOP nomination.

The growing belief that Goldwater may be very close to that prize if he wins the California primary June 2 is the matter which so deeply worries the other Western governors.

LET'S BE BLUNT about the elements of this concern:

1. They believe—and their view appears to be shared by all but one of the nine Republican governors outside the West—that to nominate Goldwater may be to pick the worst presidential loser since Alfred M. Landon of Kansas in 1936.

The non-Goldwater westerners were stunned that a candidate like Harold Stassen could collect 105,000 votes to Barry's 262,000 in conservative Indiana's presidential primary.

Richard Nixon, a moderate believed to be less to Indiana's taste, ran up 408,000 votes there four years ago Nixon's 1960 showing in conservative Illinois also exceeded Goldwater's total in 1964—by 270,000 votes.

Says one western governor: "If we choose Barry in July, it looks to me like we'll get our tails beat in November."

2. The non-Goldwater governors, a majority by 13 to 3, believe further that to nominate Goldwater would be to place the party in the hands of "unrealistic" arch-conservatives — here-and-there extremists—who would assure Republican defeats at presidential and governorship levels for the next two decades.

Another troubled governor speaks:

"It strikes me they (the arch-conservatives) may be less interested in winning an election than in possessing the wreckage."

3. These same leaders were severely annoyed at what they regard as harsh, roughshod practices by Goldwater forces pressing for convention delegates in state after state.

"I know the name of this game is not fairness," notes a mountain state governor, "but they are going beyond all bounds."

GOVERNORS IN San Francisco echoed a complaint heard often in many parts of the country—that "rule-or-ruin" tactics by Goldwater backers are forcing "good people" to wither out of the party or into inactivity.

Some governors are particularly upset that Kansas Gov. John Anderson, 1964 chairman of the National Governors' Conference, was kept off his state's convention delegation because he refused to plump for Goldwater. He wants a moderate choice.

Since most of these men figure Goldwater may win California and thereby become virtually unstoppable in July, their mood is unmistakably dark. One governor even talks of skipping the San Francisco convention altogether.

Yet their hopes of halting Goldwater are not entirely dead. Some think the beginnings of a moderate coalition may be put together at the national governors' meeting in Cleveland, which begins four days after the big California primary.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

May 15, 1944—Boy scouts had collected 30,000 pounds of waste paper in the First and 12th wards.

William C. Peters, of Voorhees Avenue, was injured in a car-truck mishap at Cornell Street and Smith Avenue.

The Kingston Horsemen's Association planned to hold its 25th annual banquet at Schoentag's, Town of Saugerties, May 17.

A service flag was to be dedicated at the North Marbletown Reformed Church.

May 15, 1954—The Municipal Stadium was to be named Dietz Stadium in memory of Sgt. Robert H. Dietz, local Congressional Medal of Honor soldier, at special Memorial Day rites.

Ulster County was due to receive a $12,507 per capita aid sum from the state.

An Albany report said 53 communities in the state using New York City water were told to reduce consumption of it.

Nixon Seen as Republican Choice if Goldwater Loses

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

President Eisenhower has wisely adopted a position of neutrality as between candidates for the Republican Presidential nomination and says he will not try to "dictate" a choice. This conforms to the tactics of the experts with long experience in pre-convention campaigns in past years.

The Republican party is going to have a hard time winning against President Johnson anyway. But it can easily sweep away all chances of victory by what it does between now and the time of the national convention.

The dificulty really lies in the fact that many of the supporters of the various candidates are ignoring the rank-and-file opposition to the administration in power. It is being mistakenly assumed that to project the virtues of this or that prospective nominee and to ridicule or denounce or smear some other rival candidate is the way to win delegates.

The public is generally unfamiliar not only with how delegates are chosen at a national convention but with the part that "grass roots" sentiment truly plays. The psychology of party conventions is not easy to analyze. Yet certain things are clear. They have happened in the past and are likely to happen again.

When, for instance, there is a prevalent sentiment in a party, it is important that no faction shall alienate it. The sentiment may not have a majority behind it, but as long as it is the only organized expression within a party definitely related to certain principles and issues, there is every reason not to attempt to demolish it.

Of all the candidates whose names have been advanced for the Republican nomination, the one who has been most tactful in avoiding antagonism against the other candidates is former Vice President Nixon. He knows something about convention psychology and realizes that, if he is to have a chance himself for the nomination, it will come only by being friendly to all the groups supporting other candidates.

Basically, the one point that has to be recognized in analyzing the Republican situation is that in the number of delegates Sen .Barry Goldwater is today in the lead. He already has a large bloc of delegates pledged to him and, in addition, a sizable group who are uncommitted but lean in his direction. By all the rules of politics, he should have his chance at the convention to demonstrate his maximum strength. If in the next eight weeks his opponents gang up on him, by secret coalitions or otherwise, a substantial number of people in the Republican party, who believe that Sen. Goldwater reflects in a dedicated way the opposition to the Democratic party policies of the last several years, will be alienated.

This could produce a large stay-at-home vote among Republicans on Election Day. For many of the Goldwater supporters would prefer Lyndon Johnson rather than some Republicans now being boomed for the nomination. To put it another way, if the Republican party is, in effect, to join the opposition with a "me-too" philosophy, instead of making a real fight against what are considered to be today's socialistic trends, not a few of the same Goldwater people would rather continue Lyndon Johnson as President.

What should be the strategy of those Republicans who are anti-Goldwater? It should be to let the Goldwater movement take its natural course and endeavor by the platform planks to express their principles so that any candidate named will be bound by the platform declarations.

The first two or three ballots will, of course, register the maximum strength of Sen. Goldwater. If he continues to gain on each ballot, he may win some of the uncommitted delegates, who usually climb on the bandwagon if they think the front runner is in reach of a majority. But if the Goldwater majority fails to materialize after two or three ballots, this question arises: To what candidate should the Goldwater strength be given? Should it go to some candidate who represents diametrically opposite policies and principles? Should it go to someone who has been friendly to the Goldwater side?

There has been a decided anti-Goldwater tone in many of the speeches by the other candidates, some of whose supporters have outspokenly criticized or belittled the Arizona Senator. One Republican Senator from the East has even intimated that he might not support the party's candidate if Mr. Goldwater is nominated. These are hardly the tactics that will produce harmony in a party.

At the moment, nobody knows whether Sen. Goldwater will have enough votes to win the nomination, but it is conceded that he has the largest number and will go to the convention with a good margin. If he should fail to get a majority after two or three ballots, it seems likely that his strength will go to former Vice-President Nixon more readily than to Gov. Rockefeller or Gov. Scranton or Ambassador Lodge. There is no evidence, of course, that Sen. Goldwater is in any sense out of the running.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

It is possible that some men in our government hope that a U-2 plane will be knocked down over Cuba. They do not want to lose the pilot, but, if he dies, they feel he does so in an excellent cause. The U. S. has been waiting for three years for Castro to make an overt move. The time appears to be now.

The government, under Eisenhower and Kennedy, permitted itself to be roped off from Cuba. President Johnson inherited the earlier commitments. The last one, agreed upon in secret amid public saber rattling, stated that the government of the Soviet Union would remove its intermediate range ballistic missiles at once, provided that the U. S. did not interfere with the sovereignty of Cuba, and granting that the Americans would have the right to inspect the missile sites.

Fidel Castro refused to acknowledge the Russo-American agreement, and, even though the Russians took their missiles away, he would not honor the right of the Americans to inspect the missile sites. President John F. Kennedy, on the advice of his chiefs of staff, agreed to inspect by aerial reconnaissance. It has been going on ever since.

The Soviet Army removed the missiles, suffered the American blockade, and smoothed Castro's ruffled feelings by installing ground-to-air missiles; weaponry intended solely to knock planes out of the sky. His Cubans were taught the use of these weapons. Now the Soviet government pretends that it has no further responsibility for the iron birds. They are in Cuban hands. If the Cubans want to aim them at American military planes flying over Cuban airspace, then the Americans are obviously wrong, and Castro is properly protecting himself.

In four years, I have been to the American base at Guantanamo twice. Gitmo sits in the southeastern corner of the 700-mile island. It bristles with naval power. An admiral stood on a hill with me and pointed to a missile cruiser at anchor in the jade roadstead. "There is more power on that cruiser," he said, "than there is in the rest of Cuba."

Guantanamo is a forward base. It is supported by a bigger base in Puerto Rico. It is also supported by regiments of U. S. Marines, a blockade of carriers, destroyers and submarines which circle Cuba perpetually; B-52 bombers at Homestead Florida; troop carriers and airborne soldiers; the I.R.B.M. missiles at Cape Kennedy, and the Eastern Sea Frontier command at Mayport, Florida, and Norfolk, Va.

It requires a lot of money to keep these forces in readiness for three years. They have been ready. Whether they will see action is a matter which is in the hands of an emotional man with a beard. He alone can make the decision whether to fire at a U-2 photographic plane flying over Cuba.

President Johnson has said that American planes will continue to "inspect" from the air. The Russians say that there is no reason for this inspection; the primary cause — the missiles — are gone. But Johnson intends to continue. Castro says that his short-range missiles will knock the high-flying Americans down.

If they do, the first order of the day will be "take those short-range missiles sites out." The action will come from Homestead A.F.B. in Florida. Dozens of fighter-bombers are briefed and ready. They already know where the targets are.

Should Cubans fire on these planes, the big B-52's are ready to drop heavier stuff on the island. It is doubtful that atomic weapons would be used, but it is possible that the Soviet Union may issue an ultimatum to the U. S. to cease fire or risk a holocaust. It is at this point that each nation is going to pause for a moment, and then decide its course.

I have known a number of ranking officers and a couple of Presidents, and I would guess that the President would reply to the Russians by stating that this country has been "provoked" by Cuba into taking this action, and that, if the Soviet government cannot be dissuaded from starting a big war over a small and belligerent nation within the American sphere of influence, then the U. S. will just have to retaliate.

In this way, Castro has his finger on the trigger. Should the trouble reach the stage where the Johnson government finds itself committed to invade Cuba, it will be done with airborne divisions, with Guantanamo Marines, and sea power. Conversely, if the Russians find themselves in a spot where they cannot back down in the face of world opinion, they will be forced to risk total war, or lose the leadership of the Communist world.

The last two great powers on the face of the earth are at the mercy of a boob.

Meany Supports N. Y. Plumbers

NEW YORK (AP) — George Meany, AFL-CIO president, is supporting union plumbers who have refused to work with a Negro and three Puerto Rican plumbers who are not union members.

"This union won't work with non-union men," Meany said Thursday night. He denied that Negroes or Puerto Ricans had been excluded from the union.

The white, union plumbers walked off the construction site of the city's $25 million produce market in the Bronx two weeks ago when the four newcomers, hired by the contractor, reported for work.

The walk-out threatens to stop all work on the project.

President Johnson has asked Secretary of Labor W. Willlard Wirtz to investigate.

Meany said the union men are "completely justified in refusing to work."

Frank W. Lutz New Commander Of Esopus Legion

At the annual election of officers of Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, held recently, Frank W. Lutz of Port Ewen was chosen commander for the coming year.

Elected to serve with Lutz were vice commanders, Kenneth Miller, Robert Steeger and Charles Webster; finance officer, Frank J. Auringer; chaplain, Edgar M. Maurer; honorary chaplain, the Rev. Cecil McFarland; sergeant-at-arms, Milton G. Tsitsera; historian, J. Russell Murphy and executive committee Frank Striegl, Walter Sismilich, Burton Heldron, G. Knute Beichert and Herbert Nestell.

The new commander is a veteran of 22 years service in the U. S. Army having retired in 1956 with the rank of master sergeant. He served overseas during World War II in Africa and Italy and again in Korea during that conflict.

Lutz has been active in Post 1298 for many years and most recently has served as vice commander and house committee chairman. Among his other committee appointments have been the annual Mother Cabrini School picnic, clam bake, bingo and card party.

In addition to his Legion activities, Lutz is also a member of Joyce-Shirick Post, VFW and Ulster County Voiture 381, 40 & 8. He is a communicant of the Church of the Presentation in Port Ewen and an active member of the Holy Name Society of that parish.

Saturday, June 13 at 8 p. m. installation ceremonies will be held at the post home in Port Ewen with a reception in honor of the new commander to follow installation.

Charge Withdrawn By Trooper in Ridge Driver Case

A Stone Ridge man involved in a traffic accident on Route 213 west of High Falls in the Town of Rosendale on April 24, appeared Thursday before Justice of the Peace Edmund Ruffner, Town of Marbletown.

John Campola, 30, pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct, and a reduced charge of driving a car while his ability was impaired. He was fined $10 on the misconduct charge and $25 on the second charge. His license was suspended for 60 days.

It was reported that a second degree assault charge, lodged by Trooper Norman Kilfoyle after a scuffle, was withdrawn by the trooper yesterday. A charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated was reduced.

At the time of the incident earlier this month, Trooper Kilfoyle reported he was investigating the accident in which Campola was involved, when the Stone Ridge man wrestled with him and became abusive. Kilfoyle, who said he subdued Campola, was treated in Kingston Hospital emergency room for body bruises and a sprained finger, it was reported. Campola received a cut on the left temple as the result of the accident.

Approve $190,000 For Remodeling of Hyde Park PO

A $190,000 grant for remodeling the Hyde Park Post Office at East Market and Main Streets, was approved Thursday by the General Service Administration in Washington, D. C.

It was reported the grant was made through the efforts of U. S. Senator Kenneth B. Keating. Bids for the "face-lifting" project, which town and post office officials at Hyde Park contend are needed to meet growing increase in business, will be opened in Washington on Monday, June 15.

The present post office was constructed during the early administration of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, with WPA funds, and he laid the cornerstone at appropriate ceremonies.

Capitol News in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

SURPRISE GUEST: Friends threw a dinner party Thursday night to celebrate Justice William O. Douglas' quarter century on the Supreme Court. The surprise guest, arriving after the dessert, was President Johnson.

Johnson dropped in at the party, in a private club three blocks from the White House, after flying back to Washington from the funeral of Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., in Elsberry, Mo.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., one of those attending the Douglas party, said the President spoke a few words and after staying about 90 minutes returned to the White House.

CENSORSHIP: The Army was reported Thursday to have barred from publication in an official magazine an article critical of Pentagon policy written by retired Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson.

Davidson is a former West Point superintendent and commander of the 1st Army.

Before he retired last month, the general wrote the Defense Department of his criticism of the program for reorganizing Army divisions. He said it was being carried out at the cost of traditions.

Then he put his views into an article for the magazine of the Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., an official Army publication.

The unofficial service magazine, Army Navy and Air Force Journal and Register, reported that editors of the Ft. Leavenworth publication submitted the article to the Department of the Army for review.

The army refused to permit publication, the Journal and Register said, "because of inconsistency with existing policy, and because publication would be tantamount to public criticism by a senior commander of official policies and programs."

FOREIGN AID: The House Foreign Affairs Committee rejected Thursday new efforts to cut President Johnson's $3.4-billion foreign aid bill, and Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., said he expects the measure to reach the House floor virtually intact.

Final action was put off until next week.

Deadline Saturday For Juror's Dinner

Reservations must be made by Saturday for next week's annual banquet of the Ulster County Grand Juror's Association, Secretary Anne M. Ashdown announced today.

The spring event is scheduled for Wednesday night, May 20, at the Alpine Restaurant.

Sewer Project OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Facilities Administration announced Thursday it had approved an advance of $8,020 for Louisville, St. Lawrence County, N.Y., to aid in planning water and sewer facilities.

Tear Gas Again In Cambridge Against Negroes

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — National Guardsmen had to use tear gas again Thursday night to break up a Negro demonstration in this racially divided town.

Leaders in the white community called for the immediate removal of Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston, National Guard commander, charging that he was not enforcing the modified militia law which includes a ban on demonstrating.

About 150 integrationists, most of them Negroes, left St. Luke's Methodist Church Thursday night marching and singing for the fourth demonstration in as many nights.

Gelston intercepted the marchers about one-half block from Washington Street, which leads into the white section of this town of 12,600.

Most of the demonstrators dispersed, but about 20 youths refused, and began heckling the guardsmen. A few stones were thrown, and Gelston ordered tear gas fired. It took only two cannisters, a spray from a new type gas gun and the youths scattered.

Guard troops have been here since last June 12, following an outbreak of racial violence. They had been reduced to a token force of 10, but an additional 350 were brought in Monday for anticipated demonstrations in the wake of a Monday night speech here by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. The troops still are here.

Rocky Will Get Briefing Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration turns out its top-level officials today to give Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller an insider's look at U.S. security problems and world affairs.

The New Yorker thus becomes the first of the contenders for the Republican presidential nomination to take up President Johnson on his offer of intelligence briefings.

Rockefeller, fresh from his campaign for votes in today's Oregon preferential primary, is to be briefed at the State Department by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and John A. McCone, Central Intelligence Agency director.

Johnson made the briefing offer to "major candidates for the office of president" in a New York speech April 20. He said he did so because "those who seek to discuss great public issues must be informed of those issues."

Rockefeller accepted with the provision that it would not hamper his criticism of administration policies.

Training School Band to Play on Sullivan Show

Joseph Connerton, president of the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for Retarded Children, said that the Mansfield, Connecticut State Training School Band — which is comprised of young people who are retarded — will be featured on the Ed Sullivan television show on Sunday night.

He said, "We consider their appearance on the Ed Sullivan show an excellent example of the accomplishments that have been realized in the education of retarded young people."

"The Boys' Band from Mansfield was invited to appear at the annual convention of the National Association for Retarded Children last October," Connerton said. "That conference was honored by a visit by the late President John F. Kennedy. The band was flown from Connecticut to honor him on this occasion."

"To honor the president, the band had arranged and rehearsed a special number entitled 'Did Your Mother Come From Ireland, Cha-Cha-Cha.' They also played 'When the Saints Come Marching In' and 'Moon River'," Connerton said.

1,500 Population Swells to 10,000 For Cannon Rites

ELSBERRY, Mo. (AP)—With President Johnson and former President Harry S. Truman somberly looking on Thursday, this small, rural community buried its most famous son, Rep. Clarence Cannon.

Cannon, who became one of the most influential men in Washington, will lie beside his parents in the cemetery outside his home town. He died Tuesday at the age of 85 in Washington.

Residents of northeast Missouri's 9th District first sent him to Congresss in 1922. He remained there 41 years, 19 of them as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Most of the town's 1,500 residents gathered to pay their final respects. The crowd swelled to an estimated 10,000 as mourners came from throughout the rolling hills surrounding this Mississippi River community. People lined the sidewalks, four deep, outside the First Baptist Church.

President Johnson flew from Washington to St. Louis by jet and transferred to helicopter for the 50 mile flight to Elsberry.

Cannon's wife, two daughters and other relatives sat in a small room to the right of the pulpit.

The Rev. Paule Grimes delivered the eulogy.

A 43-man delegation from the House of Representatives and Missouri's two senators, Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long, also traveled from Washington for the service.

Construction Contracts Awarded

Progress Good at Mt. Marion Addition; To Open in Fall

A report from architect Albert E. Milliken that work on the Mt. Marion School addition was proceeding satisfactorily and would be completed by September was heard by Saugerties Board of Education this week. Contracts on bids opened Monday for the new elementary school and high school addition were awarded to the low bidders.

Saugerties Central Schools Board of Education, at its regular meeting received an analysis of bids on construction of the high school alterations and additions, and the new Grant D. Morse Elementary School.

Authorized Negotiation

The board voted unanimously to authorize Board President Robert Herb to negotiate contracts as follows: HIGH SCHOOL—General Construction, Louis Nuzzo Construction Corporation, Newburgh, $878,400; Heating and Ventilating, Tougher Heating and Plumbing Company, Inc., Albany, $163,494, with an alternate of $1,540; Plumbing, C. B. Strain, Kingston, $120,400; Electric, ERA Electric Construction Corporation, Kingston, $140,968; Paving, William E. West, Inc., Woodstock, $25,095.

GRANT D. MORSE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL—General Construction, H. A. Swart and Son, Kingston, $506,807; Heating and Ventilating, Tougher Heating and Plumbing Company, Inc. Albany, $94,446; Plumbing, C. B. Strain, Kingston, $123,900; Electric, ERA Electric Construction Corporation, Kingston, $75,032; Paving, William E. West Inc., Woodstock, $13,505.

The bids on heating and ventilating by Tougher and electrical by ERA were combined for work on both projects.

Quotations were within the amounts estimated for the projects by architect Milliken, who announced that high school costs were at $15.50 per square foot as compared to his estimate of $17 per square foot, and the cost of the Grant D. Morse School, $16.60 per square foot as compared to his estimate of $17.26 per square foot. Additional work not included in the contracts will probably increase these cost figures slightly.

Milliken reported to the board that complete plans were in the hands of the State Education Department and that he would press for an early approval in order that work may be commenced. Contractors are ready to begin immediately as soon as approval has been received.

The State Education Department had approved the request for bids to final approval of the plans in order to expedite construction. Negotations of the $1,875,000 bond issue must await final approval of the plans.

Reject Cowhey Offer

The board received a letter from the McBride Agency of Fairlawn, N. J., offering to sell the Cowhey property, which adjoins the Main Street School. This is the former Seamon property which was used by the school for kindergarten purposes but was later discontinued. The offer was rejected.

The board approved a summer school program for 1964 including the following classes: Personal Use Typing—teacher, Milton Sommers; Personal Use Shorthand — teacher, Patrick Rodden; Advance Chemistry — teacher, Roy Ohno; Improving of Reading — teacher, Mrs. Elsie Ketelaar; Driver Education — teacher, Leon McLaughlin. Preliminary registration indicates considerable interest in these courses. Pupils interested in registering who have not already done so should contact David Cunningham, high school principal.

Although the procedure had been generally followed for some time, the board, at the request of the superintendent, voted the following policy:

"Non-residents will not be admitted to Saugerties schools. Cases that involve change of residence to another district near the end of the school year will be considered on an individual basis, but permission to attend Saugerties schools will not be extended for a non-resident beyond the end of the school year."

Presents Bids

Business Manager Gerald Snyder presented bids for lockers and wire baskets, classroom wardrobes and shelving, paper and other supplies, and athletic equipment.

The board agreed to participation of pupils on a voluntary basis in a fund-raising project for the John F. Kennedy Library.

Dr. R. B. Wenger was reappointed school physician for the school year 1964-65.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, reported resignations had been received from Mr. and Mrs. Neal B. Silvernail, teachers at Mt. Marion and Main Street Schools, who have accepted positions in the Richfield Springs School and from Mrs. Linda Conner, home economics teacher at the high school, who is moving to Mantana with her husband. The resignations were accepted.

Upon nomination of the superintendent, the board elected Morris Salkind to teach general science at the junior high school. Salkind will graduate from New Paltz this June. A resident of Kingston, he is currently a cadet teacher at the high school. Also elected was Mrs. Marla Mastin to teach a second grade at the Mt. Marion School. Mrs. Mastin, a 1963 graduate of Onteora, taught last year at the Wappingers Falls Central Schools, and has currently moved to Saugerties with her husband.

Dr. Arnold reported that nine vacancies for elementary positions in 1964-65 are still unfilled, as well as French, library, and home economics positions in the junior-senior high school.

PRIZE WATER COLOR—Bonnie Jean Fous, (left) Saugerties High School senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fous, Elm Street, Saugerties, was the second prize winner for her water color entered in the New York State Hallmark Art Talent Contest. She received a $25 Savings Bond. The awards were announced at the recent State Federation of Women's Clubs convention held at Grossinger's. The talented senior displayed her prize winning water color at this week's Monday Club session held at the home of Mrs. Fabian L. Russell. Mrs. William Ziegler, Monday Club president is at right.

WSCS Unit Elects Officers, Adopts Budget for 1964

Mrs. Betty Whritenor was elected president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Saugerties Methodist Church Thursday at the annual pledge service conducted by Mrs. Gertrude Waldele.

Mrs. Waldele retired from her position as treasurer after seven years of service. She said retirement was necessary due to other church duties. Her resignation was accepted with regret.

Others elected were Mrs. Lois Wells, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Hildebrandt, secretary, and Mrs. Patricia Brogan, treasurer.

The annual meeting was rescheduled from May 5 due to the conflict of the annual school meeting.

The next meeting of the group will be held June 13 at 12:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Whritenor. A picnic meeting will be held.

The food sale held under the auspices of the commission on missions May 8 at two local super markets was reported successful with the proceeds, $80 to go to Alaska Methodist University which was damaged by the recent earthquake.

Ulster Allotted $137,573 State Per Capita Aid

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt announced today that Ulster County's share of $11½ million per capita assistance to cities, towns and villages in the first quarterly installment in the state's 1964-65 fiscal year was $137,573.88.

The checks were mailed to the fiscal officers of the state's 61 cities, 550 villages and 932 towns. Unlike other types of state aid, which are granted for a specific purpose such as education, highways and health, the per capita aid can be used for any general municipal purpose.

The payment is allocated to the local units of government on a per capita basis. Each city receives annually the sum of $6.75 times the amount of its population, towns receive $3.55 for each inhabitant, and villages $3 for each inhabitant.

Installment amounts to other area counties include: Columbia $55,085.68; Dutchess $191,579.54; Greene $35,922.15; Orange $232,682.82; Delaware $52,100.42; Schoharie $25,594.64, and Sullivan $45,118.07.

Farmers Welcome Rain

Farmers of the area yesterday welcomed the rain that fell yesterday and early today, bringing some relief to the parched ground, and relieving the dangers of possible forest fires. Thundershowers were reported in most local sections, and a severe thunderstorm hit the Middletown area, which was pelted with large hailstones. No serious damage was reported in that section.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass, May 15—The greatest miracle, of course, is the conception and birth of a helpless baby with its unparalleled opportunities. It is said that one reason the Chinese nation has had such a long and matchless history is because the Chinese figure their children's age from 9 months earlier than we do. Hence the mothers also give much more attention to what they do and think during those nine months.

Importance of Seeds

The next-wonderous miracle to the birth of babies is the "birth" of seeds. This will be the real subject of this week's column. I have just returned from the Evers Flower Farm at Lakeland, Florida—run and operated by Orris R. Evers who raises over 275,000 plants every spring and 100,000 more every fall. He is a graduate of the University of Florida and has a Master's Degree from Ohio State University. I mention this to show the importance of an education to a "farmer"! This should be an inspiration to those college graduates who think that they must be doctors, lawyers, or insurance agents in order to build a large business and make a better, happier, more beautiful world. This my friend Evers is now doing. God Bless him. He knows that every seed contains a miracle.

Each Seed a Little Computer

Two facts about seeds interest me intensely; the first is the billions of seeds—both vegetable and flower — going to waste every year. The head of one company which raises and sells only vegetable seeds sells over one hundred billion (100,000,000,000) live and active seeds each year. The second fact is that each seed is a complete factory. Had I the space I would prove this to every reader. Moreover, each "factory" knows exactly when to commence operating without the need for any labor union or any legislation. Each seed is a most marvelous automated device—far more extraordinary than any computer.

What Computers Are Now Seeking

Computers are a very wonderful invention; but they give out only what has been fed into them. This is probably true also of seeds; but nature "programs" the seed. As yet, computers do not think; but seeds apparently do "think"—at least they know when to sprout or burst their shell and grow into a vegetable or into a flower or into a magnificent oak tree. You say this is merely done by the seed "listening" to the sun. Or to put it another way, the sun "programs" the seed to send a sprout upward to form leaves, and a fiber downward to form roots. Truly it all is very wonderful.

Possibilities of Computers

Computers also are wonderful; but none of the five leading computer manufacturing companies (a list will be sent gratis on request) will claim that their computers will work by doing their own thinking. They need to be "programmed," which means that the information must be fed into them by some human brain. Psychologists tell me that the time is coming when brain waves—in leaving our heads—will operate computers. I feel sure, too, that the day is coming when the computer will secure its knowledge from the rays of the sun, from the direction of the wind, or from other invisible data fed to it by nature.

Every Seed Is a Thinker

Now let me get back to my favorite subject of "seeds". Each seed is a miniature computer already being "programmed" by nature. It, however, depends greatly upon environment and almost wholly upon what has happened before. Let me again refer to the writings of Dr. Rufus Cole of Mt. Kisco, N. Y. Every seed proves his basic claim: That there is nothing new under the sun, and that what happens today is dependent upon all that has happened for generations before. Furthermore, seeds will someday become real economic forces, though this possibility is now almost entirely ignored. I wish I were a young man and could enjoy the great changes ahead of us; we have only tapped the great computer era! Even Edison once said to me: "Give me a few more years, and I would have seeds perform wonders such as the incandescent light and the electric motor have done for the industrial era."

SHOKAN NEWS

SHOKAN — David and Ann Newman, New York City, were weekend callers in the hub of the reservoir country. Mrs. Newman, a teacher, and her husband are members of the large and growing summer bungalow colony in Silver Hollow near Chichester.

Also here recently were Mr. and Mrs. William P. Batty and two children Albany Post Road at Buchannan. Batty, a collector of old farming implements, acquired hand-powered corn sheller and a couple of steel buggy axles.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bobell, Creek Locks, called on local friends last Sunday. They had been visiting relatives in the Detroit, Mich. area.

Birthdays May 14 include that of Mrs. Martin Gulnac of Van-Steenberg Road. The former Olive Barclay was brought up at Ashokan. The Gulnacs have three married children who reside in the Los Angeles area.

The Zadock Pratt Museum up at Prattsville will open May 30 for the season with visiting hours Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday afternoon. The museum, named after the father of Col. George W. Pratt who commanded Ulster County's Civil War Old Twentieth Infantry until he fell mortally wounded at second Bull Run, contains many interesting historical items including two bedrooms furnished with early marble top stands and dressers, books, manuscripts, old clocks and kitchen gadgets together with a restored life-sized painting of the senior Pratt who was Greene County's leading industrialist and landowner.

Harrison Gridley, Glenford, who during his 55 years of teaching was principal of the Ashokan School 12 years, was a caller in the village center last Saturday.

Joseph Cohen, Kingston, was a recent caller at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. Elefant, Route 28. The youth is the son of Frank Cohen, uptown businessman.

Edward Geier, New City, Rockland County, was a local caller Saturday in the course of a fishing trip to the reservoir. Geier is a friend of Ken Murray, also of New City who with his wife has friends in Shokan.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens having sold their large Route 28 house, the one time Reformed Church parsonage and later the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Gearon, are residing temporarily at Glenford. Stevens is a Thruway collector and his wife is secretary to the principal of George Washington School in Kingston.

Louis Elefant, student at the Onteora School, received an average of 85 in his classes last month. He plans to go to Southern California where his older brother, Dr. Harold Elefant, and sister, Betty make their home.

Carl Lane, formerly of Wittenberg, has one of the L. Ruckert bungalows in the village center.

Mrs. J. L. Deutche, Woodstock, was a local caller Tuesday.

Maverick Road people here during the weekend included Mr. and Mrs. Steve Durkee and Gerd Stern.

DISCUSS RESORT PROMOTION—A meeting of resort owners, businessmen and heads of political subdivisions met this week at Governor Clinton Hotel to discuss resort and area promotion. Guest speaker was Joseph J. Horan, state director of travel, who outlined methods used by other areas to successfully promote resorts. The number attending was described by the speaker as good, but not great, and said it symbolized the apathy in this resort area. The session also served as a deadline meeting for Ulster County Resort Directory which will go to press shortly. Principals at the meeting were (l-r) Supervisor George Majestic, Town of Gardiner; George Rothmann, Olive Bridge; Hermann Krickhahn, president of Big Indian-Olivera Board of Trade; Edwin France, mayor of Pine Hill; Michael C. Starkman of Valley Advertising, publisher of the directory; Horan; Walter Williams of Williams Lake Hotel; Gerow Smiley of Lake Mohonk; Sol Rosenthal, councilman of Town of Esopus and Frank A. Byer, (rear) of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., who coordinated with Ulster County Publicity Committee. (Tom Reynolds photo)

Methodists Hear Plan For $460,000 Increase

GOUVERNEUR, N.Y. (AP)—A program aimed at boosting the income of the Northern New York Conference of the Methodist Church by $460,000 a year was placed before delegates today at the conference's annual meeting.

The plan was outlined Thursday by Dr. Gilbert Stout to permit delegates to study it before today's scheduled vote.

The goal of the program would be to increase by $10 the annual contribution of each of the 46,000 church members in the conference. Laymen in the church would receive special training and would call on all church members to explain the needs of their churches.

The conference's meeting opened Thursday and will continue through Sunday. About 300 [illegible] and lay delegates are attending.

Mettacahonts

METTACAHONTS—Leroy Kelder was honored at his home by the Town of Rochester Republican Club for his 18 years as tax collector. A donation and scroll were presented by former supervisor, Richard Terwilliger. Mr. Kelder is now retired.

Top Alfred Tech Post To Dean Roger F. Rawe

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dean Roger F. Rawe is acting president of the Agricultural and Technical Institute at Alfred, by designation of the State University Board of Trustees.

The trustees named Rawe Thursday to fill the post until Aug. 1, when Dr. David H. Huntington will become president.

Walter C. Hinkle had announced plans to retire from the presidency, but he died May 2. Huntington, associate dean of the University of Maine's Agricultural College, had been selected last month to succeed Hinkle.

Homemade Torpedo Is ConfiscatedFromExiles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A homemade radio-controlled torpedo—tested on an open lake near Miami International Airport—has been confiscated from two Cuban exiles.

Cuban underground sources speculate the 11-foot-long torpedo was intended for use against the Cuban freighter Las Villas, reportedly loaded in France on May 4 with 300 trucks for Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government. Exiles said the freighter was due to pass near Florida en route to Havana.

Fred Patton, supervising U.S. Customs agent in Miami, said in a statement Thursday: "An unarmed torpedo was seized while it was being transported by two Cuban exiles. We don't know the intended specific use. The matter is still under investigation."

Customs agents refused to say if the Cubans were under arrest.

Hyde Park PO Bids Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration said Thursday it would open bids June 15 on a contract for extension and modernization of the post office in Hyde Park, N. Y. The project is expected to cost $190,000.

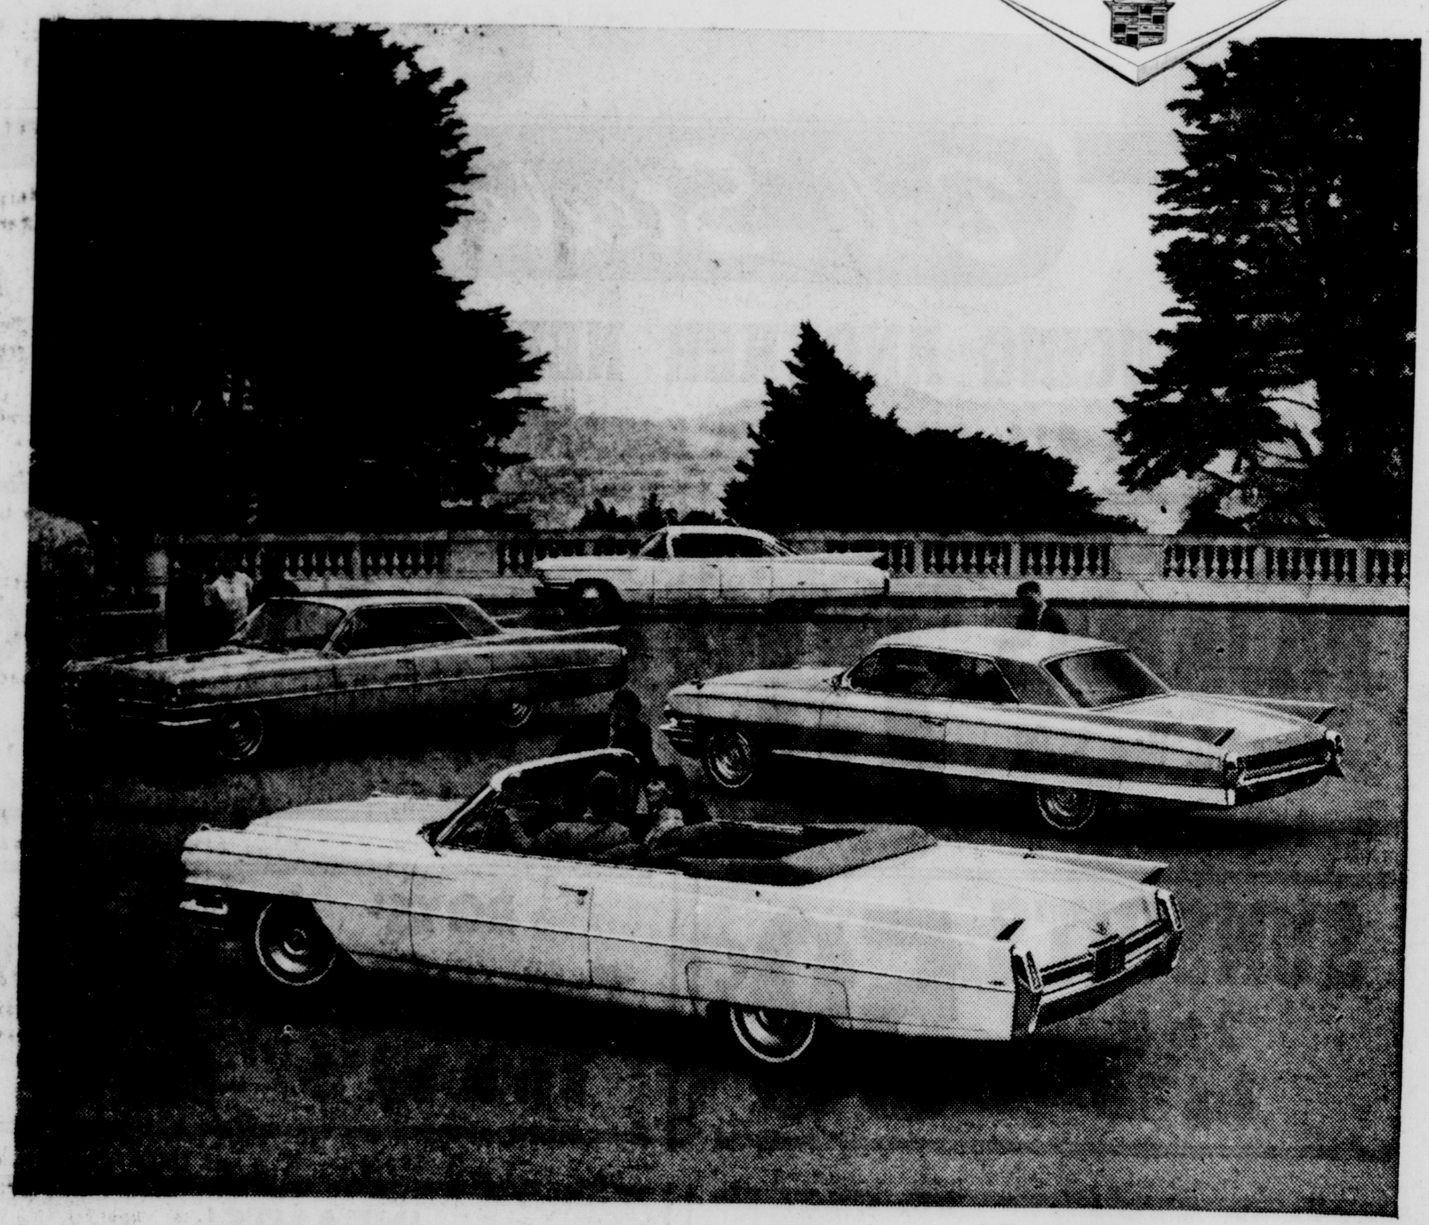

Bounty Set Upstate On Pigeon Poisoners

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Mohawk and Hudson River Humane Society has posted a $50 reward for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of a pigeon poisoner.

Mrs. Floyd Walker, the society's executive director, said Wednesday that five dead pigeons, found on the grounds of the State University of New York at Albany, apparently ate poisoned bread crumbs.

The state conservation law prohibits killing pigeons within any municipality unless the bird is "sick or injured beyond recovery" or for "food purposes."

Cadillac

HOW TO FIT A CADILLAC INTO ANY BUDGET

No matter what you plan to spend on your next car, you need look no further than your authorized Cadillac dealer.

WARD E. BRIGHAM

Former City Man Is Promoted by New Jersey Firm

A former Kingston man has been appointed assistant general manager of the Rutherford, (N.J.) Machinery Division of the Sun Chemical Corporation, it was announced today.

Ward E. Brigham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward E. Brigham, of 73 Linderman Avenue, Kingston. In his new position, the younger Brigham, who joined Rutherford Machinery in 1947 as a designer, will assist in sales and administrative functions in addition to his responsibility for plant operations. He has been granted patents from the federal government on several pieces of lithographic printing equipment and currently has patents pending on high speed automatic dry offset equipment for printing extruded aluminum beverage cans.

Brigham was graduated from Kingston High School and from Iowa State University with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. He was recently elected to the Rutherford Board of Education. He lives with his wife and two children in Rutherford.

Boy Scout Outing

There will be a Scout Outing Friday and Saturday nights on May 15 and 16 at Camp Boyhaven, near Saratoga, sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Lake Katrine. Those attending will be Darrel Converse, Saugerties; Rex Kiniry Mt. Marion, Kenneth Avery, Hurley, and Clinton Davis, Kingston.

Original function of the ear was to preserve proper position, or balance, of the body in space, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Guthion®

the standard fruit insecticide for all-season insect control

This season, give your fruit low-cost insect protection from bloom to harvest. Use Guthion, the standard insecticide of fruit growers for many years. Guthion is the broad spectrum insecticide that gives season-long control of major insects of economic importance on fruit.

Guthion's long residual effect lengthens the interval between cover sprays and frequently reduces the number of sprays per season required. Guthion leaves lower residues and helps to give fruit better finish and color.

Start your fruit off right this season. Use Guthion, the standard with fruit growers.

As with any pesticide, follow label directions carefully.

In areas where post-bloom mite infestations are severe, use Systox . . . another product of Chemagro.

No Reopening Of Baker Case, Senate Decides

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican move to reopen and expand the Bobby Baker investigation threw the Senate into turmoil before it was defeated by a 42-33 vote.

The short, snappy election-year set-to Thursday was one of the most tumultuous the Senate had seen in many a day.

The highlight was a shouting match between Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., with freshman Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., caught in the middle as the temporary presiding officer.

It was on Mansfield's motion that the Senate voted to table and thus kill a resolution to bring members of the Senate specifically within the scope of the Baker probe and to broaden it to cover the handling of campaign funds and other matters.

The resolution, offered by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., also would have extended the investigation by the Senate Rules Committee until Sept. 1. The committee's authority now expires at the end of this month.

All by Democrats

All 42 votes for tabling the resolution were cast by Democratic senators. Voting against the tabling motion were 24 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

The committee's investigation, in which President Johnson's name figured, was launched after Baker had resigned under fire last Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year post as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

The Senate directed the committee to find out whether Baker or other employes or officers of the Senate had engaged in outside business dealings that conflicted with their official duties or that involved other improprieties.

Refused Answers

Baker pursued lucrative business ventures while on the Senate payroll. When called as a witness he refused to answer questions, invoking the protection against possible self-incrimination provided by the 5th Amendment to the Constitution.

Williams introduced his resolution to extend and expand the probe after Case went before the committee Tuesday and urged it to ask each senator about any financial dealings they may have had with Baker and any campaign contributions Baker may have helped them get.

Accuses GOP

In leading the fight against the Williams resolution in Thursday's wild uproar, Mansfield accused Republicans of "thinly-veiled innuendoes" and said if they had any specific charges to make against any of their colleagues they should submit them to the rules committee. "Put up or shut up," he said heatedly.

In a voice breaking with emotion, Case protested that Mansfield had imputed conduct unbecoming to a senator to him, in violation of the rules, and demanded that he be recognized on a point of personal privilege.

Case kept shouting for recognition. Kennedy told him to take his seat and after consulting the Senate parliamentarian ruled that the clerk should call the roll.

Set Twilight Fruit Meeting for Tuesday

A twilight fruit meeting will be held Tuesday 7 p. m. at Hurd cold storage plant, Clintondale. All fruit growers are urged by William H. Palmer, Ulster County agricultural agent, to be on time.

Featuring the meeting will be information on insect and disease control recommendations for summer spraying by Professors Hickey and Brann and a discussion by Dr. Hoffman on chemical thinning of fruit.

Every Fined $50

Donald Every, 19, of 27 Van-Gaasbeck Street, charged recently with disorderly conduct, was fined $50 in city court today and given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. He was charged by Officer Otto Short with refusing to move as Short ordered a group gathered on Broadway near the Trailways bus terminal to disperse. Every paid the fine.

Names Garden Week

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—People with "green thumbs are particularly to be envied," said Gov. Rockefeller in proclaiming next week "Garden Week" in New York State.

In the proclamation issued by his office Thursday, Rockefeller observed that many New Yorkers now ere preparing and planting their gardens.

Medical Laboratory Technology

RVCS Girl First to Sign For New College Program

Miss Joyce Anne Barrett, 46 James Street, Rosendale, today became the first student accepted for Ulster County Community College's new program in Medical Laboratory Technology. Miss Barrett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Barrett and she will graduate in June from Rondout Valley Central School.

To Enter UCCC in Fall

Miss Barrett will enter UCCC in September and will become a member of the first class in the new program in Medical Laboratory Technology recently announced by the college. The two-year program leads to the Associate in Apllied Science degree and includes general education, extensive science and laboratory work at the college, and cilinical experience at the City of Kingston Laboratory and its branches at the Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals. She and the other young people who will enroll in this new program at the local community college in September will find their two years to be an exciting experience as they prepare themselves for a rewarding career.

Surveys completed by college officials, in cooperation with the City of Kingston Laboratory, have revealed that employment opportunities for graduates of the new program are good and that starting salaries are attractive. Other attractive features of the new program include the good possibility of summer employment during the first and second years of study at the college. Summer employment not only provides income for further education but would also serve as additional background experience to make the second year of study even more meaningful.

Response Pleasing

College officials are pleased with the response of the community to the introduction of the new Medical Laboratory Technology program, which is one of three brand new programs being introduced at the college in September. Introduction of these three new programs, all of two years in length and leading to the Associate in Applied Science degree, are in line with the philosophy of the college to provide a comprehensive program. Trustees, faculty and administration of the college are all deeply involved in studies and investigations which will lead to the development of additional program to be introduced just as soon as permanent facilities are available for the college.

Anyone interested in the new Medical Laboratory Technology program, or any of the 10 other programs at the college, are invited to make inquiry at the College Admission Office, 214 West Chestnut Street.

Smoke Over Roof, Acid Fumes Call Out Fire Units

Atmospheric conditions affecting smoke and fumes resulted in a fire call Thursday night and another this morning.

A telephone call at 8:06 p. m., for what was thought to be a fire at 32 Broadway, was followed by an alarm from Box 2141, East Strand and Broadway, ordered by Capt. Harry L. Sills on arrival of firemen.

Investigation revealed that dense smoke, which had settled over a roof area, was caused by atmospheric conditions. It came from the third-floor apartment, where firemen said, Kenneth Gordon, had been burning wood and refuse in a stove, and chimney smoke settled low above the roof. The building houses the B & F Market on the ground floor.

The two alarms brought out units from Central, Cornell and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks, Rapid, Union and Cordts volunteers.

Heavy acid fumes settled close to the ground and along an area of the building housing Utility Platers Inc., 416 Washington Avenue, resulted in an alarm at 7:07 a. m., today from Box 1611, Washington Avenue and North Front Street. It summoned units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks and Wiltwyck volunteers. Wicks Company lost a helmet, which, fire headquarters reported has been found.

Ellenville School Seeks Option for Expansion Site

Ellenville Central School Board of Education has authorized Benjamin Lonstein, school attorney, to secure an option on the Nordland property, located on the westerly side of Route 209 in Napanoch, for a school building site.

Lonstein was authorized to spend up to $250 for the option, which would include the purchase of the property and a restrictive limitation on the triangular piece of property for private dwellings.

In a report to the Board, Attorney Lonstein indicated that as of April 22, the attorney for the Nordland property had indicated the selling price was $32,000 for the property, plus an additional $2,000 to control the use of the triangle, which reportedly is not for sale.

The Board of Education has scheduled a meeting for May 18, at 8 p. m. to discuss the 1964-65 budget which was defeated at the annual meeting last Tuesday.

Seedless Pineapples

HONOLULU (AP) — Pineapples don't have seeds, and the food market shopper probably doesn't care one way or the other anyway. But this fact has irked horticulturists in Hawaii — one of the greatest pineapple growing areas — for years, so the University of Hawaii and the Pineapple Research Institute of Honolulu have teamed up to find out why the succullent, yellow pineapple is barren.

Kiwanis Speaker

quiths for the troubles in the educational system were given as "bad laws, the bureaucracy of the State Educational Department, and local school boards who do not face up to their responsibilities."

Members of the State Legislature were censored by the speaker because of their lack of knowledge of education and thus the support of the "bad laws." He pointed to the Teacher's Retirement Plan in the state "as costing about 20% — not 12% as has been found adequate in other professions." He further stated that the State Legislature had instigated various details which were not conducive to better education, and here revealed a plan which gives teachers a raise every year for 10 years "regardless of ability," and an additional raise for a 30-hour course "regardless of the course."

"There is no demand for effiency in education," said Jacquith, as he emphasized that the Legislatures were subject to pressure groups "and some think that education is not their responsibility."

Rubber Stamps, He Says

The State Board of Regents was next referred to by the speaker as a non-political organization of members who serve without pay and work but "two days per month." He stated that half of the work of the Board of Regents does not directly concern the educational system and that "they have become rubber stamps for the educational bureaucracy which hands down rules and regulations under which schools operate." Jacquith said that the qualifications for teachers as set up by the State Superintendent "are ridiculous," and was a reason for the shortage of teachers. He pointed to a recent law which allegedly makes it mandatory for a teacher in the elementary grades to have a Master's Degree in order to teach.

"Excessive cost of education are sins of commission and omission on the part of local school boards," said Jacquith as he brought local school boards into his line of criticism. He opinioned that too many local school boards are "concerned primarily with bricks and mortar—to build schools to keep up with the Joneses.

Chides Local Boards

Local school boards do not dwell on better education, according to the speaker, who charged that many of them hired architects to build buildings with no thought of economy. He said that buildings should be the number three consideration of a board.

The number one consideration of local school board should be the "quality of the teacher in the classroom and the calibre of the top administration." Jacquith stated that top administration was generally poor, and that school boards did not take steps to ascertain the quality of the teaching performance. He alleged that teachers today were not well prepared due to the inferior quality of the education they receive in the state teacher's colleges. This condition, according to Jacquith, is emphasized by the fact that "productivity is continually going down more than any other profession."

That the local school boards pay little attention to the school curriculum and whether or not a child learns to read was another current fault scored by Jacquith. He suggested that any citizen check the senior themes as turned in to a high school English class and decide for himself how well the pupil was educated.

Suggests Answers

Jacquith suggested some answers to the evils of the state educational system. He said that "the legislators should be pushed to assume some responsibility for education and spending" — "that the Legislature should change the set up of the Board of Regents to give some of its work to other departments and leave the Board to deal strictly with educational problems."

As for local members of the school boards, the speaker stated that "local school board members should be required to use three or four hours per week for his position on the school board or he should be replaced."

In conclusion, Jacquith charged that the public is paying for education which the children are not getting—"that we should endeavor to get one hundred cents of the educational dollar."

Rose Sale Report

A total of 503 dozen roses were reported sold by members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club in its annual Rose Day Sale—with two weeks remaining for the sale.

Rose Day is June 13, with the past two year's sales reaching a total of 1,500 dozen roses. Proceeds are utilized by the service club for its boys and girls work and scholarship funds.

MJM Students Are To Do Excerpts From 'Oklahoma'

For what is believed to be the first time in local school history, pupils of Myron J. Michael Junior High School will devote an entire half of their annual Spring Music Festival to a full costume production of excerpts from the famed Broadway hit, "Oklahoma," it was announced today. That phase of the program is entitled "'Oklahoma'—Kingston Style."

The festival will be at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 26 in the Kingston High School auditorium.

Music and chorus production for the program is under the direction of Miss Sandra Lockerman and Leon Renaud, music teachers at MJM. Dennis Kennedy, English teacher at the school, is director of the play presentation.

School officials said tickets for the festival are available from members of the chorus and also will be available at the door.

May Finalize Sale of Adin's Food Store Today

Negotiations for the sale of Adin's Food Market, 70 Franklin Street, to the Big Deal Food Stores of Spring Valley and New York City, recognized as a leading firm dealing in foods, are expected to be finalized today.

The business has been operated here by Lawrence and Gilbert Adin for about 10 years. It was formerly operated for many years at 73 Franklin Street, by A. D. Rose and others and was one of the oldest retail food establishments in Kingston prior to retirement of the Rose family.

About 10 years ago, Joseph F. Saccoman, local real estate dealer, purchased the building at 70 Franklin Street, and leased it to the Adins, who since have operated a successful business.

The purchasers, who were represented in the transaction by Irwin Gray, Spring Valley and New York City attorney, operate businesscs in both Spring Valley and New York.

Saccoman, who appeared as broker in the sale, said the transaction has been consummated with the exception of a few minor details.

Charles Saccoman appeared as attorney for the owner of the one-story brick building where the Adin store is presently located, and Aaron E. Klein appeared as counsel for the sellers.

The retail food business conducted for many years by the Rose family, was continued successfully by the Adins.

CBS Withdraws From Emmy Show

NEW YORK (AP)—The CBS television network Thursday announced its withdrawal from participation in the industry's Emmy awards because of "misgivings about nominating and voting procedures."

The action, announced in a statement by the network president, James T. Aubrey Jr., followed a similar decision on Tuesday by Fred W. Friendly, president of the network's news division. Friendly's decision applied only to his news staff.

Aubrey's statement noted that "our action is binding only on employes of the CBS television network and obviously can not preclude the participation of those in outside organizations whose programs are broadcast over our network."

That means, in essence, that stars of shows produced by outside companies are still free to take part in the May 25 Emmy awards special program produced by NBC. Most performers in entertainment shows are in this category.

A similar announcement was made two days ago by the ABC television network president, Thomas W. Moore.

Profesor Is Held

MALONE, N.Y. (AP)—A professor at a junior college south of here has been arrested on a charge of possession of obscene photographs and films, State Police report.

Prof. Donald Trumbull, 49, of Paul Smith's College, waived an examination on the charge after his arrest May 8 and was released in $100 bail, pending grand jury action. The next grand jury convenes in the fall.

Troopers said Thursday that postal authorities had been investigating for two or three years.

Walston, Leading Broker, Dies of Gun Blast in Office

His chauffeur, who found the body, told police Walston talked repeatedly about suicide during a day-long drive around the city.

No note was found. Police said they had no clue to the reason for Walston's apparent despondency. His physician said Walston, 58, had been in good health, but may have been working too hard.

Walston & Co., which he founded in 1932, reported assets of $151 million and a net worth of $17.5 million last Aug. 30. It has nearly 100 branches.

Last December the firm absorbed J. R. Williston & Beane, Inc., another brokerage house, which was one of the many victims of the $150-million soybean oil scandal that broke in November.

Chauffeur Hears Shots

Gustave Puigdollers, Walston's chauffeur, told police that after he watched Walston enter the office suite he went to a lobby telephone to call Mrs. Walston.

While he was talking with her, he said, he heard two shots, ran into the office, and found Walston sitting in front of his desk. A shotgun was on the floor beside him. He shot himself in the mouth, police said.

The 20-gauge shotgun was one of several Walston kept in his office. Walston was a big-game hunter and he had lined the walls of the office with trophy heads, elephant tusks and bear skins.

Started as Clerk

Walston, born in Perry, Okla., started his career as a clerk for the Bank of America in Visalia, Calif. He formed his own brokerage firm in San Francisco. The headquarters moved to New York City about 10 years ago. His sons, Carl and Jack, are vice presidents of the firm.

Walston & Co., although not itself involved in the soybean oil scandal last year, went to the aid of the Williston firm, which had been suspended from the New York Stock Exchange for two days until Walston's loan restored its required minimum capital account.

Williston had extended $610,000 credit to Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp. of Bayonne, N.J., which went bankrupt last Nov. 19 contributing to the failure of a score of businesses here and abroad.

Walston's loan to Williston was not enough to restore full confidence in the firm and a few days later, Walston & Co. took over its 16 offices and 9,000 accounts.

Solon, Attorney Push, Punch in Row Over Ballot

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The battle over Pennsylvania's absentee ballot count in the Democratic senatorial primary flared into a pushing and punching fight Thursday between State Sen. Benjamin R. Donolow and attorney Philip Kalodner.

Backers of state secretary of internal affairs Genevieve Blatt for the Democratic nomination were trying to have the opening of the envelopes containing the absentee ballots stopped, so they could challenge 544 of them. Absenteee ballots may be important in Miss Blatt's close contest with state Supreme Court Justice Michael Musmanno.

Misss Blatt is leading by 1,742 votes, based on the official total from 52 of the state's 67 counties, official returns without the absentee count from two counties and unofficial tabulations from the remaining 13 counties.

Shortly after the outbreak, Chief Justice John C. Bell ordered the county elections board to stop all action until further orders. By that time, however, all but 125 of the 544 challenged ballots had been opened. None had been counted.

High Falls Driver Hurt in Rt. 32 Crash

While driving his 1962 car south on Route 32, Town of Rosendale, at about 12:30 a. m. today, William St. Clair, 28, of 93 Park Circle, High Falls, lost control of his vehicle as he avoided an animal on the highway.

State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes, Kingston sub-station, said St. Clair told Troopers Robert Houghtaling and Norman Kilfoyle an unidentified animal ran in front of his car and he turned sharply to avoid hitting it. The vehicle went off the left side of the pavement and hit a tree.

St. Clair was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for lacerations of the head and contusions of the body.

Look Out Below

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Apartment house residents on Northeast 54th Avenue walked out to the street one morning to find car doors lower than the curb. During the night the street had dropped about one foot. City workmen blamed a water main leak.

Always strip off lower foliage from flowers before putting them in water for dining-table arrangements.

DIED

DAVIS — In this city May 15, 1964, Ferris J. Davis of 59 Clinton Avenue; son of the late Sheperd and Elizabeth Connelly Davis of Ashokan; husband of Nora Boice Davis, and father of Mrs. Burton L. DIED

Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Anna E. Van Dyke who departed this life 22 years ago May 15, 1942.
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all.
And though the years be many or few
They are filled with remembrance of you.

CHILDREN

Paltz College Trustees Outline Expansion in 1960-70 Master Plan

Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of State University College at New Paltz, reported in conjunction with the five-day program from May 13-17 in recognition of the recent expansion and furture growth of the college, that the overall expansion of State University has been programmed by its Board of Trustees in the 1960-70 master plan.

Working with State University to achieve this physical growth are:

Others Cooperate

The New York State Dormitory Authority, which undertakes the design, supervision and construction of all dormitory units and dining halls, and the State University Construction Fund, also an independent agency, which undertakes the design and construction of academic and related buildings.

Dr. Haggerty notes that construction costs are financed through bond issues placed by the State Housing Finance Agency which, in effect, serves as the loan agency for the State University construction program. Bond issues are financed from tuition income, in the form of rent payments.

The architectural firm of Ballard Todd Associates, New York, developed the comprehensive campus plan and is designing five of the buildings announced with the $30 million expansion master plan.

Development Assistance

Assisting Ballard Todd in developing the comprehensive plan was Raymond & May Associates, New York, planners; Slocum & Fuller, New York, mechanical, heating and electric utility engineers, and Lockwood, Kessler and Bartlett, New York, soils and utility engineers.

George Diamond Associates, New York, is designing the 1,000-bed dormitory cluster and related dining hall. The firm of Davis, Brody and Associates is designing Science Building 2, while Hart, Benvenga and Associates, New York, the building firm which designed most of the dormitories now in use at New Paltz, is designing the infirmary. The architectural firm of Fordyce & Hamby of New York designed Science Building 1. Landscape architect is Sasaki, Walker & Associates, Watertown, Mass.

Consulting engineers are: structural — James Hufnagel, New York, and Fraioli-Blum-Yesselman, New York; mechanical — Syska & Hennessey, New York and Slocum & Fuller, New York; soil — Lockwood, Kesseler & Bartlett.

Dr. Haggerty in his report on the Master Plan expansion program lists the type of buildings included in the $30 million projects, estimated date of completion, and estimated costs of each as follows:

Costs Listed

Heating plant — August, 1965, $1,555,000; dining hall (500 seats), — September 1965, $1,188,000; dormitory (400 beds)— September 1965, $1,790,000; dormitory (600 beds) — September 1965, $2,970,000; Service group —September 1965, $648,000; outdoor athletic-recreation facilities —October 1965, $324,000; infirmary — Februry 1966, $329,000; president's residence — June 1966, $75,000; administration building, September 1966, $1,099,000; Humanities-Social Science-Faculty office building — September 1966, $2,068,000; lecture hall — same time, $1,443,000; library — same completion time, $2,013,000; Science Building 2 — same time, $1,659,000; rehabilitation present library — April 1967, $110,000; dormitory (400 beds — September 1967, $1,980,000; dining hall—(500 seats, same completion time, $1,040,000.

The Fine Arts Building and the Science building under construction will be important segments of a greatly expanded academic core, which will be constructed in a generally rectangular form on a north-to-south line from Plattekill Avenue.

Existing dormitories between Plattekill and Mohonk Avenues and directly south of the proposed academic core, will be supplemented by a third cluster of 1,000 beds to the southeast. Two additional 200-bed dormitories will be constructed in the area of the Plattekill-Mohonk Avenue cluster.

The new heating plant and service group will be just beyond the third dormitory cluster, off Route 32. The health and physical education building is located adjacent to the new athletic and recreational fields, off Route 208.

Plan New Entrance

A new entrance to the college will be constructed from Route 32 and lead to the new administration building on the edge of the academic core.

A peripheral road will enclose the entire campus, connecting with Plattekill Avenue and campus entrances from both Route 32 and 208. The road will also keep campus vehicular traffic at a minimum and separated from campus walkways, connect with parking areas near the athletic fields, dormitory and academic areas, and facilitate delivery of supplies and fuel to the heating plant and service area.

Dr. Haggerty's report shows that a landmark of the new campus will be the student plaza and concourse which will be bounded by the Fine Arts Building, the Student Union, the Humanities-Social Science Building, Library and Science Building. The college infirmary will be constructed to the south of the Health and Physical Education Building, near the dormitories and athletic fields.

Three buildings will be connected to comprise the segment of the academic core on the west side of Excelsior Avenue, and they are:

Will Be L-Shaped

Humanities-Social Science-Faculty Office Building: The first floor of the academic wing of this L-shaped structure will contain the psychology laboratory, including special testing space; a child therapy room and a 50-seat amphitheater; a speech clinic with 10 therapy observation rooms; and a music practice area which will include rehearsal rooms, instrument storage space, three music classrooms, and a music listening room.

a statistical laboratory. The

The secnd floor of the academic wing will contain three language classrooms, a speech laboratory, two classrooms and third and fourth floors will contain a total of 24 classrooms, four seminar rooms and a cartography laboratory.

The office wing will be a nine-story faculty office tower, providing space for chairmen and department heads of both the Humanities and Social Science divisions, general faculty offices and space or secretarial service and office machines.

Nine Lecture Halls

Lecture Hall Center—A multi-level structure, it will contain nine lecture halls, four seating 60, two seating 120, two seating 240 and one 480.

The ground level of the building will house three studios, which will be utilized primarily in closed-circuit television instruction, associated control and office spaces as well as maintenance and mechanical areas. The third level of the building will contain audio-visual projection equipment which will be utilized in programs and teaching in the lecture halls.

Library—A three-story structure, it will have a capacity of 250,000 volumes. On the main floor will be the cataloging areas, periodical reading room, open stack reference areas, reading and reference rooms and office areas for the library staff.

The concourse level will contain the open book stacks, typing rooms, seminar room, world study center, film library, music library and book repair and bindery facilities. On the ground floor will be additional stack space, an additional seminar room, typing rooms and building maintenance facilities.

Science Facilities

The college's science facilities will be expanded by the construction of Science Building 2 which will actually become a wing of the one now being built, forming the easterly segment of the academic core.

This second science structure will include laboratories for instruction in such areas as nuclear science, earth science, general physics, crsytallogrphy and mineralogy, sedimentataion, astronomy and meteorology paleontology, geophysics, and acoustics and mechanics. In addition, the building will contain faculty and secretarical offices and a seminar room and three classrooms.

Administration Building — It will be a multi-story structure, but at the same time it is still in the preliminary design stage. However, it will contain offices for the college president, his administrative staff, business and academic, as well as two large conference rooms and related file and records storage rooms.

Infirmary—It will provide offices for the director and nurses, examination and treatment rooms, a laboratory, eight two-bed rooms, five isolation rooms, a kitchenette, two conference rooms, a medical record room and accommodations for a resident nurse.

Food Service Plan

Service Building — A two-level structure, it will be the central distribution point for the campus food service and maintenance operations. On its upper level will be baking facilities with storage and refrigeration space, a frozen food storage area, a meat processing section, vegetable storage and washing area, a dry bulk food storage room, employes' lockers and offices for the food manager.

On the lower level will be a blueprint room, repair shop and garage, paint, plumbing, electrical and carpentry shops, as well as headquarters for the service superintendent.

The new central heating plant will be adjacent to service building. The new dormitory cluster will be constructed in five 200-bed split-level units, each of which will have a main floor resident director's office and living quarters. Specific design details on the remaining buildings announced are incomplete.

Kitchen economy: The bones from a roast leg of lamb will make a good soup when it is combined with extra broth, onion, carrot, barley and seasonings.

Seizure Kills Driver, Pupils Escape Injury

MARILLA, N.Y. (AP)—Seventeen kindergarten children escaped injury Thursday when a school bus swerved off the road after the driver died of a heart attack.

Police said the bus crossed a ditch into a field. The driver was Alton Fix, 60, of Alden.

The children, pupils at Townline elementary school near this Erie County village, were examined by a physician.

None was injured, but several were "shaken up a bit," said Dr. Wilson R. Conrad, the school superintendent.

Pushes Notes Aside

Lucy Speaks From Heart in Lecture For UCLA Group

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The eminent scholar, Lucille Ball Morton, paid a visit to the University of California at Los Angeles to act as guest lecturer and present the 10th annual Samuel Goldwyn Creative Writing Award.

No Academic Robes

Instead of academic robes, she was wearing a smartly tailored suit. Before the ceremonies she donned professional-looking glasses to pore over some notes she had made on the back of a "Lucy Show" script. She was interrupted by an inquiring reporter.

"Dr. Ball, where did you matriculate?" she was asked.

"I never did that in my life," she replied indignantly.

"But where did you get your degree?"

"Oh," she said. "Well, I graduated from the Goldwyn girl line." 3

"Let's see, that was class of 19—0"

"We won't go into that."

"Just how far did you get in school?"

"Me? I never even finished night school. I couldn't wait to get into show business, and at that time show business meant vaudeville to me."

She returned to her notes, confessing a nervousness about the upcoming program.

In a few minutes she turned on the bright Lucy smile and walked onstage in the UCLA Playhouse to warm applause from the youthful audience. She mugged a bit as Goldwyn extolled her, and the students laughed at a mere flash of outsized eyes. Then she got up to deliver her address.

"I don't need these notes," she said, pushing them aside. She spoke instead from the heart, and her comments might give some testimony on what makes Lucy tick.

Enjoy the Progresses

"You students are well protected here in this wonderful university where you get the best of instruction and advice," she said. "You are surrounded by love. But I know you must be worrying about what will happen to you when you go out in the world and there will be no one to guide you and look after you.

"I think it will help if you will remember to recognize the small successes that you will have. Don't let the brightness of that big goal blind you to what happens on the way toward the goal.

"Meet one wave at a time and enjoy what progress you make. I want you please not to be taken up in the undertow of pessimism. Never lose your interest in people."

She didn't try for one laugh, but when she finished, the heartened students applauded her vigorously. She then presented the $2,000 prize to Larry H. Johnson for his play, "Remittance Man."

Just one trick to remember in making Hollandaise Sauce (so delicious with fresh asparagus!): cook the sauce over hot, not boiling, water.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Creative people—artistic people—in television are as obsolete as buggy whips," said writer Roger O. Hirson. "And now that it is being flooded with second-rate stuff, the people responsible are going to kill it the way the big studios killed movies with all the Grade B and C stuff."

Hirson is one of the comparative handful of major writing and directing talents that produced some of TV's most memorable moments, almost all of whom have quit the medium in favor of Broadway or Hollywood—Paddy Chayevsky, Tad Mosel, Horton Foote, Fred Coe and a few others. Hirson, with a Broadway show now in the works, has not written a television show for almost a year and one-half. This Sunday, however, his "Don't Go Upstairs," will be broadcast by NBC's "Show of the Week."

Hirson, who has had plenty of offers, flatly refuses to write scripts for the dramatic series, even the superior ones.

"I think that I, personally, must not use characters like Dr. Kildare and the Prestons of "The Defenders," because it involves hewing to a format. Of course, it is possible to write moving cliche stories—it is always sure-fire when you start off with a man who is going to die.

"But I believe that drama involves taking the principal character—your hero—on an emotional trip that changes him. Television series are not personal drama. Lawrence Preston never changes; nothing happens to him. Things happen always to some secondary, temporary character who disappears. But the heroes ride in on the white horse and ride out on the same white horse. Audiences know this and it keeps the audience from becoming involved—and they are never surprised. And they love to be surprised. But that is why television today is essentially anti-drama."

Hirson, a New Yorker, was an English major at Yale, worked as a newspaper reporter and—by writing at night—got into television in 1954. Among his shows were "The Weston Strain" on Studio One, "Journey to the Day" and "The Long March" on Playhouse 90 and "The Outpost," on "Show of the Week."

No Dalmations

BELGRAD, AP) — The Dalmatian dog came originally from the province of Dalmatia on the Adriatic coast. But that was a long time ago. There are no more Dalmatian dogs there. The few which are to be found in Yugoslavia are imported from England and Australia.

Lamp Contest Winner Attends C-H Event

The Industrial Arts Department at New Paltz Central School held its annual lamp building contest sponsored by Central Hudson recently. Twenty lamps were entered by students in grades 9-12.

The winning lamp was constructed by Phillip Dippel, who turned the lamp on the wood lathe. Others who placed in the contest were David Rohers, second, Jeff Ackert, third, Berger Hansen and Wayne LaTulippe, honorable mention.

May 13, Dippel was the guest of Central Hudson at a luncheon where his lamp competed in the lamp building contest sponsored by Central Hudson for schools in Ulster and Dutchess County.

Paul Kelley and Joseph Helhoski, Industrial Arts teachers accompanied Dippel to the luncheon.

Offered by Students Tutoring Service Is

The Civil Rights Study Group of the Social Science Club of State University College at New Paltz is working cooperatively with the Guidance Department of the New Paltz Central School in offering a tutoring service. This service is to be available to students having academic difficulty who would not otherwise be able to secure the services of a tutor.

All of the tutors in the group are potential teachers and are using this opportunity to supplement their education courses with the practical experiences of working with school children. They are also concerned with the availability of educational opportunity to all students regardless of race, color or socio-economic status.

Miss Judith White coordinator for the Civil Rights Study Group along with Thomas P. Benenati and Miss Barbara Berlin of the guidance department of the Central School are directing the program.

Mother-Daughter Fete

The Girls Athletic Association of the New Paltz Central High School is holding the annual mother-daughter banquet Monday, May 18.

Plans are under way for an evening of entertainment for the GAA members and their mothers. After the buffet dinner, girls will receive awards for their athletic activities and service to the organization for the past year. The officers of next year's council will also be announced. This year's senior council members will then present the entertainment program.

The banquet will be held in the school cafeteria at 6 p. m. Miss Jean Brownlee, Girls Physical Education teacher, is advisor to the Girls Athletic Association.

School Board to Meet

The regular meeting of the New Paltz Board of Education will be held Tuesday, May 19, instead of Monday, May 18.

Orientation Session

An orientation session for the sixth graders who will be entering junior high school in the fall, was held recently at the Duzine School.

Miss Barbara Berlin, guidance Junior High Ahead, to the children and explained the subjects and program that they, as seventh graders, would be following next year. Information regarding the length of the class period, time alloted for passing between classes, absences, rules and regulations, homework, report cards and co-curricular activities were but a few of the many topics discussed

A very informative question and answer period followed the presentation.

Music Festival Judge

Mrs. George W. Bond, vocal music director of the New Paltz Central School, will serve as the adjudicator of vocal and choral music at the NYSSMA Competition Festival at Long Beach, L. I., Friday and Saturday, May 15 and 16.

Charities Appeal Tops Last Year's Drive for Funds

Returns to date in the 1964 New York Catholic Charities Appeal are ahead of the results obtained during a similar period in last year's fund drive, it was announced Thursday by The Rt. Rev. Msgr. George H. Guilfoyle, PA, executive director.

The results thus far, including returns from 402 parishes of the Archdiocese and contributions received through the special gifts committee of the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity total $2,510,050.49, the highest amount raised at this point of the campaign in the 45-year history of the appeal.

Under the chairmanship of John A. Coleman, the Special Gifts Committee of the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity will continue throughout the year its solicitation of business and professional men. The parish appeal and the special gifts committee are the major sources of the more than $5,000,000 needed for the organization's 1964 operation.

During 1963 New York Catholic Charities and its 194 affiliated health and welfare agencies assisted over 600,000 men, women and children.

Not Watered

DURBAN, Natal Province, South Africa (AP) — It was not water that suddenly began coursing down the dry bed of a stream at Edendale, near Pietermaritzburg, in the Natal Province. But a cow standing listlessly on the bank was not to know that. She took a few tentative licks — and than began drinking with extraordinary enthusiasm. The result was a hangover that lasted for days. The source of her jag? Upstream a squad of policemen had emptied nearly 3,000 gallons of moonshine into the bed of the stream.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received a letter from A. V. Sutton, of 32 Spring Street, Ilion, in which he writes: "I have just received a letter from Lester G. Clark of the Clark Lumber Co. on Washington Avenue. Mr. Clark has a story on the Rosendale mountain slide which will serve to give you a local interest angle, suggest that you call him."

Mr. Sutton also writes a column on old times and is a former resident of this section, and so suggests the following interesting subjects which he feels will interest my readers: When Mullen's Fine Cut tobacco was made on North Front Street. When the odor of the tannery bothered folks who lived near the corner of North Front Street and Washington Avenue. When dozens of two, three, and four team wagons hauled bluestone from the mountains over Washington Avenue, North Front Street and on down to the river docks. Alfred Ronder, has a fine large photograph of a tremendous piece of bluestone on the corner of North Front Street and Wall Street as I remember, near the Bernstein building, being drawn, by I think six horses. He loaned me those photographs and I remember that one picture especially.)

Mr. Sutton also mentions, when No. 11 school burned down, I think Mr. Ronder has a picture of that also. Mr. Sutton also remembers, when the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. had all their teas and coffees in open bins in their store on Wall Street. When the Ontario and Western Railroad was built, he also remembers. Perhaps old timers remember when the Esopus Creek would overflow and flood "Dutch Billy's" melon patch down on the flats?

Mr. Sutton also suggests I ask my readers about, when they had rousing camp meetings up in the Dark Woods, and when there was a toll gate out in Mutton Hollow way? He also mentions the "Lady in Black" who came out at night. In the days when children were timid, and afraid of policemen, school teachers, and their parents, often to bring them in off the street when the street lights were turned on, they were told about the "Lady in Black" roaming the streets. Mr. Sutton also mentions when the American Cigar factory on Broadway shipped Havana cigars to Cuba.

I just received another letter from Mr. Clark also, and he enclosed a letter written to him from Mr. Sutton, as these two gentlemen found a common interest through this column. Mr. Sutton's letter to Mr. Clark reads in part: "It was truly a fine gesture on your part to take the time to write and send me the clipping from The Freeman. I had written to the Rosendale Public Library for some data on the mountain cave-in but have had no reply as yet. Mrs. Foley, mentioned in the clipping, suggested that I write to Sophie Miller, and that's my story to date." Mr. Sutton is writing a story on this Rosendale mine, and will use the incident about Mr. Clark's father.

Mr. Sutton writes further to Mr. Clark: "You mentioned Fred Suppies as an old timer in Higginsville but the name is not familiar to me. My people moved to Kingston from High Falls about 1899. Our first place was at 66 Hurley Avenue, the three-story brick house just off the intersection of Taylor Street. Later we moved to the second floor of the Martin house on Taylor Street . . . Mr. Suppies will no doubt remember Bill Martin who had the Print Shop next to the Excelsior Hose Co., building." More from the interesting letters real soon.

Crime Rate Drops In Windy City

CHICAGO (AP)—Crime — of all things — is falling off in rough, tough Chicago.

And most of the credit for the dropping crime rate belongs to Police Supt. Orlando W. Wilson, 64, who says it's "all been easier than I thought it would be."

Wilson, a former dean of criminology at the University of California, is beginning his fifth year as head of the 13,000-man police department, one of the nation's largest.

When Wilson took over, some said it was also one of the most corrupt.

"I'm not going to bury my head in the sand," Wilson said in an interview Thursday. "There was a lot of corruption and graft in the department before I came.

"We had then and still have a lot of organized crime in Chicago. We haven't got it whipped yet, but we're working on it."

Last year while the nation's major crime rate rose 10 per cent, a dropoff of more than 3 per cent was recorded in Chicago.

"We've broken the trend," Wilson said, and he gives much of the credit to a host of major revamping programs.

Negro Soprano Wows Atlanta, 95 PC Whites

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Leontyne Price, who began her career in a Mississippi church choir, brought her rich soprano to Atlanta and received in her words, an "overwhelming response."

Miss Price won prolonged applause during her performance in the Metropolitan Opera's production of "Don Giovanni."

After the final curtain call, exhausted but excited, the Negro singer was besieged by dozens of admirers backstage. She received Dr. and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. and several other Negroes in her dressing room.

"I'm so thrilled," she said. "It brought tears to my eyes."

King, Southern integration leader, told the soprano: "You will never know what you did for Atlanta. I was so thrilled at at the response. This was a genuine expression of appreciation—and about 95 per cent of the audience was white."

Miss Price told King and his group that she enjoyed her Atlanta debut tremendously.

"It is my first visit but I assure you not my last," she said.

Half an hour after the performance, more than 30 persons waited outside the theater for a glimpse of the soprano whose voice had captivated them.

The audience burst into thunderous and prolonged applause after Miss Price's first lengthy solo in the first act and repeated the acclaim after intermission when the soprano's rare quality obliterated everything else.

It seemed clear that the audience, composed mostly of Atlanta's white elite, agreed for the moment with Miss Price's credo that "singing is the only important thing in the world."

Miss Price's previous appearances in the South have been before integrated audiences in her hometown of Laurel, Miss. where she was warmly received.

One Plant Difference

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Just one tomato plant separates the professional grower from the amateur in Thomasville.

High Motivation Among Them

Cuban Refugees Glad For Training in U.S.

By JOE MCKNIGHT

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP)—Fernando A. Mata speaks English reasonably well but has trouble reading it.

Roberto Ravelo can understand English better than he speaks it.

Dr. Jose Morell, like all his fellow Cubans here, hopes some day to return to his island nation.

The three are among 25 Cubans taking part in a high-level rehabilitation program at Kansas State Teachers College. All were professionals in law, medicine or education before fleeing Fidel Castro's regime.

Different requirements and standards prevent them from continuing their chosen careers. So they came to the campus from Miami, Fla., last February to begin preparing for new professions.

After a year of academic training — including summer school—they expect to become teachers or library workers in this country.

The Cubans say they are happy and grateful for another chance at a career. The group —which with families numbers 76—keeps one common thought, to return some day to Cuba.

Mata and Jose Amaro, both working for temporary teacher certificates, were observers being observed in a junior high social studies class of a public laboratory schoool operated by the college.

Mata, a junior high school teacher in Cuba for 21 years, is impressed by the difference in teaching methods.

"I like the active social groups here," he said. "It helps develop the student. In Cuba the traditional system of teaching is used."

"There is very high motivation and industry among them as students," said Dr. Robert McAdo, a professor of education and faculty advisor for 18 of the Cubans.

Dr. Robert Lee, director of the department of library education, reported a high degree of enthusiasm among the seven students studying for library work. All of the group, he said, mingle well with the approximately 5,000 students enrolled here.

A cooperative arrangement between the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the National Defense Education Act and grants from private and religious groups makes the retraining possible.

Are in Demand

"These Cubans, like most older students, are more serious in their studies," said Dr. McAdo. "They know what they want.

"One of the big problems we've had is in handling requests for them to make personal appearances at civic clubs. They've been in real demand all over the state."

Each family, depending on size, draws $230 to $353 a month while in school.

Former Senate Employe Appeals Contempt Jailing

NEW YORK (AP)—James O. Hoyle, former legislative consultant to the New York Senate, has been released in $1,000 bail pending his appeal from a six-month jail sentence for criminal contempt.

Seate Supreme Court Justice Gerald P. Culkin granted the bail late Thursday when Hoyle announced he would appeal on the ground that the sentence was excessive.

The sentence was imposed earlier in the day by Chief Criminal Court Judge John M. Murtagh. Hoyle had pleaded guilty last month in the case, which involved legislation to license chiropractors.

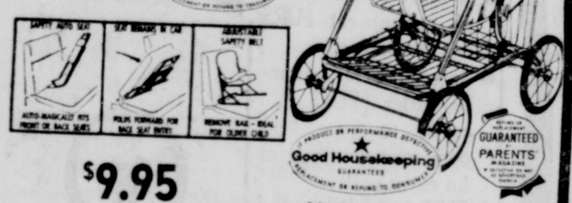

Hoyle, 63, of Albany, was dismissed from his senate job when he pleaded guilty.

The case against Holye was an outgrowth of his testimony before a Manhattan grand jury about a $2,000 check he received from an insurance man, Anthony Mignone. The grand jury accused Hoyle of both perjury and contempt. His plea of guilty to the contempt count covered all the charges.

Some Progress Is Noted

'Gringo' Brains Are Bringing Tax Reforms to Latin Nations

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Latins long have been known for their reluctance to pay taxes. But "gringo" electronic brains are helping bring about needed tax reforms in Latin America.

So far there have been no reports of demonstrators carrying signs "Yankee computers go home," but officials in Caracas, Venezuela, claim their electronic brain has been occasionally sabotaged by conservative-minded civil servants.

Rely on Indirect Levies

Nowhere in Latin America do tax collections approach the efficiency of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, but progress is being made.

A recent report from the Alliance for Progress said tax systems still are characterized by a high reliance on indirect levies falling heavily on low- and middle-income groups; a lack of adequate real estate taxes; and tax evasion costing some governments close to 50 per cent of their potential public revenue.

The goals were set forth by the Organization of American States.

In the charter of Punta del Este, the hemispheric nations pledged: "To reform tax laws, demanding more from those having most, to punish tax evasion severely, and to redistribute the national income in order to benefit those who are most in need."

The idea is to improve standards of living, which is seen as a weapon in the war against communism.

Reviews of existing tax structures have been completed in Costa Rica and Guatemala as part of an over-all study to harmonize tax laws.

Mexican Laws Best

Reports on Panama, Colombia, Ecuador and Uruguay are to be published this year.

Next in line is providing trained personnel and proper equipment to carry out tax programs. It is here that the Latin-American nations are turning to sophisticated electronic brains to help oversee their programs.

Mexican tax laws probably are the strictest—and the best enforced — in Latin America. There were no evasion penalties before 1961. Now tax evasion can bring an $800 fine, and false registration a six - year prison term.

When President Adolfo Lopez Mateos' government began its tax drive in 1961, only 700,000 persons were on tax rolls. Today, well over four million are registered and the figure may reach seven million this year, about 20 per cent of Mexico's estimated population.

No Deductions

A prime complaint of the Mexican system is failure to provide deductions. A family man and a bachelor pay the same tax on equal earnings.

Venezuela's Finance Ministry has obtained help from U.N. and U.S. advisers. Penalties are light, loopholes are many in the country's tax law. Oil and iron ore taxes and royalties paid by foreign firms account for 60 per cent of the national revenue.

Peru, which had a notoriously inefficient tax system, has also found relief in use of an electronic brain. With the machine's help, each taxpayer is being numbered.

A Colombian tax reform program was begun last year under auspices of the OAS. A data processing system soon will complete the country's new withholding system and help in tracking down evaders.

The new Brazilian government is drawing up a tax reform bill which, among other things, will make nonpayment of taxes a crime punishable by imprisonment.

Chile adopted a tax bill early this year and steeply increased taxation.

Argentine President Arturo Illia said in his May 1 state of the nation address, "our income tax collections are running behind in terms of real value. There must be reforms."

50 PC Evasion

Argentina estimates income tax evasion runs more than 50 per cent, and blames this on the steep income tax.

An example of the widespread evasions was seen last year when the government allowed what was called "whitewashing of capital."

Persons or firms who had income or capital which had not been declared and on which taxes had not been paid were permitted to declare the amounts and pay a one-time 5 to 10 per cent tax without penalty, with up to eight months to pay.

The result was almost $2 billion worth of capital declared by some 485,000 individuals and firms. At least half had never before been on the income tax rolls.

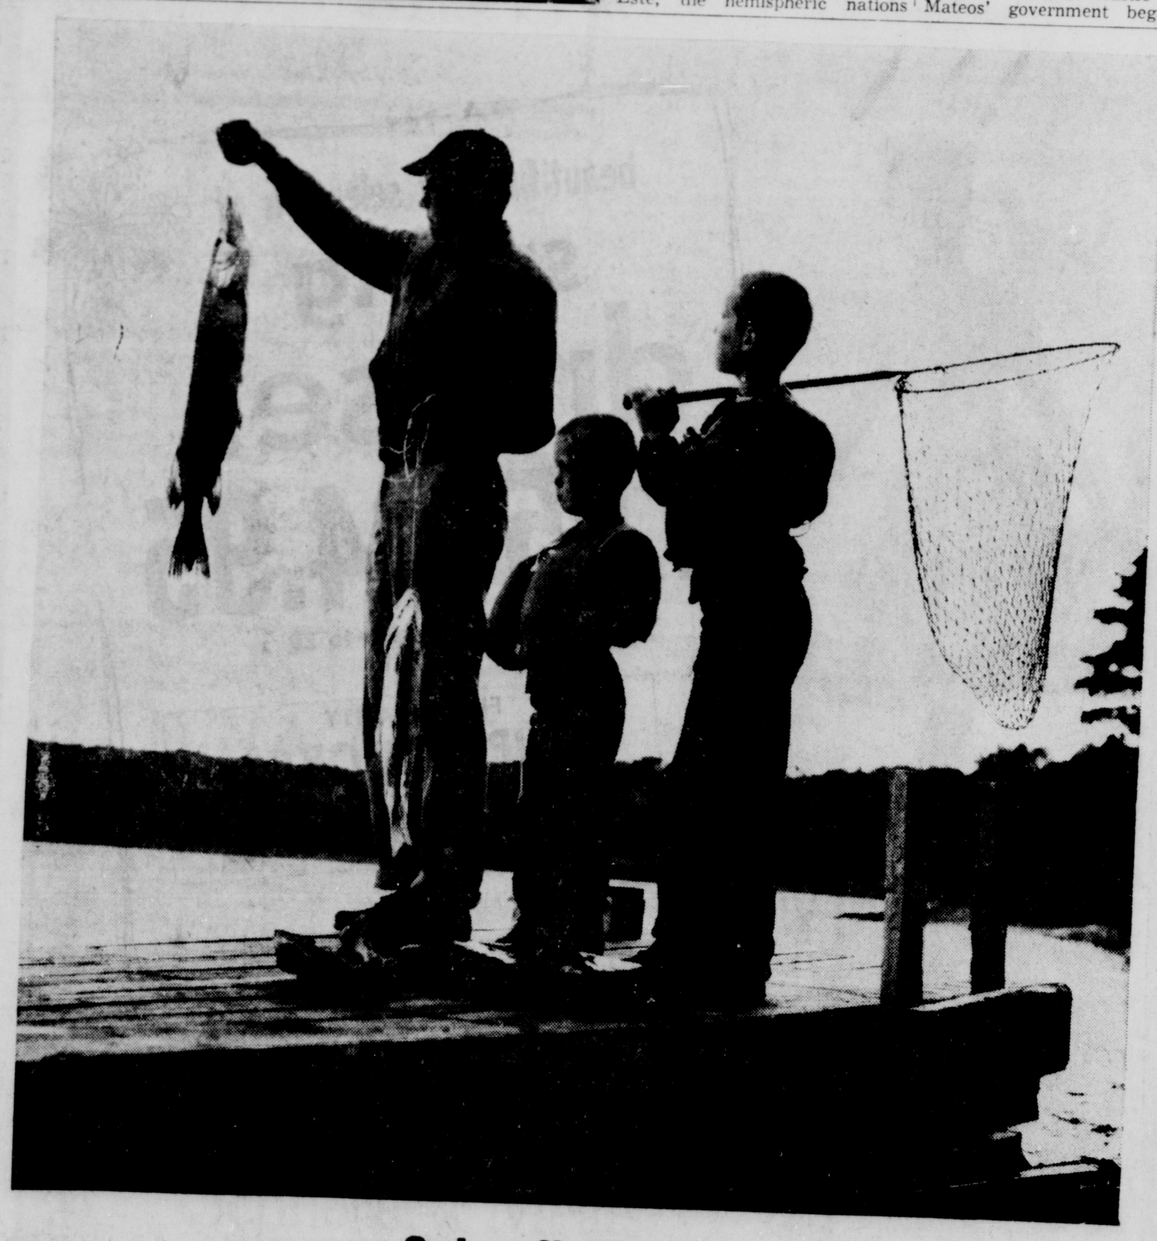

Re-Worked Rockets

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Thor missiles, 60 of which were stationed in Great Britain as a stopgap measure until the United States developed intercontinental range rockets, are being converted for use as space boosters.

Why We Say--

COMB HEMP: This word, which means to tease, has an interesting background. It originally meant to comb hemp or wool. In this action the hemp had to be pulled apart with an instrument called a "hackle." In the 16th century the pulling apart of the hemp by the hackle was figuratively compared to the action of someone passing "cutting" remarks or "heckling."

MAY BRIDE WEAR STRAPLESS DRESS?

Q: My wedding dress is white satin and lace. That is, the underneath dress is a white lace strapless evening dress with a white satin jacket over it. It was made this way purposely so that the underdress could be worn separately as an evening dress. Would it be proper to remove the jacket at the reception which is taking place at an evening hour?

A: The jacket should definitely not removed. A bride in a strapless dress would be in very bad taste.

Doesn't Wish Presents

Q: When I was graduated from high school, many people to whom I sent announcements gave me gitfs. Now that I am graduating from college I would like to notify friends and relatives but I do not want them to feel that they have to send a gift. Would it be proper to include a request for no presents?

A: To include, "No gifts, please" on graduation announcements would be unusual and unnecessary since they carry no obligation to send presents. If, however, from past experience, you think your friends will do so, you may include this phrase on your announcements.

Passing Friends Talking Together

Q: When encountering two friends who are talking together, is it proper to say "hello" or to pass them by without a word? I don't think it is right to ignore them but a friend of mine says it is rude to interupt their conversation.

A: If you catch the eye of either of them you naturally smile and say "hello," but if they are engrossed in conversation and do not notice you, you do not interupt their conversation to say "hello."

Ulster Garden Club Wins Founders Fund Award Totaling $3,000; Planning Festival

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The Ulster Garden Club of Kingston, N.Y., today received the $3,000 Founders Fund Award from the Garden Club of America.

The check was presented at the conclusion of the club's 51st annual convention. The club makes the award each year to assist one of its clubs in a restoration or conservation effort.

The Ulster Club will use the money to restore the colonial Garden surrounding the Senate House in Kingston. The Senate House was the first meeting place of New York's Senate during the Revolutionary War days.

The following information has also been received by The Freeman from the club.

In keeping with its program of maintaining the gardens at the Senate House, and the Academy Green in Kingston, the club is planning a "Country Festival." It will be held on Saturday, June 20 from 1-8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Jay A. LeFevre, Old Fort Road, New Paltz.

The festival will feature booths of all types. There will be also plants, ready for the garden, a gourmet corner, a boutique featuring a variety of gifts and a unique silent auction.

A feature of the day will be a tour of the house where flower arrangements will be shown and refreshments served on the patios.

Mrs. Kenneth Davenport is general chairman of the festival and in charge of the boutique. She is assisted by the following chairmen: silent auction, Mrs. Jay LeFevre; plants, Mrs. Frank Johnston; gourmet corner, Mrs. Sherman Hasbrouck; flower arrangements, Mrs. Philip LeFevre; refreshments, Mrs. Conrad J. Gross; tickets, Mrs. Burton Davis; publicity, Mrs. Robert Russell, Mrs. Robert F. Moseley.

Tickets may be obtained from members after May 26.

Spring Concert Will Be Given at RVCS This Saturday Night

The Rondout Valley Central School Choral Department will present a spring concert Saturday evening at 8 in the Rondout Valley High School auditorium. Featured groups will be the Marbletown Fifth and Sixth Grade Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Jean Russak; the Combined Kerhonkson and Accord Chorus under the direction of Donald Lepore; the Junior and Senior Choirs directed by Mrs. Barbara Lottridge.

Senior Choir will present Choral selections from "Oklahoma," highlights from "The Pirates of Penzance," "Tonight," "Consider Yourself," "Star Dust" and "Go Down the Wishin' Road."

The final selection called "Let's Sing the Old Songs" is a group of members which includes several familiar songs for audience participation. It is hoped that all will enjoy singing along with the slides.

Soloist Elaine Jacobson will sing "O Mio Babbino," Puccini. Christina Gorham will do "Un Bel Di" from "Madame Butterfly," Puccini. Other special numbers are planned by the Junior Girls' Ensemble, Senior Girls' Ensemble, Boys' Ensemble, and by Charlene Strong and Christine Benton

Accompanists will be David Feinberg, Marsha Green and Arnold Weintraub. Tickets may be purchased from any choir member or at the door.

Mrs. Narel will present portfolio's to other schools in the county for educational purposes. (Freeman photo)

Famous Last Words

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) — For three hours, the speakers discussed the pros and cons of a flood control project proposed for mountainous Harlan County. "I think it is improbable we'll have another flood like 1963 . . ." said one speaker. He stopped short as a loud clap of thunder echoed through the room and the rain poured outside. It turned out to be only a spring shower.

Art Treasures, Collected by Such Notables As Mrs. Roosevelt, Rescued From Warehouse

An art collection worth several million dollars has gathered dust, forgotten, in a Brooklyn warehouse for more than 20 years.

Composed of reproductions of paintings by Renoir, Picasso, Van Gogh and scores of other world renowned artists, the collection was gathered in 1937 by a voluntary national committee for art appreciation.

One of the prime forces on that committee was Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt whose dream it was to make great art available to the American people at a price within the range of everyone.

More than $1,000,000 was spent on the project and 3,000,000 prints were made. Then, for some unknown reason, the project was abandoned.

The prints were stored and forgotten. More than 20 years later, E. Joseph Cossman of Los Angeles, Calif., followed up a chance remark made during a business luncheon.

He found the prints in the Brooklyn warehouse — packed and sealed. He had them examined by art experts and modern found to be in perfect condition.

And now, through the efforts of Cossman, the original purpose of the 1937 committee is being realized. The prints are now being made available to the public at a very low price.

Mr. Cossman has made some portfolios available to the Society Editor of The Freeman for distribution to schools of her choice.

In making the presentations this week, Mrs. Narel said: "I wanted to make sure these portfolios went to people who are not interested in art, but who would make the best possible educational use of them."

Complete sets will be distrubuted nationally by Mr. Cossman and his company, Mrs. Narel learned. Each set is made up of four portfolios and each portfolio contains nine full color, high fidelity reproductions of artwork of five centuries.

Each portfolio also contains an informative and authoritative art appreciation course that covers the entire history of art and artists.

The schools Mrs. Narel has selected to receive a portfolio include the following:

Onteora Central School System, Ulster County Community College, Saugerties Central School System.

John Wood Awarded Rutgers Scholarship

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.— John Wood of Cottekill, N. Y., standout in track at Rondout Valley Central High School, has accepted an Alumni Scholarship to Rutgers University, it was announced by Dean of Student Affairs Earle W. Clifford, chairman of the University's Scholarship Committee.

The scholarship is tenable for four years provided the recipient maintains a satisfactory standing. It is made available from funds contributed by Rutgers graduates to the annual Rutgers Fund Campaign.

Wood participated in track and cross country, serving as captain in the latter sport. Also, he was student councilor, class officer, sports editor of his school paper and active in a number of clubs.

At New Jersey's State University, he plans to study engineering.

The scholarship is based on the following qualifications: literary and scholastic ability and achievement; participation in school and community activities; qualities of manhood, force of character and leadership.

Bright, Lavish Show Enjoyed Last Night; Kingstonians Watch 'Boys From Syracuse'

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

The program states that "The Boys from Syracuse" is based on Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors," but whatever its origin, it is certainly about the liveliest and most uproariously funny production to hit town. It was given last night in Community Theatre.

The spicy tale of the wrong twin brother being reluctantly drawn into a connubial relation with his brother's unsuspecting wife, is complete with Rodgers and Hart favorite hit songs, top notch comedy actors, even some very exuberant dance routines.

Those who missed this production, missed an evening of sheer relaxation and fun — and who doesn't need that?

"The Boys from Syracuse" is considered one of the classics of American musical comedy. It's one of those plays you can enjoy, over and over again. It's light, gay, spirited, entertaining.

It's one thing to listen to the musical score on a recording and quite another to watch the actors and actresses paint their own interpretations into the music and lyrics.

Marcie Stringer, with her beribboned braids and portly attire, brought the house down several times with her hilarious lines. Martin Ross as her husband and servant to one of the twins, was a complete delight. His counterpart, Ralph McWilliams, was equally as funny and a finer pair of actors would be difficult to find.

Portraying the other set of twins were handsome John Smolko and Chet Sommers.

You will enjoy thoroughly the female leads in this production and if you have a chance to catch the show elsewhere, put it on your date list because the performance by Fatima, played by Myrna Charles, is hysterically funny.

"The Boys From Syracuse" was a Dick Weaver production presented by the National Performing Arts, Inc., in association with Len Bedsow and Hal Grossman.

South Swindles to Make Game

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Ernie Rovere, who writes books about bridge, points out that South really should have raised his partner to four hearts and that North would probably have managed to collect 12 tricks at that contract. All he would have to do would be to set up dummy's clubs for two diamond discards.

However, South did bid three no-trump and West opens the five of diamonds. South has to struggle along and he is not all happy.

There is no point holding up a diamond. He will have to win the second trick anyway. The holding will merely give away his weakness, so South takes the first diamond.

He can cash five hearts and hope for diamond discards, but the opponents have plenty of spades to throw away so that idea should be abandoned.

Then how is South going to make his ninth trick?

Maybe he can try a little deception.

South leads the ace of hearts at trick two and the king of hearts at trick three. Then he plays the king of spades.

East may decide that South is trying to set up that queen of spades as an entry to dummy's hearts and duck, whereupon South will be able to make nine tricks after all. Or, if South wants to try for 10, he can lead the jack of spades also and maybe get away with a second spade trick.

Woman Injured In Area May 4 Taken to W. Va.

A West Virginia physician's wife, who was injured in a traffic accident at Stone Ridge on May 4, has been transferred from Benedictine Hospital to Beckley Memorial Hospital, Beckley, W. Va.

Mrs. Marjorie Luscombe, 59, wife of Dr. Harold Luscombe, 58, of Beckley, suffered severe back injuries. She was taken from the local hospital Wednesday to the Beckley hospital by Doctor's ambulance, according to Gilbert Gray.

The accident occurred on the morning of May 4 in front of the Marbletown Reformed Church. A bus operated by Gilbert Turner, 58, of Wawarsing, had stopped the vehicle to allow a passenger to alight, and Dr. Luscombe stopped his car behind the bus.

Trooper Fred Cooper of the Kingston sub-station, who investigated the accident, reported at the time that a pickup truck driven by Deroy Miller, of Stone Ridge, collided with the physician's car, which subseqently hit the bus.

Dr. Luscombe and his wife were taken to Benedictine Hospital by George J. Moylan's ambulance of Rosendale. The physician suffered minor injuries. Miller received lacerations of the mouth and lips. Troopers said he was issued a summons for following to close.

3 Crewmen Die, 4 Injured as Freights Crash

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP)—Three crewmen were killed and four injured when two Pennsylvania Railroad freight trains crashed headon Thursday on a single track branch line near this Ontario County community.

The trains - one going north with 48 cars, the other heading south with 114—each carried six crewmen.

The dead, all from the northbound train, were engineer James Golden of Elmira, brakeman Carl Cylvick of Elmira and George Reid of Williamsport, Pa., also a brakeman. Golden was a brother of the Elmira police chief.

The injured are Michael Moda of Williamsport, Pa., fireman on the northbound train; and Cleveland Russell of Rome, Pa., and William Bruhl of Grandville Summit, Pa., both of whom were crewmen on the southbound train.

The three were taken to a hospital at Clifton Springs and were reported in satisfactory condition. A fourth crewman was treated and released.

Plunge Into Ravine

Two of the six locomotives pulling the two trains plunged down a 50-foot ravine into Flint Creek. About 17 freight cars were turned upside down, lay on their sides or were split open.

The crash occurred on the Pennsylvania's Sodus Bay Branch, near the hamlet of Orleans.

In an unconfirmed report, state police said a crewman told them that a switch signal at Stanley did not work, placing the trains on the same track. A railroad spokesman said a thorough investigation was under way.

Rounding Curve

The trains collided as they were rounding a blind curve, W. J. Smith of Elmira, firemen on the southbound train, said. There was no whistle signal and neither train could stop in time, he said.

Smith said the southbound train was traveling about 25 miles an hour. The speed of the other train was not known.

Railroad officials said the southbound train carried 110 empty cars and four loaded ones. The northbound train was hauling 47 loaded cars and a disabled diesel unit.

King Would Top LBJ's Proposal on War on Poverty

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. plans to take to President Johnson a proposal for a far more gigantic attack on poverty than the President has proposed—a "bill of rights for the disadvantaged."

The Negro leader, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said today his plan would immediately transform the conditions of Negro life—as well as conditions for millions of indigent white persons.

"I don't see any possibility of bringing the Negro into the mainstream of American life without some type of compensatory consideration to make up for all the things he has been deprived of," King said in an interview.

"Economists concerned with poverty feel we could do it with about $15 billion," King said. "The President has proposed something over $9 million, which is only a beginning.

"I plan to discuss it with the President in a month or so as a concrete proposal after it has been worked out more thoroughly."

Military Chaplains Parley

Twenty thousand military chaplains will be represented in Chicago next week when the Military Chaplains Association of America holds its annual convention at the Sherman House, May 19-21. The theme of the meeting is "Unity — Its Problems and Promises." Representing the military chaplains who have served or are serving in America's armed forces and in the Veterans Administration, the MCA meeting will present a stellar group of religious and lay authorities in learned discussion of how unity may be achieved in international and national affairs, in the world of religion, and in the military services.

Orange County Man Built Muckland Into Onion Empire

WARWICK, N. Y. (AP) —On the strength of the onion and a foundation of fertile muckland, Vincent Kosuga has built an empire of more than a score of varied businesses.

"It has been a grind since 1937, when I bought 12½ acres of muck with a $100 down-payment," the 48-year old, ruddy-faced son of a Polish immigrant told a reporter.

Now he owns 1,500 acres in the heart of the Orange County vegetable belt.

Top Onion Grower

Kosuga believes he is the largest individual onion and celery-grower in the United States, grossing $5 million annually. He raised 650 acres of onions, mostly yellow globes; plus 300 acres of celery and 125 of lettuce. He also finances the crops of several other farmers.

Kosuga paid about $400 an acre for his first land, near where his father had farmed. Now the land is worth $1,000 to $1,700 an acre, he says.

The onions — and celery and lettuce — also have helped finance a truck and produce brokerage, a motor speedway, car wash, dry-cleaning plant and construction business at Middletown; a construction firm at Branchville, N.J.; an import-export company in New York City, and a butchering company at Wayne, N.J.

At Pine Island, Kosuga built a $60,000 water system, sells house lots and builds homes. He operates a public garage, a section of which he rents to Uncle Sam for Pine Island's postoffice.

Started in Wallkill Valley

Kosuga's first crop was lettuce. He said he pioneered in the Wallkill River Valley with a western, firm - headed iceburg type. He obtained 10 pounds of seeds, and he and Mrs. Kosuga counted the number of seeds in an ounce to determine how many heads they might expect.

Kosuga has no managers and no partners except his wife.

"I supervise everything myself, often working from 3 a.m. to dark," he said.

The short, energetic one-time truck-driver directs all planting, culture and harvesting, makes all marketing decisions and handles all sales.

He also introduces new menu items, cooks and bakes bread for the restaurant.

"He enjoys cooking," said Mrs. Kosuga.

The Kosugas' modest house overlooks fields, huge onion storage houses, equipment sheds and camps for his peak-time 200 migrant workers.

Neighbors and competitors attribute much of Kosuga's growth to his willingness to experiment, to mechanize and automate.

He first used old poultry crates to pack his vegetables. Since then he has pioneered in the area in bulk storage plants, vacuum coolers into which 45-foot loaded trailers are driven before heading for market, and motorized "mule trains," which move into the fields and from which workers pick, wash, pack and load lettuce and celery.

"You have to keep up with the times," Kosuga says simply.

Tours Sea Home

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter Thursday toured the 40-foot long capsule he will call home for eight days beneath the sea.

Sealab 1, a 62,000-pound capsule under construction at the U.S. Navy Mine Defense Laboratory, will be submerged near Bermuda in July. Carpenter and four other Navy men will enter the capsule on the 13th day of its 21-day stay 200 feet below the surface.

The Sealab project will test man's ability to live at the ocean bottom, eventually for as long as 30 days.

Two signers of the Declaration of Independence became U. S. presidents: John Adams and Thomas Jefferson.

Albany Man Elected

Garman succeeded Carl Greiner of Binghamton.

Others elected Thursday night at the group's 35th annual meeting were:

Harold Ranger Jr. of Hornell, vice president; Andrew Parry of Utica, secretary; Merle Bement Jr., of Buffalo, treasurer; Hubert Goodrich, Binghamton, Ralph Destephano, Rochester, Thomas Butler, Elmira and Greiner, directors.

The meeting ends Saturday.

Khanh Abolishes Buddhist Curbs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Khanh signed a decree today officially recognizing the Buddhist Church in South Viet Nam and abolishing restrictions imposed on the faith by the French and the Ngo Dinh Diem regime.

The decree abrogated a hold-over decree from the French regime in Indochina, which gave the Roman Catholic Church favored treatment. That decree sparked Buddhist demonstrations last summer which Diem harshly repressed, a major factor in his overthrow.

The new decree permits the Buddhist Church to own property and accept legacies. Under the old decree the Buddhist Church was not allowed to own property outside its pagodas and accept legacies. The Catholics were permitted both.

Put Own House In Order, Two Advise Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican congressmen, who visited six tenant families on Alabama land owned by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, called Thursday for President Johnson to "put your houses in order" before preaching an antipoverty program.

The two, Reps. Dave Martin of Nebraska and M. G. Snyder of Kentucky, said they visited Mrs. Johnson's property in Autauga County last weekend at the expense of the Republican Congressional Committee.

"We saw people living in deplorable poverty, with little evidence of concern by their millionaire landlords," Snyder said.

"If I owned property like that," Martin said, "I would believe it was my moral obligation to build decent housing."

The White House said Wednesday that several elderly families occupy tenant houses on Mrs. Johnson's land.

Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary, told reporters Mrs. Johnson inherited 2,800 acres occupied at one time by some 20 tenant families, most of whom have moved to cities or died.

"Mrs. Johnson's lawyers advisd her several years ago to put all 2,800 acres of Alabama land into the money crop—pine trees," Mrs. Carpenter said. "But she did not do so, preferring to let the remainingly elderly families, who occupy three houses there, to stay. They pay $5 a month rent and use some of the land to raise cotton and corn.

"Most of the families are very elderly and have no place to go. They want to stay there. She is really making it possible for them to live out their days at $5 a month and she sends them boxes of clothes."

Both Martin and Snyder, members of the House Education and Labor Committee, told a news conference they oppose the antipoverty bill now before the committee.

Florida Couple Killed

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) —A Florida couple, driving to Canada to visit relatives, were killed Friday when their automobile veered across the State Thruway and slammed into an oncoming truck, State Police reported.

Police identified them as Jay Protas, 66, of Sarasota, Fla., and his wife, Helen, 45.

State Police said they were driving to Hamilton, Ont., to visit Mrs. Protas' parents. They have a son and daughter in Brooklyn.

Heaviest Losses Yet

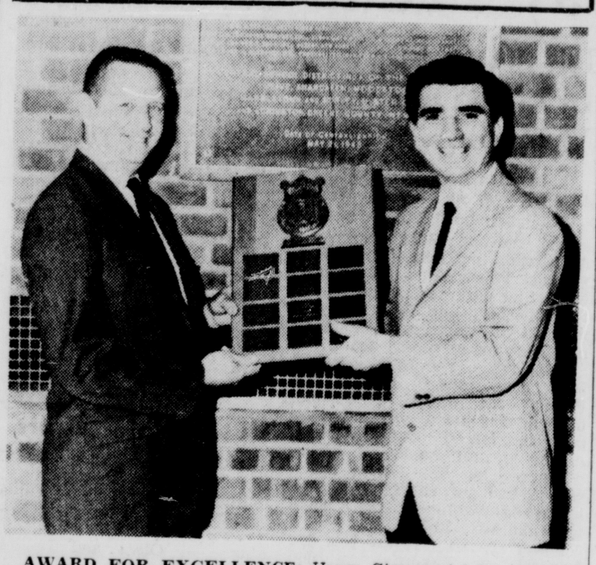

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Western military sources say some 300 men of the right-wing army were killed or wounded in a battle with pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces in a remote jungle near the border with Communist North Viet Nam.

Some 300 to 400 anti-Commmunist Meo tribesmen also were reported killed.

If confirmed, it would be the largest number of casualties in a single engagement of the Laotian civil war. Battle casualties in the dozens have been the rule.

AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE: Harry Simon (right) director of the Onteora Symphonic High School band accepts the New York State Music Association A-6 Plaque Award from Watson I. Goodrich, Jr., assistant to the superintendent for general administration of the Onteora Central Schools District. This is the seventh consecutive year the Onteora band has won this significant award. Two years ago, Simon was awarded the Kingston Newspaper Guild's Page One Award in music for his fine record in music education.

Highest Rating Again Accorded Onteora HS Band

The Onteora High School Symphonic Band has been notified that it received the highest rating that may be attained in New York State, A-6, at the music competition held Saturday, May 9 at the Cobleskill High school in Cobleskill.

The 80 piece band, under the direction of Harry Simon, received an "A" rating in grade six music. The annual competition is sponsored by the New York State School Music Association.

This makes the seventh consecutive year that the Onteora Symphonic Band has attained the highest possible rating in the state.

The rating plan used in adjudicating bands, as presented in the New York State School Music Association Manual is as follows: Grade six music is intended for organizations of symphonic caliber. Music in grade six will meet the standards expected from the largest schools in the state with the largest enrollments. This grade is recommended for schools with excellent music organizations. "A" is to be considered an outstanding performance. Selected music is divided into six grade levels. For each grade of music a group may receive an A, B, C, or D. The highest any group can possibly receive is "A" in grade six music.

Judges at the Cobleskill Competition were H. Stanley Robards, Syracuse, and John Wilkie, Rye, both prominent New York state music educators. Lawrence Bunney was the New York State School Music Association Representative.

The Onteora Symphonic Band prepared the following numbers: "Mount of Might" concert march by Eric Osterling; "Suite of Old American Dances" by Robert Russell Bennett; "Pageant" By Vincent Persichetti and "Symphonic Suite" by Clifton Williams.

The band was marked in 36 different categories and received 32 A's out of a possible total of 36. In the numerical scoring the band received 236 out of a possible total of 240 points.

Some of the comments made by the adjudicators about the concert march "Mount of Might" were: "Good control, good dynamic contrast, good spirit, a good sound.

The judges had this to say about "Pageant" by Vincent Persichetti; "A good ensemble sound, good start, good brass entrance, nice flute phrasing, this is a fine work done in very good fashion, your percussion section does well and does not get carried away, fine work, a fine job."

Concerning the final number "Symphonic Suite" by Clifton Williams the judges commented: "well controlled sound and rhythm, fine work, good conducting, I'm very impressed, this is a fine, well trained band. Congratulations to both the Onteora Band and its conductor."

Seven consecutive A-6 awards has made the Onteora High School Band gain so in stature that today it is considered as one of the most outstanding high school bands in New York state.

Bazaar Group Makes Report

The bazaar committee of Woodstock Fire Company No. 4 (Zena), headed by R. Mellert, has scheduled a meeting Monday, May 18, at 7:30 p. m. to discuss purchasing of prizes for the various booths. Plans for the bazaar are progressing smoothly, it was announced.

A water pump was donated to the company by Belmont Towbin and a committee was appointed to install it as soon as possible. John Cutler is chairman of the committee which also includes Bob Oberkirk and Chris Donoghue.

Robert Nelson, industrial representative for the boy scout troop being sponsored by the fire company, announced that a special meeting will be held Wednesday, May 20, at 8 p. m. in the Zena fire house. All interested parents and friends of Zena and the surrounding areas are invited to attend to discuss formation of the scout troop. A representative of the Rip Van Winkle Council will be present to explain and answer any questions concerning scouting.

Wiltwyck Steel Band Appears at Bennett

The Wiltwyck School Steel Band under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Moncure of Woodstock recently entertained at the Reginald Bennett School in Boiceville.

The band consisted of steel drums, bongos and other percussion instruments. The boys played many numbers, some well known as "Blue Moon" and "When the Saints Go Marching In" and other songs not so well known. The concert was greatly enjoyed by the students.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Virginia Anderson, chairman of the P-TA Cultural Arts Committee.

Registration Dates Set for Kindergarten

Kindergarten registration for the Onteora Central Schools will be held on Saturday, May 16, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon at the Bennett School, Boiceville, and the West Hurley School, West Hurley, and from 1-4 p. m. at the Woodstock School, Woodstock.

A child must be five years old by December 1, 1964 in order to be eligible to enter kindergarten in September, 1964.

Parents should bring the child's birth certificate and completed health history form when they register on Saturday.

Phys Ed Demonstration Slated at Woodstock

A physical education demonstration will be held at the Woodstock elementary school Wednesday, May 20, from 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. Due to lack of space the audience will be limited to adults only.

The demonstration will show class work as well as more advanced activity worked out by students in the special after school physical education program. This program, conducted twice weekly, is under the supervision of their physical education instructor, Andrew Shekitka.

Card Speaks Well Of Area Resorts

There is no longer any doubt about what some people think of Kingston and Ulster County as far as tourism is concerned, according to information released by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce office today.

To start with, a postcard was received at the Chamber of Commerce office merely addressed, "Tourist Paradise," Kingston, N. Y. On the other side was this message, "Please send brochures or material on your cabins, rates and explicit directions from New York. You were highly recommended by a former vacationer. Any information greatly appreciated."

This is only one of hundreds of similar letters and cards received. Information on hand, including a list of members in the hotel, resort hotel and motel business, as well as a classified directory and a Kingston Brochure, are mailed out in answer to this type of inquiry. When available the new Ulster County directory being prepared by the Valley Advertising Agency also will be distributed.

Japan Backs Call

TOKYO (AP)—Japan agreed today to back Premier Khrushchev's call for a joint offensive to ban all nuclear weapon tests—provided the Soviets accept an adequate inspection system.

Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda spelled out Japan's position to Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, who brought Khrushchev's proposal when he arrived Thursday for a two-week visit.

Mikoyan did not comment on Japan's insistence on inspection safeguards, which is similar to the position of the Western powers with which the Soviet Union has refused to agree.

Rookie Cop Is Killed in Crash

WAYLAND, N.Y. (AP) — A patrol car, driven by a rookie policeman and carrying two truck-drivers who were under arrest, crashed into a tree today in this Steuben County village. The policeman was killed and the truckers injured, one seriously.

Police said Patrolman Charles E. Rose, 36, a member of the Wayland Police Department for five weeks, had been responding to an accident call. He was married and the father of two.

The truck-drivers, who had been arrested on charges of violating a traffic law, were awaiting bail, State Police said. Troopers said they had not determined why they were in the patrol car.

Willard Caskey, 40, of Iron Station, N.C., one of the drivers, was reported on the danger list at Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester. He suffered internal and head injuries and a fractured leg.

The other driver, Elburn Christy, 31, of Kannapolis, N.C., was reported in fair condition at Wayland Hospital. He suffered head and chest injuries.

SF Loses, Mays Goes Hitless; HR Happy Twins May Trade

Late Rally Pins 3-2 Loss on Shaw; Mets Win, 12-4

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Say Hey, look what Bob Bruce did!

Bruce held Willie Mays hitless for the first time in 21 games, setting the San Francisco slugger down four times Thursday night and slicing Mays' average 19 points to .449 as the Houston Colts defeated the National League-leading Giants 4-3.

It was the first time Mays had been held hitless since April 16, when he was stopped by St. Louis' Curt Simmons in the third game of the season.

While Mays was having his first difficult night in almost a month, the Los Angeles Dodgers swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 6-4 in 10 innings and 5-0, but ace left-hander Sandy Koufax again failed to turn in a strong performance.

Koufax was unable to finish for the third straight game and was clipped for four runs in four innings of the opener. Don Drysdale, however, turned in a brilliant effort in the nightcap for the Dodgers, winning his fifth straight complete game with a four-hitter for a 5-1 record.

Elsewhere, Richie Allen homered in the seventh inning for Philadelphi's 3-2 victory over St. Louis and the Ne[illegible] Mets drubbed Milwau[illegible] Cincinnati and Pittsb[illegible] not scheduled.

Bruce, who brought his record to 4-1 with ninth-inning relief help from Hal Woodeshick, was tagged for a two-run triple in the sixth inning by Tom Haller and went into the seventh trailing 3-2.

Rally Wins It

The Colts tied it when Bob Shaw was touched for singles by Eddie Kasko and Nellie Fox before forcing in a run by walking Al Spangler and Walt Bond. When Shaw walked John Bateman in the eighth, Billy Pierce came on, but it was too late. Singles by Kasko and Spangler got the winning run home.

The Cubs bolted to a 4-0 lead against the Dodgers in the first game, three runs scoring on Ron Santo's homer. The Dodgers caught up in the eighth on Jim Gilliam's homer and won it in the 10th when Tommy Davis singled and Frank Howard hit his 11th homer.

In the nightcap, the Dodgers provided Drysdale with a 3-0 lead in the first two innings, cashing in on four stolen bases and five walks by Fred Norman. Davis stole three bases.

Ernie Broglio was pitching a two-hit shutout for the Cardinals when the Phillies tied the score in the sixth with two runs. Singles by Tony Taylor and Allen plus two grounders get one run across before John Herrnstein singled in another. Allen's homer then won it for Jim Bunning, now 4-1 with the aid of Ed Roebuck's relief help.

The Mets stroked 15 hits against Braves' starter Warren Spahn and three successors. Dick Smith slammed three key doubles for New York while Ron Hunt also chipped in with three hits. Spahn, now 2-3, left in the fifth inning after Joe Christopher tagged a homer. The score was the Mets' highest of the season.

Miss Jean Gaise And Ronald Thomas Honored at Wagner

STATEN ISLAND—Miss Jean Gaise, daughter of Pastor and Mrs. David Gaise, 2 President's Place and Ron Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Thomas of 11 Reynolds Street, Kingston, received awards at the Wagner College Athletic Awards Dinner last night.

Miss Gaise earned a plaque for three years participation on the women's basketball team and Thomas earned freshmen letters for basketball and baseball.

Torres Favored Over McClure

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Torres is a 13-10 favorite to whip Skeeter McClure, an old buddy and fellow Olympian, in the middleweight television fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The 10-rounder will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV. Starting time is 9 p.m., EST.

They have been good friends since the Puerto Rican-born Torres won a narrow, disputed decision over the tall, Toledo boxer in the National Golden Gloves final in 1958.

"We're friends but it won't mean a thing when we get into the ring," said Torres, now a New Yorker.

"Some of your hardest and best fights have been between good friends," said McClure, a teaching graduate of the University of Toledo.

McClure won the Olympic light - middleweight crown at Rome in 1960 when he was a teammate of Cassius Clay. Clay captured the light-heavyweight gold medal.

Torres won a silver medal in the light middleweight class at the 1956 games in Melbourne. He lost a split decision in the final to Laszlo Papp, who now is the undefeated European middleweight pro champion.

As a pro Torres, 28, has a 29-1-2 record, including 22 knockouts. McClure, 25, has a 16-2 record, including seven knockouts.

Hit Seven More In 15-7 Triumph; Yanks Bow, 7-3

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vic Power used to be Minnesota's starting first baseman. Along came outfielder Tony Oliva, and Power was the Twins' No. 2 first baseman. Now comes Don Mincher, and Power again may be a starting first baseman—for some other team.

Mincher's recent slugging feats have made the veteran Power even more expendable than he had been when Oliva's presence forced outfilder Bob Allison to first base.

Mincher hit his fourth home run in five games Thursday as Minnesota clobbered the Chicago White Sox, 15-7.

Power probably is the best defensive first baseman in the American League. But rookie Oliva is hitting even better than expected while sluggers Allison, Jimmie Hall and Harmon Killebrew are producing at their usual home run pace.

Now, with Mincher acting as if he wants in on a good thing, Twins' Manager Sam Mele finds himself with five power hitters for four positions. That doesn't leave much room for Power, who conceivably could bring Minnesota a badly needed pitcher in a trade.

The 25-year-old Mincher trails Hall 9, Allison 9 and Oliva 7 in home runs, but he's tied with Killebrew at six each. His .356 batting average is second only to Oliva's .414 for the Twins.

The first baseman has hit three of his last four homers with two runners on base. His blast Thursday, one of six for the Twins, was good for three runs.

Only two other games were played in the AL. Washington downed Baltimore 4-1 and Detroit halted New York 7-3.

Two for Killebrew

Killebrew clouted two homers for the Twins, one with two men aboard. Allison, Rich Rollins and Zoilo Versalles also connected against the White Sox.

Rollins wound up driving in five runs, three on his fifth homer and two on a double.

Minnesota now has slammed 51 homers in 26 games, a rate that would give the Twins a major league record of 318 at the end of the season. The New York Yankees hold the record of 240.

Despite the Twins' onslaught against Gary Peters and Eddie Fisher, starter Gerry Arrigo was forced from the game in the fifth inning after Chicago got to him for five runs and nine hits. Tom McCraw hit a two-run homer for the White Sox in the ninth.

Don Zimmer cracked a grand slam home run for all of Washington's runs as the Orioles' Robin Roberts suffered his second setback in three decisions.

Buster Narum held Baltimore to four hits in winning his third game against one defeat.

Detroit trailed the Yankees 3-2 going into the seventh. Then the Tigers erupted for five runs singled home the tying run, and Steve Hamilton's wild pitch with the bases loaded sent home the deciding tally.

The Tigers added three runs on singles by Dick McAuliffe and George Thomas.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Frank Howard, Dodgers, collected single and double before hitting two-run homer in 10th inning for 6-4 first game victory over Chicago Cubs, then completed 5-for-8 performance by stroking two singles and driving in two runs in 5-0 nightcap triumph.

PITCHING — Don Drysdale, Dodgers, brought his record to 5-1 with his fifth straight complete game victory, allowing the Cubs only four hits in the second game of a doubleheader.

The monthly Master Point game will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the bridge studios, 271 Fair Street.

Willie Thrilled by Early Start for Homer, Bat Title

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays' early seasor attack on Roger Maris' home-run record and his threat to become the first in 23 years to hit .400 has the baseball fans agog.

But none are as excited about Mays' batting feats as Willie himself. The brilliant San Francisco Giant center fielder is thrilled by it all, but he is fighting a battle within himself to prevent his true feelings from cropping out.

A wonderfully cooperative person, Mays has to use utmost restraint from being rude as he parries questions hurled at him concerning his chances of finishing with a .400 batting average. Or his chances of bettering Maris' 61 home runs over the course of a 162-game season.

'I'm not saying anything, but not anything," Willie backed off when the suggestion was made to him that he could be the first since Ted Williams in 1941 to hit .400.

Mays' true nature, however, came to the fore.

"I'm like this," he said, "If I'm going to break a record, please don't tell me. If I'm thinking about doing something real bad, I won't do it. Someone comes up to me and says, 'If you get a hit today, it will be your 2,000th.' You can bet I won't get the hit.

"Don't tell me things like that. Just let me go and play. Don't tell me nothing and I don't think about it and then I do it."

Through the Giants' first 21 games, Mays had a batting average of .481 with 11 home runs. No one in years had gotten off to as fast a start. How long did he think he could keep that up?

Ball Looks Bigger

"Amazing, ain't it?" he said and laughed. "But it won't last. But I'd sure like to keep it going for a little while longer. I'm not doing anything different, but somehow the ball looks bigger coming into the plate. It always does look bigger when you're hitting."

There is another explanation although Mays is reluctant to talk about it. At 33 and with 12 full seasons behind him, Willie opened this season in his best frame of mind since his rookie year as the laughing Say-Hey kid of 20 in 1951.

It isn't so much that he's smarter and more experienced although that could be one of the underlying reasons. But, for the first time in years, Mays is playing without the weight of marital or financial troubles on his mind.

It is two years since Willie's divorce became final. He had to borrow on his $100,000 slary from the Giants, and it took another year for Mays to dig out from his financial morass.

"I've got real peace of mind now," Mays said. "The way I feel right now, as far as my health and frame of mind are concerned, I think I can go on playing for another 10 years."

Rocca Wrestling Show Is Cancelled

The wrestling show originally scheduled for Saturday night at the municipal auditorium has been cancelled.

The main bout was to have featured Argentine Rocca against Killer Attila. No new date has been announced.

Trout Unlimited To Hear Expert On Fish Policy

Kenneth F. Wich, Regional Fish Manager, Region 8, New York Conservation Department, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Catskill Mountain Chapter of Trout Unlimited, Wednesday, May 20, at 7:30 p. m. at Kahil's Rainbow Lodge in Mt. Tremper.

The theme of Wich's speech will be "New York State Stocking Policy," with a slide lecture covering the stocking policy and the method by which they determine the allotment for each stream.

Discussion topics to be covered are: (1) What the Conservation Department is doing to save trout streams. (2) Are the streams and waters of New York State classified, and if so, when last classified? (3) What is the written policy on trout by the Conservation Department in New York State. (4) What control directly does the Conservation Department have in making the conservation laws on fish and fishing, and is it possible to change existing laws to further trout protection programs?

Also to be discussed is what Trout, Unlimited can do to assist the Conservation Department to preserve trout and prevent stream pollution.

All chapter members, as well as all interested non-members, are requested to pull off their waders and boots Wednesday night and join in full force to support this important trout program.

KERMIT, Tex. — (NEA) — Those who do not think athletes are improving from year to year should note the case of Lewis Hernandez. Lewis, a seventh-grade student in Kermit, pole vaulted 11 feet 1 inch. In 1945 first place in the Southwest Conference was taken by a Texas A & M vaulter who cleared 10 feet, 6 inches.

Maras Speaker At New Paltz Sports Dinner

Joseph T. Maras, assistant director of admissions at Union College, will be the principal speaker at the second annual Sport Night Tuesday, June 2, at 8 p. m. in the cafeteria of the central school at New Paltz.

Maras joined the Union College faculty in 1960 as an assistant professor of physical education and coach of football. After guiding the varsity team for four seasons, he was named in February, 1964, as assistant director of admissions.

During his first year as Union's coach, he guided the team to its first win in three seasons.

Coaches of the various sports at New Paltz Central will present letters to members of the athletic teams. The parents are invited and encouraged to attend.

Duquesne Graduate

A native of Hibbing, Minnesota, he is a 1938 graduate of Duquesne University, where he was an All-American honorable mention center on the football team. Among the other honors he earned at Duquesne was the Weiss Prize as the senior athlete with the highest scholastic record. Following graduation he played professional football with the Pittsburgh Steelers for three years. Maras began coaching in 1946, after a wartime hitch in the Navy, as a line coach at Champlain College.

From 1948-50 he was assistant football and head wrestling coach at Amherst, moving on to Harvard for the next seven years, where he continues his work with Lloyd Jordan. From 1957 until his appointment at Union he was an assistant football coach at Columbia University. In 1950 he was awarded a master of arts degree in personal administration and vocational guidance by Columbia University's Teachers College.

Maras is married and the father of three daughters.

50 Club Field Day Scheduled July 4

Saturday, July 4 has been set as the date of the annual Children's Field Day, sponsored by the 50 Club of Kingston.

Tom Coughlin will serve as general chairman of the event, which features games and prizes for city children.

Individual Rule Adopted by KBA Is Boon to Sport

Adoption of the individual membership sanction by the Kingston Bowling Association at its annual May meeting removes a long standing irritant among bowlers, particularly those who roll in several leagues.

Under the new setup, every bowler in the KBA will be required to pay for an ABC membership card which will sanction him to bowl in any number of leagues in the local association.

This plan will also supersede the policy currently in effect whereby the league collects a team sanction of $7.50 on five-man teams, or $1.50 per number of bowlers on three and four-man teams to forward to the KBA and ABC.

Many Advantages

The obvious advantage of the new rule will be financial relief to bowlers participating in more than one league, as well as a saving to all leagues who no longer will have to divert part of the sponsor's fee to paying the team sanction, which will be eliminated.

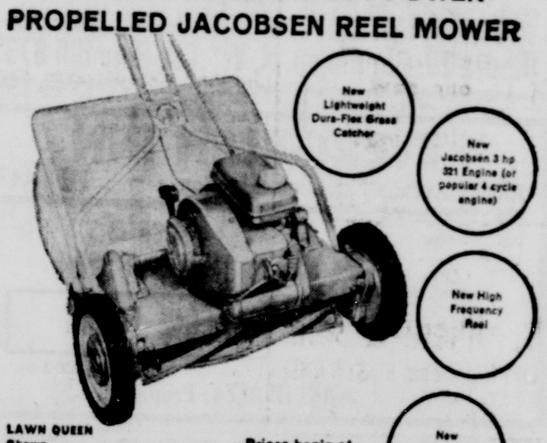

Duties of officers of the executive committee are now specifically designated. For example, the first vice president will serve as tournament manager; 2nd vice president, auditing chairman; 3rd vice chairman, publicity; 4th vice president, awards; 5th vice president, chairman of rules committee.

The new rules also authorize the election of an assistant secretary-treasurer.

Another change in policy is that the executive committee will meet in June to elect its officers. However, no member of the executive committee can be elected an officer unless he has served at least one complete term on the executive committee.

Woodstock Riding Club Sets June 21 Date for 17th Show

The Woodstock Riding Club of Woodstock has announced Sunday, June 21, as the date for its 17th annual horse show.

The American Horse Show Association-recognized Class C show will be held at the club's Ohayo Mountain grounds starting at 9 a. m. and continuing until all 38 classes are judged.

Judging will take place in two rings and on the outside hunt course.

Four divisions, each providing a stake class as well as money prizes, trophies and ribbons, will be scheduled. A fifth division, equitation, will contain the big medal classes as well as others. Appropriate ribbons and trophies will be awarded. Special classes, some of which carry challenge trophies and ribbons, are traditional at this show.

Divisions for three-gaited saddle horses, working hunters, jumpers, morgans, and equitation will be included.

Those wishing prize lists will receive them in response to requests addressed to the Woodstock Riding Club, Woodstock. Prize lists will be mailed to an exclusive list during the last week of May.

Olympic Goal For Three Crews

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Harvard and Yale—both unbeaten and both hoping for the United States Olympic rowing assignment this fall — will give some Olympic answers Saturday in the Eastern sprint championships at Lake Quinsigamond.

And Cornell, beaten one-half length last week by Yale, hopes the top two will be so busy watching each other that it can slip past.

The race is at the Olympic distance of 2,000 meters, where one slip can be fatal.

Harvard is top-seeded and is in the first heat, along with Penn, Rutgers, MIT, Navy, Dartmouth and Columbia.

Yale, seeded second, is in the second heat along with Cornell, No. 3, Wisconsin, No. 4, Brown, Syracuse, Princeton and Boston U.

The two heats go off in the morning with the leading crews advancing to the late afternoon final.

Harvard and Yale each has the fourth lane, but that is not necessarily advantageous here. Cornell strength could be decisive if the usual southwesterly headwind or an easterly quartering breeze prevails.

Oklahoma Opener Is Rained Out

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Another attempt to play the first round of the $40,000 Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament was scheduled today, but thunderstorms which wiped out play late Thursday again were forecast for the area.

Play was halted Thursday when lightning flashed threateningly over the 7,042-yard Quail Creek Country Club course. All but 21 players had finished their rounds when the end came. None of the scores counted.

PGA officials promised a decision early Friday whether to play 36 holes Sunday or carry the tournament over another day and finish Monday.

Involved in the decision are local television commitments. Another complicating factor is that the field will be cut to the low 70 scorers after 36 holes and to the low 60 scorers after 54 holes.

A 36-hole session Sunday would necessitate drawing up new pairings in the middle of the day.

Yonkers Feature To Cardigan Bay

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A crowd of 23,395 saw Cardigan Bay score a 2½ length victory over Royal Rick in the $15,000 New Zealand prep pace at the opening of Yonkers Raceway Thursday night.

Stanley Dancer drove the 8-year-old gelding to the win in 2:05 3-5, over a sloppy track.

The New Zealand import, purchased by Dancer for $100,000 for the Cardigan Stable and Irving Berkemeyer of New Milford, N. J., returned $3.30.

Josedale Go Lucky was third.

Royal Domain, won the secondary feature, the Lt. David Lipton Memorial pace by three-quarters of a length over Mr. Childs and paid $11.

At Buffalo Raceway, Scottish Port won the featured $2,000 invitational pace for 3-year-olds in 2:08 1-5.

The winner, driven by George Gilmour, paid $39.80, $6.80 and $4.40. Kwik Kat was second and Meadow Lou third.

Little Leaguers

Esopus Dodgers Gain 10-3 Win

Peter Koola hurled a three hitter and banged out three doubles and a single in four trips as the Dodgers walloped the Mets, 10-3, in an Esopus Legion Little league game.

The winners broke open a tight contest with a six run explosion in the fifth frame. Bob Webster singled and doubled and Kim Tresvick rapped two singles to aid in the attack.

Rich Freese, the losing hurler, had a pair of doubles for the Mets.

Tigers and Cubs Score in Peewee

Ross Carey slugged two home runs and Bob McCullough added three hits to pace the Cubs to a 6-5 squeaker over the Mets in the St. Mary's Pee Wee League.

David Jackson hit two home runs and Louis Casciaro had three singles for the losers.

Three runs in the fifth gave the Tigers a 4-3 win over the Red Sox. Mike Cline of the Tigers and Dan Gallagher of the Sox slammed home runs. Vince Marriore hit two singles.

High School Pitcher Fans 22 in 7 Innings

DALE, Ind. (AP) — Pitcher Don Kirkland of Chrisney High School struck out 22 batters in a seven-inning baseball game with Oakland City Thursday in pitching a 10-0 no-hitter.

He needed the extra strikeout in the seventh inning because his catcher let a third strike get away and the batter made it to first. Kirkland faced 23 men, walking one. Nobody hit a ball fair against him.

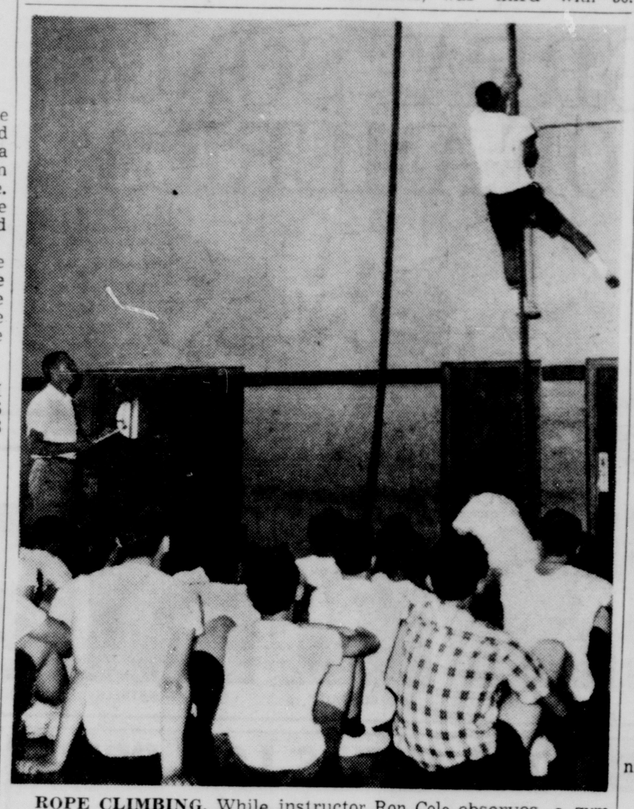

Second Hart Trophy For Jean Beliveau

MONTREAL (AP)—Big Jean Beliveau may well be the Montreal Canadiens' best center since the great Howie Morenz. He definitely is the most honored.

Beliveau won the Hart Trophy the National Hockey League's Most Valuable Player emblem, for the second time Thursday. He is the only Canadien player except Morenz to win the trophy twice, although eight others have been named MVP since the original trophy was donated in 1923.

Morenz won in 1928, 1930 and 1931. Beliveau's first time as 1956, early in his big league career.

Runner-up in the Hart Trophy was Bobby Hull of Chicago with 58 points while Detroit's Gordie Howe, who has taken the trophy six times, was third with 50.

Early to Rise

HALLANDALE, Fla.—(NEA)—Most established jockeys take advantage of their position to sleep late in the morning. Not Larry Gilligan. The 27-year-old rider arose before dawn almost every morning during the meet at Gulfstream to work out horses. Gilligan feels that riding horse in workouts is a good way to insure that his mount will perform at his best when it really counts.

Dancer and Hill Renew Rivalry In the Preakness

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Northern Dancer and Hill Rise, the David and Goliath of horse racing's 3-year-old division, meet again Saturday in the 88th running of the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico with every indication of a repeat of their Kentucky Derby stretch duel.

Northern Dancer, a mighty mite from Canada, won the Derby in record time of two minutes flat for 1¼ miles. He covered the last quarter in 24 seconds.

Hill Rise, the California-owned flash, also was under the old Derby record and ran the final one-quarter mile in 23 2-5 seconds but lost the decision by a neck.

Four other sharply trained thoroughbreds — The Scoundrel, Roman Brother, Quadrangle and Big Pete — will oppose the fearsome twosome in the 1 3-16 mile race before a crowded house of 30,000 and a national television audience.

On CBS Television

Post time is 4:45 p.m. EST, with television and radio, CBS, scheduled for 4:30-5 p.m.

The four go into the second leg of the Triple Crown, which includes the Derby and Belmont, with fine credentials except for one thing — all but Big Pete were badly beaten by Northern Dancer in the Derby.

Big Pete didn't start in the Derby and in the words of his trainer, Bernie Bond, the Preakness distance figures to be too much for this speed-loving son of Degage owned by Mrs. Harriet N. Ball of Falls Church, Va.

Hill Rise, carrying the hopes of George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, has been made the 7-5 choice just as he was in the Derby, with Northern Dancer from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm second in the line at 2-1. It wouldn't be surprising to see them go off at close to co-choices.

Found Key Hole

The Dancer gained his advantage in the Derby when jockey Bill Hartack found a hole five-eighths of a mile from the finish and shot the nimble son of Nearctic into a quick lead.

Backers of Hill Rise figured that Willie Shoemaker will not let Hartack get such an advantage this time since the field is much smaller and the El Peco colt will have plenty of room to stretch his long legs.

With six starters, the race will have a gross value of $176,700. The winner will get $124,200. To make it worthwhile for the others, $30,000 goes to the second-place finisher, $15,000 to third and $7,500 to fourth.

In the draw for places in the starting gate, Big Pete got No. 1 with Roman Brother No. 2, Quadrangle No. 3, Northern Dancer No. 4, the Scoundrel No. 5 and Hill Rise on the outside.

The forecast is for clear and warm with a fast track.

Rambler

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore. — (NEA) — A rambling Umpqua River steelhead wandered far a-sea to grow up. The tagged-female, measuring 25 inches and weighing seven pounds, was caught by W. A. Hudelson of Myrtle Creek as it returned to the South Umpqua on its spawning migration. The fish was tagged by Canadian authorities 10 months prior to the catch at a point approximately 720 miles, via open ocean, from where the steelhead wound up hooked.

List Candidates

Davis Is Named For Congress By Liberal Party

Hudson Valley regional office of the Liberal Party of New York, as the result of county conventions, today announced the candidacy of William G. Davis, Liberal councilman of the Kingston Board of Aldermen, as its choice for the 28th Congressional District seat (Ulster, Greene, Schoharie, Columbia and Dutchess Counties).

The executive board of Ulster County Liberal Party endorsed George A. Majestic of Town of Gardiner, Democratic candidate for State senatorial post of the 34th District (Ulster, Greene, Delaware, and Sullivan Counties).

Also endorsed was Joseph P. Torraca of Marlboro, Republican candidate for district attorney.

Others named on the Liberal slate were:

Mrs. Mabel Chapman of Woodstock for state assembly, and Stephen Korchowsky of 36 Howland Avenue, Kingston, for county treasurer.

Divis, serving his fourth term as 13th Ward alderman, is chairman of Ulster County Liberal Party Committee. He has been an employe of New York Central Railroad for the past 21 years and serves as secretary-treasurer of Local 898, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

He is affiliated with the Legislative Representatives Association, BPO of Elks and Esteemed Order of Loyal Knights.

Davis and his wife, Katherine have two children, Garry, who resides at Fitch Street and a daughter, Barbara Spears of California.

A statement from Valley headquarters says, "We feel, that in Mr. Davis, we offer the independent voter a candidate who will strive for better legislation in the field of social and economic improvement. We must have medical care for the aged, through social security, civil rights and civil liberty for all our people, a minimum salary base of at least $1.50 per hour, expansion of our educational facilities, re-training of workers to facilitate and take up the gap which automation has produced and a strong support of President Lyndon B. Johnson's fight against poverty.

"Economically speaking, neither of the other major party candidates can state this. The present congressman who represents this area has voted wrong on all bills that would have aided his congressional constituents in this field.

The Democrat aspirant, cannot be and is not a friend of labor, he has denied his own employes the right of organizational bargaining collectively for better economic conditions and grievence procedures, through his obstructive attitude towards organization at his plants. We therefore offer Mr. Davis, as the only independent Liberal candidate and friend of labor.

Davis will oppose Republican incumbent, J. Ernest Wharton of Richmondville, Schoharie County, and Democrat, Joseph Y. Resnick, Ellenville industrialist.

Majestic, running for the state senate seat held by Republican E. Ogden Bush of DeLancey, Delaware County, is a supervisor for the Town of Gardiner, a contractor and former union organizer.

Torraca, current assistant district attorney, was formerly associated with the office of District Attorney Frank Hogan of New York City. He will oppose Democrat Herbert Weinsoff, Ellenville attorney.

Mrs. Chapman is candidate for the State Assembly seat held by incumbent Republican Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock. She is employed by Rotron Manufacturing Co., Inc., Woodstock and was the first president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union Local 259.

Korchowsky, a member of the Carpenters Union seeks the county treasurer's post held by Republican Fred H. DuBois.

Hughes Is Carpenter

George E. Yerry Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters today noted that James Hughes, who spoke at a Common Council hearing Wednesday night on downtown urban renewal, is a member of Carpenters Local 1175, and not a plumbers' union as was reported. Hughes reported that the union, at an April meeting, accepted two Negroes as apprentices. His statement followed one by Miss Blythe Miller, of the Congress of Racial Equality, who said that CORE was in favor of urban renewal, but would work to see that there is no social discrimination in carrying out the program.

Names In The News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP) — The fourth wife of Alan Jay Lerner, Broadway lyricist whose hits include "My Fair Lady," has sued for separation.

"Anything we have to say will be said in court," said Mrs. Lerner's lawyer, Roy Cohn. The papers were sealed.

ATLANTA (AP) — Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and President Johnson's antipoverty program, brushed off reporters' questions during a visit to Atlanta about the possibility of his becoming the Democratic candidate for vice president.

NEW YORK (AP)—Thurgood Marshall, the attorney who successfully argued the case against segregated schools before the U.S. Supreme Court 10 years ago, is the winner of the NAACP's Liberty Bell award.

The award was presented to Marshall, now a federal judge, by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Thursday night.

The award was presented during the closed-circuit telecast of a "freedom spectacular" by which the NAACP hoped to raise $1 million. Thirty-four entertainers donated their services to the show, which was telecast to 48 cities.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Diane Crosby, ex-wife of Lindsay Crosby, has taken out a license to marry Gerald Reed Bott, 30, businessman from Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Phone Man Hurt As Truck Tips

A 45-year-old New York Telephone Co. employe, was injured at 4 p. m. Thursday when a company truck he was driving skidded out of control on Lucas Avenue Turnpike, Town of Rosendale, and overturned on its top after hitting a tree stump.

State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes, Kingston sub-station, said Orville M. Klomps, of 608 Plainfield Street, Town of Ulster, was driving the truck north on a turn when the vehicle skidded off the east side of the highway, veered across the pavement, went off the west side, hit the tree stump and overturned.

According to troopers, traffic on the highway was interrupted for about an hour.

Klomps, a supervisor for the telephone company, and former chief of Ulster Hose Co., was treated at Benedictine Hospital for lacerations of the forehead, contusions and injuries of the right ankle.

Trooper Fred Cooper investigated the mishap.

Boy Hero to Get Citation During Police Meeting

Robert Sickler, 14, of 16 Hunter Street, who rescued a downtown boy after he had fallen into the Rondout Creek Tuesday, is to receive a Citizens Citation Award at a police board meeting Thursday, May 21 in the mayor's office, City Hall.

Sickler saved the life of Anthony Williams, 6, of 49 Meadow Street, who had fallen into the creek from a dock beyond Ferry Street while playing with other boys.

Mayor John J. Schwenk in a recent letter praising Robert, said in part, "It is our desire to present you with a Citizens Citation Award for saving this little boy's life." The mayor said he was "proud and happy" to learn of Robert's heroism.

Time of the presentation was announced Thursday afternoon.

Doctors Ask

uary of this year there had been 41 patients in the hospital but that the number dropped to 37 and then rapidly declined and it was stated that 30 beds were available now.

Is Under Study

After a lengthy discussion on the subject Supervisor James A. Rapp (R), First Ward, moved that consent be sought from the State Commissioner of Health to the effect that ten beds be made available for non-tuberculosis patient use, pointing out that the law provides that tubercular patients at all times have preference.

Minority Leader John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro, offered an amendment that "any available beds" be substituted for the "ten beds" and also asked that there be inserted in the Rapp resolution a clause the T-B cases have priority.

Rapp pointed out that the law so provides.

During the discussion Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux moved that the matter be referred to the Public Health Committee for clarification and that the committee report back at the next meeting on the matter of preference of patients. That motion was carried.

Car, Club Thefts Noted

Police were notified Thursday of a theft from a car and from the Twaalfskill Club, 282 West O'Reilly Street. Several clubs were reported missing from the pro's shop at Twaalfskill, and Ann Simrany, of 89 Wrentham Street, reported her car entered by the forcing of a window vent while it was parked in the lot at Sangi's Bowlero, Cedar Street. A gear indicator was reported missing from the steering post.

Speaker Listed For Last Nurse's Institute Monday

DR. FREDERICK A. WHITEHOUSE

Nurses attending the fourth and last session of the Heart Institute for Nurses sponsored by the Ulster and Greene County Heart Associations Monday, May 18 — 7:30 p. m. at the Brigham School Auditorium, will hear guest speaker Dr. Frederick A. Whitehouse, director of rehabilitation for the American Heart Association, discuss Psychosocial Aspects of the main theme of the Institute, Strokes.

This session will be presided over and greeted by Sister Mary Charles, co-administrator of Benedictine Hospital and co-chairman of the Nurse's Institute.

Dr. Whitehouse, Ed.D., received his Master of Arts in psychology from Columbia University in 1940 and his doctorate in Education and Rehabilitation in 1952 from New York University.

His past positions include school psychologist and vocational counselor for the Division of Vocational Education of the Connecticut State Department of Education (1943-47), and director of rehabilitation at one of the leading comprehensive rehabilitation centers in the country, the Institute of the Crippled and Disabled (1947-53).

He is the author of numerous and varied articles in the field of rehabilitation, and these have been published in many magazines of the medical and related professions.

Dr. Whitehouse serves on the board of directors of the Queens, New York Cerebral Palsy Society and the medical committee of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped and is a member of the policy committee of the National Rehabilitation Association.

"All nurses and nursing students are urged to attend this concluding session," says Katherine A. Bower, executive director of the Ulster County Heart Association, "as it should prove to be a most interesting and valuable one."

There will be no registration fee for nurses who have not attended the past three sessions, but wish to attend this one.

Any questions concerning this Institute or its topic, Stroke, should be addressed to the Ulster County Heart Association, 268 Fair Street.

Students Claim Mass Bed Mark

LONDON (AP)—"Four tons of humanity were on top of me," said Frazer Cartwright, 16. "It nearly squashed the life out of me. I thought I was being killed. Never again, thank you."

Students at Wakefield Technical and Art College in Yorkshire decided Thursday night to try to break the world record of 42 students in one bed.

Frazer and four others volunteered to form the bottom layer. Forty-five more climbed on, to make a record 50.

As the last three students scrambled to the top of the writhing mass, Frazer yelled: "Get off! Quick! I'm—"

He didn't finish the sentennce. Blood gushed from his nose and he fainted.

Other students shouted to those on top to jump. They jumped.

Frazer was unconscious and the other four on the bottom were woozy. Artificial respiration finally brought Frazer around.

Makarios, Gyani Meet

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (AP)—President Archbishop Makarios and U.N. Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani visited strife-torn Famagusta together today. Gyani tongued-lashed Greek Cypriots as at least equally responsible for terror tactics on the divided island.

Surrounded by Irish troops and Greek Cypriot police, the pair walked through dockyards directly underneath the walls of the Turkish quarter, where two Greek army officers and one Greek Cypriot policeman were killed by Turks last Monday.

Frost Warning Is

ed a low of 49.

The Weather Bureau said scattered frost could be expected tonight in northeastern New York, the Mohawk and Hudson Valleys and the western Catskills.

The bureau said those areas would warm up Saturday. The western half of the state and the area east of Lake Ontario is expected to be warmer tonight.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market nudged irregularly higher early this afternoon. Trading was the lightest in weeks.

Gains of key stocks were mainly fractional, some going to a point or so.

An exception was Du Pont, up more than 3 points as it rebounded from some sharp declines this week.

Aerospace issues, nonferrous metals, drugs, chemicals and oils were generally higher. Airlines and tobaccos continued to drift lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 306.9 with industrials up 1.0, rails up .1 and utilities up .1.

Interest seemed to be cooling in some of the recent red-hot speculative favorites. Calumet & Hecla and Texas Gulf Sulphur were off fractionally at the start, recovering later.

G.D. Searle and Parke, Davis advanced more than a point each as interest switched to the drug section.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .40 at 824.64.

U.S. Smelting rose about a point. Polaroid lost a point and Control Data more than that.

GOP Aldermen Endorse Sen. Bush For Reelection

An endorsement of the candidacy of Sen. E. Ogden Bush of DeLancey, incumbent Republican in the State Senate, for nomination in the June 2 primary was offered by GOP aldermen in Kingston Common Council today.

In a statement issued by Republican Majority Leader John Machione, 12th Ward alderman, the floor leader said the GOP aldermen of the Common Council heartily endorse the incumbent senator for the party's nomination on June 2.

Emphasizing the legislative record of Sen. Bush, Alderman Machione said the Republican council members were in a position to know first hand the senator's accomplishments for the city and county. He stressed as one example the expeditious manner in which the senator guided the city's urban renewal measures through the State Senate.

Machione further said that his colleagues in the council fully understand the value of experience and responsibility in government.

"Government needs the services of dedicated and trained individuals today," Machione said.

"Persons aspiring to high government position should spend time serving an apprenticeship in lesser position so that those they represent may be assured of the best representation.

"If such a policy is adhered to our democratic form of government would be in less jeopardy from outside forces.

"We have such a dedicated and trained representative in Senator Bush," the statement said.

Keating Critical Of Pentagon in Closing of Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says the Defense Department should give greater consideration to the impact of its activities and decisions on local economies.

Keating made the comment Thursday in supporting a request by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, also a New York Republican, for Senate hearings to get firsthand information on the economic effects of the closing of local military bases.

Javits' request was in a letter to Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., chairman of the House-Senate Economic Subcommittee on Defense Procurement.

Keating contended the Pentagon decision to close the Rome, N.Y., Air Materiel Area was made without considering that Rome is in an area of substantial unemployment.

Keating also said the Defense Department had cancelled a contract with a Schenectady firm, a step that he said would result in a sharp cutback in employment.

He argued that the items produced by the firm were not obsolete and that more of them would be needed by the department.

Keating did not identify the company or its product. But he apparently referred to the Army's termination of a contract for amphibious vehicles made by the Consolidated Diesel Electric Corp.

The company said Thursday it had furloughed 100 employes, half of its work force, because of the Army's action.

CAP Meeting Fund Drive Set

The public is invited to attend an open house at the Army Reserve Building, Flatbush Avenue, Wednesday at 8 p. m. in conjunction with the meeting of Ulster County Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol.

On Saturday Ulster County Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, will hold a fund raising drive in front of the Woolworth store on Wall Street. The purpose of this drive is to purchase training manuals for cadet use.

The Civil Air Patrol wishes to express its thanks to the managers of Shoe Giant, Shop-Rite, and the Woolworth store on Albany Avenue for the use of their facilities in the fund raising drive of May 8 and 9.

Cadets James Hall, Larry Wonderly, Stephen Toder and Richard Dugan participated in the fund raising drive on May 8 and 9.

Captain Faces Desertion

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP—Capt. Alfred Svenson, delivered into U.S. custody by Soviet authorities a week ago after spending a year in East Germany, has been charged with desertion and larceny, the U.S. Army announced today.

Svenson, a naturalized citizen of Lithuanian birth, drove acrosss the border to East Germany on May 4, 1963, in an Army jeep. His use of the vehicle, which the East Germans returned, is the basis of the basis of the larceny charge.

The Army announced on May 7 that Soviet authorities had handed Svenson over. ADN, the East German news agency, said he had been expelled after "showing himself unworthy of the asylum offered him." It gave no details.

Svenson, 31 and unmarried, lives in Washington, D.C.

Figuring Broker's 'Profit' On Over-Counter Buys

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "In buying over-the-counter stocks in lots of 100 or less, on what are the broker's commissions based." J. Mck.

A) The over-the-counter broker usually takes his commission in the form of a "profit." Whether on round or odd lots, the profit largely depends on how much effort the broker expends in order to effect the trade.

What the customer pays is the net price (or inside price) plus profit.

There is general agreement amongst the OTC broker fraternity that no profit on a single transaction should exceed 5 per cent, except in special circumstances.

Some member firms of the New York Stock Exchange — acting as agents — will execute an OTC trade at standard commission rates through their OTC departments. This is done by taking the best inside price obtainable and adding to that figure the exact commission charged on an odd round lot sale if the stock were listed on the Big Board.

Q) "A friend of mine, retired, wants to invest in the market. He wants only preferreds for safety and good yield. He wants to get between five and six per cent on the money invested. Could you submit such a list?" M.C.

A) If you will allow me to say so. I think your friend will have to lower his sights somewhat.

There are relatively few preferred stocks selling today to yield between five and six per cent, and of these there are none that I recommend.

Out of a long list of preferred quotations before me, I see only one that yields above 5 per cent. I do not advise purchase of that stock because the dividend on the preferred was not earned last year.

Among the more attractive listings are Pacific Gas & Electric non-callable 5½ per cent preferred, offered to yield 4.70, Southwestern Electric 5 per cent on a 4.78 basis and Beneficial Finance 5 per cent to yield 4.85.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Renovation Study at Courthouse

$50,000 Still Left

Inquiries were made as to how much of the original $250,000 bond issue authorized was still available. It was reported that "about $50,000" was still unused. One of the major items in the renovation already made, was the discovery of the dangerous condition of the cornice on the courthouse which had to be replaced at a cost of some $40,000.

Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, said he had brought up the question of air conditioning when the original renovation plans were under discussion and inquired why it had not been included.

Defending the new heating program, Chairman Williams, said considerable money would be saved annually through a modern heating plant. It was stated that it now cost $10,800 to heat the building with the antiquated boilers and one T pipe heating system.

The board named Raymond J. Morris Jr., of New Paltz, a former New Paltz fire chief, to the position of deputy fire coordinator, on motion of Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo (R) Ulster.

Asks About Commission

A request from Jake Chichelsky that a concession for sale of papers and refreshments, other than a luncheonette, be established in the new County building on Main Street, was referred to the Building Committee. Chichelsky's comunication called attention to the convenience but stated that because of the numerous nearby restaurants, luncheons should not be included.

Oral reports of progress were made by several committees, including the Salary Study Committee, Printing Committee, Community College Committee, Parking Lot, and Industrial Development Committee.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th ward, chairman of the Industrial Development committee, reported the new Ulster County Data Book would contain 93 pages of facts about the county and would be ready to go to press by May 20. It will be ready for distribution early in June. He asked for $1,000 to cover the cost and said it was expected the total cost would be about $820 and this would be reduced by sale of the booklet.

Court Funds Transfer

Transfer of funds in the Family Court budget brought out a discussion but the request was granted by a 31 to 1 vote. Supervisor Robert F. Phinney (R), 11th ward voting in opposition. Objection was expressed to a transfer for additional salaries and for transcripts. It was stated that the office was now and when the request was made and the budget made up the Family Court Judge could not be fully acquainted with needs.

A report of a survey of county road mileage made by the State Public Works Department showing there were 413.53 miles of roads in Ulster County, outside the City of Kingston and incorporated villages, was accepted by the board.

A resolution offered by Supervisor Douglas Dye (R), town of Kingston, for establishment of County Board of Ethics as provided by law, was referred to the Law Committee on motion of Supervisor C. Raichle (R), 12th ward. The resolution calls for establishing the Board to consist of an officer or employe of a town, a village, a school district and the city of Kingston, as well as one member who is not a municipal officer or employe, but who is a resident of Ulster County. The term would be two years and the Legislative Committee of the Board of Supervisors would appoint one man to the Board. The county attorney would be an ex-officio member of the board. No salary would be attached to the positions.

A resolution by Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, calling for establishment of a Human Rights Commission under a recently signed law, was referred to the Legislative Committee for study. The commission would consist of fifteen members, serving without salary but eligible for expenses. The motion to refer was made by Supervisor James A. Rapp.

On motion of Supervisor Roger Mabie (D), Esopus, the board adjourned out of respect to the memory of John H. Beaver who served as supervisor from the Town of Esopus in 1920.

The board adjourned at 12:20 a. m. today.

Margin Tapering

86 convention votes. Goldwater figures with them he would have more than 600 of the 655 votes it will take to win the nomination.

Rockefeller flew to Washington for an intelligence briefing by Johnson administration officials after telling a news conference his month-long Oregon campaign shows the kind of race he would run if he won the nomination.

"I don't think that any Republican, and I don't care who he is, is going to win in November with the kind of campaigning that's been going on in this state by absentee representation," he said.

Mid-East War

publican and royalist factions.

Douglas-Home said Britain's only objective is to protect its military base at Aden and live up to its treaty obligations to the South Arabian federation, which is menaced by rebel tribesmen supported by the Yemeni republicans and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Nasser has called on the Arab world to expel Britain from the Midddle East.

Gaedken, in 1884, first prepared the drug cocaine from coca leaves.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

Woman Hurt in Crash

A woman was injured and two other persons escaped unhurt as the result of a rear-end vehicle collision which occurred Thursday morning at East Durham. Leeds State Police reported the cars involved were owned and operated by Mrs. Sarah Dutton, 62, of Preston Hollow, and Dale Bates, 24, of Oak Hill. Catherine Marshman, 42, also of Preston Hollow, a passenger in the Dutton car, received a whiplash of the neck. She was treated by a physician. Troopers said Mrs. Dutton stopped her car for a school bus, when the vehicle was hit in the rear by the Bates car.

Army Reserve Is To Hold Open House for AF Day

Observance tomorrow of Armed Forces Day will be marked with Open House at the Staff Sgt. Robert H. Dietz U.S. Army Reserve Center, 144 Flatbush Avenue, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Col. Carl Hedman, commanding officer of the 654th Engineer Battalion (Heavy Construction), which is stationed at the local USAR Center, and Col. Norman Shirts, sub sector commander of the Second Army Corps, today invited the public to visit the federal establishment and military equipment used by the citizen soldiers of the area. The display will include a 30-foot model of several bridges with battery-powered tanks, simulating the work of the battalion, which was built by battalion personnel. The display is considered the first of its kind to be shown in the area.

The 854th Engineer Battalion is headquarters for four letter companies located in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Monticello and the recently-activated Company "D" located at the Kingston center.

Battalion mess personnel will be on duty tomorrow to serve coffee and cake to visitors to the center.

Lawmakers Begin 10-Day Recess In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennnsylvania House and Senate began a 10-day recess today after clearing the way for a final big push toward adjournment when they return May 25.

The House gave unanimous approval Thursday to the Scranton administration's proposed eminent domain program, updating Pennsylvania's land condemnation laws to provide speedier and more equitable payments to property owners.

Passage of the measure opens the door for action in the Senate on enabling legislation for Project 70, the state's $70 million recreation and land reclamation program.

The Senate Forests and Waters Committee is holding back Project 70 until it can study the eminent domain proposal.

Meanwhile, in a surprise move, the House added $2.3 million to Gov. Scranton's proposed appropriation to the 14 state colleges, delaying final passage of his $1.067 billion general fund budget until the legislature returns.

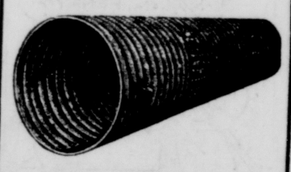

The House and Senate were forced to cancel their sesssions for next week because of two major conventions in Harrisburg, causing a shortage in hotel space.

The delay is expected to push back the tentative timetable for final adjournament from the last week of May to the first week of June.

Both Houses moved a long way toward the final goal, however, with debate and action on a large number of appropriation bills.

The House passed and sent to the Senate $23.5 million in money bills for private colleges, universities and special institutions. The Senate approved $16.2 million in governmental housekeeping bills, all but one going to the governor for his signature.

Max Dreyfus Dies

BREWSTER, N.Y. (AP)—Max Dreyfus, who published the music of George Gershwin, Jerome Kern, Cole Porter, Kurt Weill and Rodgers and Hammerstein, is dead at age 90.

Dreyfus died Wednesday at his Putnam County home. The news was withheld until today so relatives could be notified, said a spokesman for his firm.

Dreyfus was president of Chappell & Co., music publishers. He had been inactive for about a year.

Dutchess Driver Escapes Serious Injury in Crash

A 20-year-old Dutchess County youth narrowly escaped serious injury at 3:45 a. m. today, when his car skidded on wet pavement, went down an embankment and stopped in two feet of water in the Landsmankill Creek.

Sergeant William Urey, of the Rhinebeck state police sub-station, said Frank Cirone, of Rhinecliff Road, Rhinebeck, was driving north on Violet Hill Road off Route 308, Town of Rhinebeck, when his car skidded on a sharp curve. The vehicle went 20 feet down the embankment and came to stop in the creek.

According to a report of Troopers Michael O'Hara and William Shamberg, Cirone escaped with contusions and abrasions. He was not hospitalized, troopers said.

Viet Cong Scores In Bloody Ambush

Kill 51 Troops

From dug-in positions along a road, the Viet Cong opened up with heavy weapon and automatic rifle fire that killed 51 government troops. Another 30, including an American Ranger offficer, were wounded in the engagement Thursday 22 miles north of Saigon.

Ten soldiers were reported missing.

"We make the same mistakes all the time," a frustrated American adviser commented.

There is an average of one major Viet Cong ambush every week. American advisers are concentrating much of their effort on making the Vietnamese ambush conscious.

Traditional Style

The Viet Cong laid their trap Thursday in traditional style by attacking three outposts, the district town of Tan Uyen and a strategic hamlet before dawn.

Frantic radio reports from Tan Uyen, 25 miles north of Saigon, alerted authorities.

The attacks appeared coordinated around Tan Uyen.

By morning, three persons had been reported killed, 10 weapons lost and two radio transmitters stolen. A relief force headed up the road along the Dong Nai River.

Elements of a Ranger and infantry battalion were in the relief force, which moved in vehicles, American sources said.

The Viet Cong had apparently moved in alongside the road Wednesday night. Reports of the ambush are still sketchy, but apparently the Viet Cong permitted part of the convoy to pass and then opened up.

Other government units were rushed to the region but reported no contact with the Viet Cong.

Margin Tapering But Lodge Still Oregon Favorite

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Oregon's Republican free-for-all—a presidential primary election with six candidates and one campaigner—is being settled today.

Election officials forecast a record GOP turnout of about 265,000 voters.

Step Up Campaign

And public opinion pollsters predicted more of them would vote for Henry Cabot Lodge than for any of the other five contenders.

But their election-eve samplings indicated the Lodge lead was tapering off from the wide margin they had forecast earlier.

In the face of those predictions, the Lodge campaign forces stepped up their telephone and person-to-person bid for the victory they hope to couple with the absentee ambassador's write-in triumph in New Hampshire two months ago.

18 Delegates at Stake

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—the only candidate who did his own campaigning—eyed the last-minute polls and declared: "Mr. Lodge is the man to stop in Oregon. I would be very happy to make substantial gains."

Eighteen convention delegates are at stake.

Rockefeller said a powerful showing in Oregon would help his cause in California's June 2 primary, where he and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater meet head on, with no write-in votes permitted.

"The results in one state influence the people in another state and that is what happened after the New Hampshire primary," he sad.

Rockefeller said it will take "a massive effort to break through" and beat Goldwater in California, Unless he does, Rockefeller added, Goldwater will be hard to stop at the Republican National Convention.

The California contest carries

Frost Warning Is Given for State Sections Tonight

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Frost covered parts of northern and western New York early today amid temperatures down into the mid 20s. The Weather Bureau forecast more, scattered frost tonight in parts of the eastern half of the state.

One spokesman said it was too early to tell whether last night's frost had been damaging. A State Police spokesman at Malone said:

"My wife was worried about her roses, but it didn't kill them."

The overnight low at Malone was 32, while Owls Head, to the south, registered 26. It was 31 at Massena, and generally below freezing across the north. In southwestern New York, readings also were around freezing.

Other temperatures on this mid-May day ranged in the 30s and 40s. New York City report-

Renovation Study Due at Courthouse

A further study, at no cost to the taxpayers, will be made of the Ulster County Courthouse and the county building at 74 John Street by the architectural firm of Augustus R. Schrowang Associates to ascertain what additional improvements should be made to the buildings. The proposed improvements include a new heating plant and air conditioning.

A resolution offered by Chairman Peter Williams (R), Saugerties, who is also chairman of the Building Committee, was adopted 27 to 5 at the May meeting of the board of supervisors Thursday night.

The resolution called for the firm to "examine the portions of the courthouse building which have not been included in the renovation and improvement contracts heretofore let" and present the board with estimates and recommendations of additional work. Minority Leader John C. Quimby, (D), Marlborough moved to amend the Williams resolution by including the County Building at 74 John Street and his amendment was accepted.

Opposition Offered

A long and at times bitter debate followed introduction of the resolution which calls for a "study" by the architect and submission of proposals and estimates of the cost of renovation of the heating system of the entire buliding, air conditioning of the entire building, renovations to the sheriff's office, library, Supreme Court rooms upstairs, and "any other portion of the buildings the said architectural firm believes should be renovated."

Voting against adoption was Supervisors Arnold Banker (D), Hardenburgh; Daniel Smith (D), 7th ward; Arthur J. Smith (D), 8th ward; Irving Bell (D), 6th ward and James J. Carroll (D), 10th ward.

Called 'Poor Planning'

Among several supervisors who referred to the project as the result of "poor planning" was Supervisor Roger Mabie (D), Esopus, who said these renovations should have been included in the original program for renovating the courthouse when they could have been done at less cost. Others said the matter of air conditioning had been brought up at the time other portions of the courthouse had been renovated and voiced an opinion that the work advocated should have been done at that time.

Chairman Peter Williams said the matter of air conditioning and other work had been discussed but due to the cost had been deferred.

Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux (R), Woodstock, said admitting a "mistake" had been made at that time and the cost

High School Has Drivers Listed in Jaycee Road-E-O

Applications have been received from a number of local area high school pupils to participate in the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Teenage Driving Road-E-o scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday in Dietz Stadium.

Arthur Broughton, chairman, said that registrations also will be accepted for the event tomorrow morning at the stadium. He said that local automobile dealers have provided cars and made financial contributions to the competition program. A boy and girl winner will be named in the event, Broughton said, and they in turn will compete in state competition to select representation in national competition He said a trophy will be awarded the first place winner in the local competition and golden keys will be presented to the next five winners.

MARK FIGHT AGAINST TRACHOMA—Mayor John J. Schwenk presented proclamation to Mrs. Alvin Motzkin, fund- raising chairman for Hadassah's campaign in battle against eye disease, designating Wednesday, May 20 as "Hadassah Eye Bank Day." Proclamation notes that the State of Israel recently celebrated 15th anniversary of its independence and that in commemoration of that event permission is granted to women of Hadassah to station themselves on designated business corners on Wednesday for purpose of collecting funds to fight trachoma. Mid-East War Near Home Says

Headless Bodies Will Get Honors

ADEN (AP)—The remains of two British soldiers whose heads were hacked off by rebel tribesmen are being buried in Aden today with full military honors.

The headless bodies of Capt. Robin Edwardes and Pvt. John Warburton were discovered in the Radfan Mountains 60 miles north of Aden by troops of the British-protected Federation of South Arabia, British army authorities announced Thursday night.

Others Escaped

The shallow graves near the Yemen frontier were within a few hundred yards of where Edwardes' nine-man patrol ran into more than 100 rebels April 30. Edwardes and Warburton were killed as the patrol charged shoulder to shoulder and broke through a ring of tribesmen.

The rest of the patrol escaped. An intelligence report said the severed heads were buried just across the Yemen border in Qataba.

Four days later the British Middle East commander said the heads had been displayed on spikes in Taiz, one of Yemen's two capitals. The report shocked British public opinion.

Later U.S. officials at Taiz reported that the heads had not been displayed there. Leaders of Britain's opposition Labor party criticized the Conservative government for putting out an unverified report.

Won't Intervene

In London, Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home told the House of Commons Thursday night that the Middle East is ready to erupt into war. But he said his government had no intention of intervening in the struggle between Yemen's re-

U. S. to Increase Striking Power For S. Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will increase the new striking power planned for the South Vietnamese Air Force by a third, it was learned today.

The 75 additional Skyraider dive bombers now due in South Viet Nam this summer will be boosted to more than 100, informed sources told The Associated Press.

Coupled with this, U.S. advisers will step up the tempo and scope of training to double the present 400 Vietnamese pilots and channel the best of them into flying the propeller-driven attack planes.

Vietnamese flyers already are piloting single-seat Skyraiders and T28 converted trainers in bombing and strafing attacks on Communist guerrillas. They also are operating certain kinds of transports, light reconnaissance planes and helicopters.

The objective of the expanded U.S. effort in this area is to get more of the Vietnamese to fly combat missions and thus to enable U.S. Air Force pilots, in Viet Nam for training chores, to stay out of the fighting as much as possible.

Informants said this is the meaning of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's statement Thursday that it is desirable to increase by 100 per cent the number of Vietnamese pilots and to strengthen further the Vietnamese Air Force.

"This will be done very promptly," McNamara said at the White House after returning from Saigon and reporting to President Johnson.

The defense secretary also spoke of the need to increase South Viet Nam's regular and paramilitary forces "very substantially and very soon" and of other steps to protect the peasant population from more active Communist terrorism.

The defense secretary's remark that it may be necessary to send over certain additional U.S. personnel to expand the training of the beefed-up Vietnamese forces is in line with what he has said in the past.

But, once again, McNamara made it plain that U.S. policy is to bring home U.S. trainers when their job is done—for example, to withdraw specialists in aircraft maintenance when the Vietnamese have learned to handle the job themselves.

Smoking Tax Dip Threat To Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — An April dip in cigarette-tax revenues in New York State appears to jeopardize the delicate balance of Gov. Rockefeller's $2.9-billion budget.

The State Tax Department reported Thursday that income from the state's five-cent-a-pack cigarette tax last month was $10,510,385, compared with $11,350,190 taken in during April, 1963.

Could Run $8 Million

The drop—which amounted to 6½ per cent — would cost the state $8 million if the trend persisted through the year. The governor's budget for fiscal year 1964-65, which began April 1, provided for a surplus of only $1 million.

Cigarette - tax revenues dropped sharply in January after publication of a report by the U.S. surgeon general that linked smoking to lung cancer.

Have Some Hope

The drop in February was even more dramatic—18.3 per cent—than the January figure. In March, however, revenues were only a shade under those of the corresponding month last year, and tax department officials hopefully expressed the view that the cancer scare had run its course and that New Yorkers had resumed smoking as much as ever.

A department spokesman said he assumed the April drop was "still part of the fallout" from the federal report.

Rockefeller's 1964-65 budget listed anticipated income of $127 million from the cigarette tax—the same amount as in the 1963-64 budget. He said he was not planning on the usual annual rise in the cigarette revenue because of uncertainty over the effct of the smoking rport.

Kiwanis Speaker Is Critical of Schools

That the educational system in the State of New York, purported to be the best in the nation, leaves much to be desired, was emphasized at the Kingston Kiwanis Club meeting by David Jacquith, president of the Board of Education of the City of Syracuse.

Jacquith, a Conservative, prior to his address on a "Business Look at the Public School System," gave a brief review of the Liberal - Conservative standards in the Empire State. He stated that Conservatism "has had a bad press" — that back in the Roosevelt era, the Liberal-Conservative stood for the "rights and freedom of the individual, but that now the Liberals desire to have the government solve their problems." He mentioned that this latter idea means that the individual must "participate or pay whether you want to or not," when the government takes over. He further stated that "the results of your efforts should be true to yourself and your family," and he pointed out that almost a third of a man's working hours in a year are devoted to financially supporting the government.

Touches on Renewal

David Jacquith also spoke of Urban Renewal — stating that "Urban Renewal is a total and absolute failure about half the time." One of the reasons advanced for this result is that "planners take down old structures and expect others to go up—but you need iron-clad insurance that what comes down will go up!"

The speaker pleaded for increased interest in the state educational system on the part of the citizens. He said that 43 per cent of the state budget was concerned with education and "that spending is going up at a fantastic rate." This spending was rising, according to Jacquith, three times as fast as the number of pupils, and therefore pupil increase could not be pinpointed as the prime reason for the spendig. The speaker said that predictions indicated that educational spending in this state would double in the next eight years.

Tied To Welfare

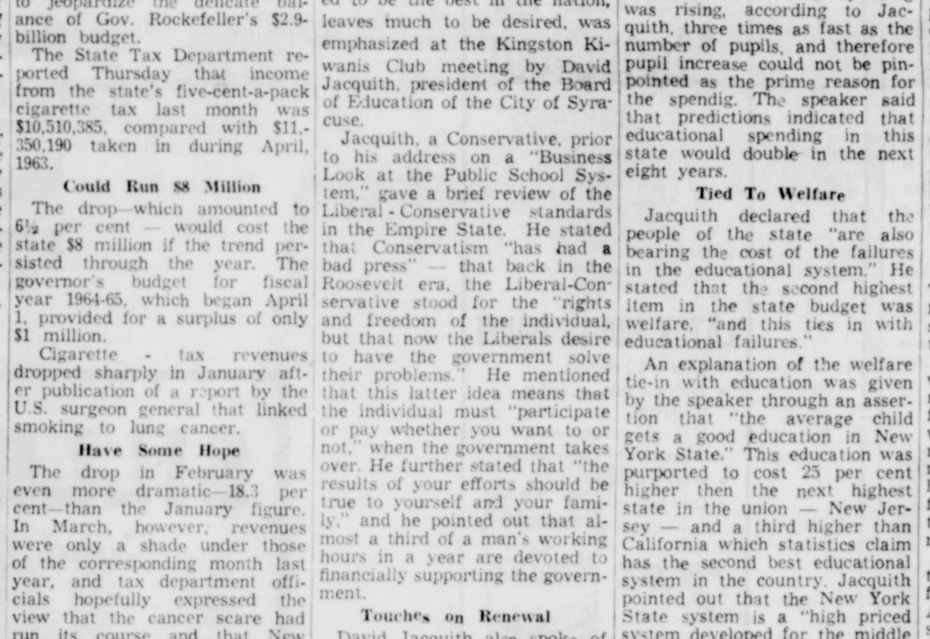

Jacquith declared that the people of the state "are also bearing the cost of the failures in the educational system." He stated that the second highest item in the state budget was welfare, "and this ties in with educational failures."

An explanation of the welfare tie-in with education was given by the speaker through an assertion that "the average child gets a good education in New York State." This education was purported to cost 25 per cent higher then the next highest state in the union — New Jersey — and a third higher than California which statistics claim has the second best educational system in the country. Jacquith pointed out that the New York State system is a "high priced system developed for the middle class child, and is poor for handicapped children." He indicated that this is a major problem in the state and directly leads to the handicapped class failing in education and eventually being the objects of welfare existence.

"Our system just don't teach some kids to read — they don't learn to read early, well, and easily," said Jacquiths. Thus education does not mean much to these handicapped children.

MUSICIANS AWARD SCHOLARSHIP — Miss Carol Ann Vinson, second from left, accepts a scholarship to the annual Congress of Strings which will be conducted this summer at Michigan State University. Miss Vinson, a resident of Sweet Meadows, Sawkill, accepts the award from Michael J. Marchuk, executive secretary of Musician's Union, Local 215, AF of M. The scholarship entitles the winner to study with leading symphonic instructors. Serving on the local committee for the competition were Mr. Marchuk; Marlin Morrette, KHS director of band; Markian Baczynsky, KHS director of orchestra; and Joseph Kelly, Freeman city editor. Judge was Frank Mele of Woodstock, well known violinist and teacher. The annual Congress of Strings is sponsored nationally by the American Federation of Musicians. Miss Vinson is the fourth winner to represent Kingston under the sponsorship of Local 215. (Freeman photo)

Gorman Addresses Co. Board

Cites Great Need For More Room

Kingston Hospitals are so crowded at the present time that should a serious emergency arise they would be unable to cope with it, so said Dr. Gerald P. Gorman in addressing the Ulster County Board of Supervisors in relation to use of a limited number of rooms in the Tuberculosis Hospital for lung cases of a non-tubercular nature. The matter was referred to the Public Health Committee.

Dr. Gorman, speaking as a representative of the Ulster County Medical Association, urged the board to take steps to permit admission of non-tubercular, lung case patients to the hospital. It was pointed out by Dr. Gorman that the incidence of tuberculosis was not declining but methods of treatment had changed and there was less demand for long hospitalization of patients.

Would Relieve Hospitals

This change in the manner of treatment of the disease, he said, has made available rooms in the hospital which could be put to use of non-tubercular lung disease cases and thus relieve the local hospitals and make availble additional needed room in those hospitals. Outpatient clinics for tubercular cases are doing "wonderful service" Dr. Gorman said and he advocated, on behalf of the Medical Society, that rooms made available through less need for hospitalization of tubercular patients be used to lighten the load on local hospitals. He pointed out that many lung diseases could be treated at the Tuberculosis Hospital and noted the increase in lung cancer.

State Approval Needed

In order to make use of the Tuberculosis Hospital facilities for non-tubercular patients, state approval in the status of the hospital must be received.

Under the proposal a section would be set aside for use by non-tubercular cases and all facilities, including the kitchen would be separate. The hospital now has two kitchens. Dr. Gorman pointed out that use of the hospital facilities as an "infirmary" was not being sought, the proposal was to use it for non-tubercular pulmonary cases.

Following Dr. Gorman's talk there were numerous questions from supervisors. Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux (R) Woodstock, inquired if capital expenditures would be required. He was informed there were presently two diet kitchens and other facilities would not require any serious expense.

It was pointed out that should the change be made, patients with tuberculosis would have preference and would be admitted over non-tubercular patients.

Could Help Cut Costs

Use of the Tuberculosis Hospital facilities by non-tubercular patients, who would be required to pay as far as their ability to pay permitted, would reduce the per-diem cost per patients. The state would not share in the cost of the non-tubercular patients.

It was stated that not since 1959 had the Tuberculosis Hospital had more than 40 patients at one time.

Supervisor Irving Bell (D), sixth ward, stated that in Jan-

Missile Site Is Destroyed, Cost Runs $5 Million

FREDERICK, Okla. (AP)—An explosion and fire destroyed a $5-million Atlas missile site near this southwest Oklahoma town Thursday.

Twenty men, four of the missile crew members of the Air Force, were completing the final phase of a modification program when the evacuation alarm sounded. All escaped without injury.

There was no nuclear device involved in the fire, a spokesman said. Crewmen said they felt only a thump in the control center, separated by blast proof doors from the silo, when the explosion occurred.

It was reported in Washington fire broke out during fueling operations. The Air Force there said an investigating team will probe the mishap.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The political furor tends either to hide or distort the business perplexities which also may be resolved this summer. And these largely nonpolitical issues can set the pattern for the income you may expect and the prices you may find on the goods and services you want.

Ifs Are Important

The party campaigns are being waged against a background of general prosperity and growing confidence. At the midpoint in the second quarter of the year the majority of reports show the economy at new heights with good chances of going still higher if—

The ifs can be important. And some should become clear before election time.

On the income side there are new wage patterns to be hammered out this summer, with chief interest centered on the auto industry.

Washington is trying hard to get both labor and management to follow what it calls guidelines. Primarily they preach moderation. Washington wants labor to ask for pay increases that won't upset the balance of production costs and prices. And it wants management to resist any wage demands that would force price increases and cancel out the benefits from the cut in federal income taxes.

Labor Knows About Profits

Labor is well aware that many corporations are reporting record profits along with rising sales.

Management spokesmen are busily pointing out that profits should go still higher if new capital is to be attracted for the financing of business expansion to meet the goals of economic growth.

Many businessmen feel that as soon as competition permits, or when production costs mount again, prices must go up to provide adequate profit margins on sales.

Another mystery also is expected to be solved before autumn. This is how the consumer will finally react to the federal tax cut savings. So far he has been spending the new money moderately, saving some of it, using the rest to pay up old debts. If the consumer starts spending a lot more by fall, the pressure to hammer out sizable wage increases and to raise prices to meet the higher payroll will build up.

At issue is the possibility of another round of inflation. There is little sign of it at the second quarter's midpoint. There could be plenty of signs by election time.

Hatching Cardinal Holds Up $400 Sale

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A determined female cardinal bird is holding up sale of more than $400 worth of young oak trees by a nursery.

The cardinal built a nest in one of the trees in a lath house, and Harold Dodd, the nurseryman, said Thursday the entire shipment of oaks couldn't be moved until the cardinal's eggs are hatched and the young birds learn to fly.

The process is expected to take about two more weeks.

"I love birds," Dodd said.

Some Differences Are Noted Between Truman, Eisenhower

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)— Harry S. Truman's influence with the Democrats has declined while Dwight D. Eisenhower's weight with the Republicans has not been tested. That's one difference between them. There's another.

Eisenhower is reluctant to say anything that makes people mad at him; Truman thrives on the opposite. This was how the two ex-presidents acted in the White House and they carried the attitude into retirement.

This week Eisenhower, asked his choice among would-be Republican presidential candidates came up with this: "Oh, well, those are my personal thoughts. Don't let's get too deep into a fellow."

This will be the first presidential election since Eisenhower left the White House. He had tremendous influence with Republicans there. But he doesn't know how much influence he has now. He won't kow until he tries to use it.

Truman didn't have any of this Eisenhower reluctance in saying what he thought in two presidential races after he stepped down.

On Endorsements

In 1956 he endorsed Averell Harriman, then New York's governor, although he waited until two days before the convention. Truman was ignored and Harriman lost to Adlai E. Stevenson.

This didn't deter Truman. In 1960, months before the Democrats met to pick a candidate, Truman came out for a fellow-Missourian, Sen. Stuart Symington, and said another contender, Sen. John F. Kennedy, would be weak.

Truman was ignored again, the second time in a row. But this didn't make him hesitant about speaking his mind, as he demonstrated last week when he reached 80.

Praises Johnson

He said of President Johnson, who will be this year's Democratic candidate, short of a political earthquake: "I don't think we have had a better President in 100 years than we have right now and I am tickled to death with him."

This seemed to put Johnson right next to Abraham Lincoln. But, since Johnson looks like such a sure-shot for the nomination, this was one time when Truman was probably not sticking his neck out.

In the very early part of 1960, his last full year in the presidency, Eisenhower wouldn't endorse any Republican for his job even though Richard M. Nixon had been his vice president through two terms.

But by March of that year, when Nixon was the only real candidate in sight, Eisenhower announced in his favor. This meant a lot to Nixon. At that time, still in the presidency, Eisenhower had enormous influence with his party.

He May Not Try

Maybe he still does. But that's not certain if only because of the mixed-up condition of the Republicans. His influence can't be tested at all unless he tries to assert it. He hasn't yet and perhaps he won't try.

He said Thursday he would not try to dictate a choice for the Republican nomination nor try to block any of the most prominently mentioned candidates.

He said: "I, by no means, believe that it is proper for me to say 'this is the man,' and expect all the Republicans, just like a herd of sheep, to run that way."

This was strange phrasing. Simply expressing an opinion or preference is not necessarily dictation. There is no reason why he should expect Republicans to run like sheep if he expressed himself on the candidates.

Asked why he declined to inject his influence into the preconvention maneuvering, he said, "I don't want to do anything that I think would be divisive in the party."

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Technicians who work on the first U. S. spacecraft intended to land on Mars may be banned from taking baths. L. B. Hall, special quarantine officer with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, says studies show that dissemination of organisms from the human body is five times as great just after a person takes a bath or shower than it is a few hours later.

M. ELIA PETER

Ridge Methodists To Hear Director Of Indian Youth

Director of youth work of the Methodist Church in India, M. Elia Peter of Hyderabad will be guest speaker Sunday in the Stone Ridge Methodist Charge. Services are at 11:15 a. m. at Stone Ridge; 8:45 a. m., Kripplebush and 10 a. m. Accord.

Mr. Peter is now taking postgraduate religious studies at Union Theological Seminary, New York City. When he returns to India, he will continue his work with youth—organizing training centers and courses for promising Christian leaders-to-be, and preparing educational material for use in church schools and other religious classes.

Mr. Peter was born in Vikarabad, the Deccan, India, of Christian parents. He is fluent in three Indian dialects as well as in English—Talugu, Hindu and Urdu. He was educated at the Methodist Boys High School in Hyderabad, the Deccan; received his BA from Madras Christian College; and then came to the United States, taking a Master of Arts degree at Syracuse University.

Chosen to Head Work

For some years he was a teacher in the Methodist School in his home town of Vikarabad, and then was chosen to direct Methodist work to India youth. In that leadership capacity, he has also served as editor of the publication, Youth Fellowship; has represented the National Christian Council of India in youth departments of World Council of Churches, and in the World Council of Christian Education.

In 1956-57, Mr. Peter was a member of a team that was sent to South America by the youth department of the World Council of Churches to help in the organization of youth groups and youth institutes among Protestant young people. He has also visited Malaya and the Philippine Islands in the interests of Christian youth fellowships, as Secretary and Chairman of the Youth Committee of the East Asia Christian Conference and has worked with the Student Volunteer Movement in the U.S.A.

In 1963, he was organizing secretary of the Asia Consultation of the Methodist Church which brought together leaders of the Methodist Church and related churches from Asia and other continents.

He is married. His wife is a science teacher in Hyderabad They have two children, a son who is four and a daughter who is two and a half.

Dear Abby . . .

Now Calm Down!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A letter came for my husband The few words I could see through the envelope raised my suspicions, so when he came home I made him open it in front of me and reat it out loud. Abby, I almost died! It was a love letter from a married woman my husband had been carrying on with out of town. He travels. She told him how much she missed him and loved him. It was disgusting! She mentioned her two children. I locked my husband in the basement and called her up long distance. I told her what I thought of her and the whole cheap affair. I also told her I was going to call her husband and tell him about it. She cried and begged, saying if I did, they would take her children away from her. Now I am uncertain. Do you think this little tramp deserves a second chance?

PLENTY MAD

DEAR PLENTY: Everybody deserves a second chance. One good scare is sometimes worth a month of Sundays in church.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl with a problem. When I ask my mother if I can go to the movies with three or four girls, she says yes. Then after all the plans are made and I am getting ready to go, my mother thinks up some reason why I can't go. Like she doesn't like what I'm wearing, or the way I talk to my friends, or she will think of something I did a while ago and decide to punish me now by not letting me go. Then I have to call my friends and tell them I can't go. I wouldn't mind so much if my mother told me I couldn't go in the first place. Do you think this is fair to me and my friends?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMARRASSED: No! Parents should realize that their children learn more from example than preaching. Your mother could do a better job of teaching you how to keep your word by keeping hers. And delayed punishments are unjust.

DEAR ABBY: When I have company and I get a telephone call from a friend who wants to pass the time away just chatting, I always tell them I have company, and Ill ring them back as soon as I'm free. Well, I was visiting at the home of this friend (by invitation) and her telephone rang. I heard her say, "Oh, nothing. What are YOU doing?" Then she carried on a conversation with this other party about absolutely nothing while I sat there staring into space for exactly 35 minutes by my watch. I think this was extremely rude. What would you have done in a case like that?

TIME WASTED

DEAR TIME: After 15 minutes of "staring" I would have signaled my hostess a fond farewell and that would have been the last she'd have seen of this guest.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am fed up hearing people say that all the money I spent on my college education was "wasted" because ALL I did was get married. I earned a B.A. degree, and then my Master's, and I have a teaching certificate. Please say something in your column about the importance of education to women.

EDUCATED AND GLAD OF IT

DEAR EDUCATED: A college education is the best insurance a woman can have in case something should happen to her husband. Should he become unable to work, his wife will be faced with the task of supporting the family. She will do much better for having had a college education. And what do people mean, "all" you did was get married? Marriage is the greatest challenge of all.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 15, 1964

THE HELPING HAND

The age we live in has been given so many names — atomic, space, electronic, to list a few — that one hesitates to hang another on it. Unfortunately, it seems to deserve it.

Judging from a number of incidents in the news, the proper title summing up the human situation in mid-20th century might well be "The Age of Noninvolvement."

In the New York borough of Queens a few weeks ago, a young woman was pursued and stabbed to death on the street while 38 persons watched from their apartment windows. No one wanted to get involved to the extent of calling the police from the safety of their homes, much less go outside and try to aid the woman.

More recently, a crow of 50 people looked on stupidly from the shore near Atlantic City, N. J., while two boys drowned and one man nearly drowned trying to save them.

"Nobody did a thing, not a damn thing, to save that man and those boys," said a gas station attendant who came on the scene and took a rowboat out to rescue the man. "They just stood there and watched those kids die."

And in Los Angeles the other day two policemen appealed in vain for help from passing motorists as they clung desperately to a man who was trying to jump off a bridge.

"We were hanging on for dear life," said one of the officers, "but they drove on like they didn't want to get involved."

Nor should we forget what happened in Indianapolis a couple of years ago when a bleacher collapsed during the Memorial Day race. Those sitting nearby went on chewing their hot dogs, oblivious to the screams of the people crushed in the wreckage.

Some would argue that a decade of watching daily shootings, knifings, beatings and other assorted assaults in our living rooms on television has anesthetized the faculty of compassion.

Unless we stop being spectators to life and learn to become participants in it — which means to become involved in the welfare of our fellows — we may someday find ourselves spectators to our own demise, if not that of society itself.

Our Nato allies don't think Castro's regime in Cuba can be brought to its knees by economic strangulation. This negative view has the State Department gagging.

MS VOLUNTEERS

Our pioneer forefathers had a great tradition. They helped each other. They gathered together for mutual protection against storm and enemy and famine. They stood side by side, working in concert for the common good.

For, raising a barn was work that called for many willing hands. And the withstanding of attack called forth citizen soldiers in defense of hearth and home.

Just so, the battle against multiple sclerosis invokes a modern tradition of neighbor helping neighbor; evokes willing hearts and hands, calls forth American citizen volunteers against the great crippler of young adults.

Who are those modern citizen volunteers? They are all of us. For multiple sclerosis could strike us. It and related diseases have stricken an estimated 500,000 of our fellow Americans. Multiple sclerosis and its related neurological diseases take a frightening toll of our productivity and happiness.

Sounding the alarm, leading the vanguard against the dread disease, are the volunteers of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society and its chapters across our nation. An army of them, some 250,000 strong, they seek funds to forge the researchers' weapons, to aid and serve the victims of this disease.

The army against multiple sclerosis is a strong and dedicated one, but it does need you. For as the society grows, as its programs of research, patient services and community and professional education expand, so must the supporting volunteer army grow.

PENNSYLVANIA WAS AHEAD OF LBJ

Somerset, Pa.—Certain politicos in Washington would have the American people believe that the war on poverty and the waste of natural resources has just begun. Actually, as the County of Somerset in this southeast corner of Pennsylvania goes to show, the war began a long time ago. It was being successfully waged in Pennsylvania on a local and state basis before the word "Appalachia" jumped from the sociological texts to the front pages to serve as a blanket symbol of want and depredation.

Congressman J. Irving Whalley, a Republican business man and physical fitness fan who has represented the 12th Pennsylvania District in Washington since 1960, recalls how the drive to restore ravaged strip mine lands began. Next to the Somerset strip mine capitalists themselves, Congressman Whalley has been a hero of the drama. He had been a Somerset County coal mine operator, a car dealer and a banker before his election to the Pennsylvania lower house at Harrisburg in 1951, and he had watched with great interest as Charles Merrill and other local coal capitalists began after World War II to clean up the litter and the spoil banks left by strip mining.

The Pennsylvania law, in 1951, required only the merest sort of token backfilling of stripped coal lands. A believer in local and State responsibility, Whalley began to argue in Harrisburg for a comprehensive Pennsylvania State law to require the coal companies to restore to original contours any land they had defaced in their mining activities. He recalls the day in 1953 when seventeen Somerset County operators came to his office in Harrisburg. Before they had left they had all signed a petition for legislation requiring complete backfilling. The argument that the Federal government would someday step in with a blundering and costly compulsory program if Pennsylvania refused to take care of its own reclamation problems had impressed the seventeen strip mine operators.

Though he charitably refuses to single out the counties that refused to go along with Somerset is asking for a complete strip mine reclamation law, Whalley remembers that for several years his name was mud with many coal people in Harrisburg. Eventually, however, the legislation sponsored by the Somerset seventeen carried the day. It became a law in January, 1964 after Governor Scranton had signed the bill. Whalley had, by this time, been elected to the U. S. House of Representatives three times.

The ironic pay-off, as Whalley now sees it, is that the proposed Federal legislation for the whole of Appalachia may make Pennsylvania suffer for its own forehandedness in trying to take care of its own. Present indications are that Washington will insist on appropriating funds drawn from taxpayers in all the states to pay for backfilling ravaged strip mine lands throughout the Appalachian region. This might enable strip mine operators to go on defacing the land, secure in the knowledge that the people of the U. S. as a whole would have to pay the reclamation bills. Quite properly resenting this, Governor Scranton has asked that Federal money for reclamation be granted only to states which have local legislation compelling coal mine operators in the future to clean up their own debris.

The argument that poor states can't afford to penalize their own coal operators just doesn't go down with the Pennsylvanians. They say that restoration vastly increases the value of property irrespective of state lines. Thomas Balsinger, a conservation consultant, points out that Pennsylvania was virtually denuded of conifers, or pine and spruce trees, before 1945. Since then 120 million conifers have been planted on strip mine spoil areas to give Pennsylvania a new and thriving forest products industry. The strip mine operators have thus done more for the Pennsylvania lumber industry in the past two decades than the lumbermen themselves. And where the operators have owned their own coal lands, they have added considerably to their profits by forestry and other reclamation.

Quite reasonably, Governor Scranton and Congressman Whalley think that Pennsylvania should not be blacked out when credit for concern over the restoration of Appalachia is being distributed. And local editors such as Henry B. Reiley, Jr., of the Somerset American, think that the small towns and counties that are taking care of their own problems deserve at least some commendation from the White House for anticipating the newly popular drive on poverty.

Several Approaches Used To Treat Regional Ileitis

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have had a portion of my bowel removed because of Crohn's disease. Is there any chance that the disease will come back? Is it a form of cancer?

A—Crohn's disease or regional ileitis is an inflammation of the small intestine (ileum). The cause is not known. It is not a form of cancer.

It often involves several short portions of the ileum with normal bowel in between. The victim has cramping pains in the abdomen often aggravated by eating, loose stools and loss of appetite.

About one-third of the victims recover spontaneously from an acute attack. In the rest, the disease becomes chronic and extends to involve an ever greater portion of the intestine.

The treatment is not very satisfactory and several approaches must be used. A bland diet with antispasmodic drugs and enough food to prevent loss of weight is important. In some victims psychiatric care is necessary to remove emotional factors that may be aggravating the disease. Antibiotics may be needed for the acute attack.

Removal of the involved segment has been widely used, but because recurrences have been so common surgeons are now advocating an opening of the healthy bowel through the abdominal wall (ileostomy) to give the diseased portion a rest.

Q—I am 30 years old and have been taking Enovid for several months. Are there any harmful results from taking this drug?

A—Although too large a dosage may cause such side effects as headache and nausea, when taken in the prescribed amount this drug can be safely taken for prolonged periods.

Q—What is Decagesic and what is it given for?

A—This is a combination of dexamethasone, one of the cortisone group of drugs, with aspirin and aluminum hydroxide. It is especially recommended for rheumatoid and other types of arthritis, bursitis and other diseases of the joints. As with all drugs containing cortisone or related hormones, it should not be taken over a prolonged period.

Q—I have been taking Dexedrine for several years to help me reduce. Will it cause any bad side effects?

A—Dexedrine is a brand of dextro amphetamine. It is commonly used as a nervous system stimulant and appetite depressant. Large doses may cause insomnia, nausea or fainting. It should not be used continuously because it is habit-forming.

SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA) —The Republican party may be in the greatest internal trouble of its long life. The gulf between its moderate-liberal wing and its right wing is widening to perilous dimensions.

The very serious concern felt on this score by many leading Republicans was underlined by a number of GOP governors who attended the recent Western Governors' Conference here.

They are back in their home territories now. But they left behind them in San Francisco, where the 1964 Republican presidential nominee will be chosen in two months, an atmosphere in which are mixed a shrugging resignation, resentment, bitterness and fear.

The only exceptions to this mood among western governors are Governors Paul Fannin of Arizona and Tim Babcock of Montana, who are, of course, for Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater for the GOP nomination.

The growing belief that Goldwater may be very close to that prize if he wins the California primary June 2 is the matter which so deeply worries the other Western governors.

LET'S BE BLUNT about the elements of this concern:

1. They believe—and their view appears to be shared by all but one of the nine Republican governors outside the West—that to nominate Goldwater may be to pick the worst presidential loser since Alfred M. Landon of Kansas in 1936.

The non-Goldwater westerners were stunned that a candidate like Harold Stassen could collect 105,000 votes to Barry's 262,000 in conservative Indiana's presidential primary.

Richard Nixon, a moderate believed to be less to Indiana's taste, ran up 408,000 votes there four years ago Nixon's 1960 showing in conservative Illinois also exceeded Goldwater's total in 1964—by 270,000 votes.

Says one western governor: "If we choose Barry in July, it looks to me like we'll get our tails beat in November."

2. The non-Goldwater governors, a majority by 13 to 3, believe further that to nominate Goldwater would be to place the party in the hands of "unrealistic" arch-conservatives — here-and-there extremists—who would assure Republican defeats at presidential and governorship levels for the next two decades.

Another troubled governor speaks:

"It strikes me they (the arch-conservatives) may be less interested in winning an election than in possessing the wreckage."

3. These same leaders were severely annoyed at what they regard as harsh, roughshod practices by Goldwater forces pressing for convention delegates in state after state.

"I know the name of this game is not fairness," notes a mountain state governor, "but they are going beyond all bounds."

GOVERNORS IN San Francisco echoed a complaint heard often in many parts of the country—that "rule-or-ruin" tactics by Goldwater backers are forcing "good people" to wither out of the party or into inactivity.

Some governors are particularly upset that Kansas Gov. John Anderson, 1964 chairman of the National Governors' Conference, was kept off his state's convention delegation because he refused to plump for Goldwater. He wants a moderate choice.

Since most of these men figure Goldwater may win California and thereby become virtually unstoppable in July, their mood is unmistakably dark. One governor even talks of skipping the San Francisco convention altogether.

Yet their hopes of halting Goldwater are not entirely dead. Some think the beginnings of a moderate coalition may be put together at the national governors' meeting in Cleveland, which begins four days after the big California primary.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

May 15, 1944—Boy scouts had collected 30,000 pounds of waste paper in the First and 12th wards.

William C. Peters, of Voorhees Avenue, was injured in a car-truck mishap at Cornell Street and Smith Avenue.

The Kingston Horsemen's Association planned to hold its 25th annual banquet at Schoentag's, Town of Saugerties, May 17.

A service flag was to be dedicated at the North Marbletown Reformed Church.

May 15, 1954—The Municipal Stadium was to be named Dietz Stadium in memory of Sgt. Robert H. Dietz, local Congressional Medal of Honor soldier, at special Memorial Day rites.

Ulster County was due to receive a $12,507 per capita aid sum from the state.

An Albany report said 53 communities in the state using New York City water were told to reduce consumption of it.

A noon temperature of 68 degrees was reported here.

Nixon Seen as Republican Choice if Goldwater Loses

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

President Eisenhower has wisely adopted a position of neutrality as between candidates for the Republican Presidential nomination and says he will not try to "dictate" a choice. This conforms to the tactics of the experts with long experience in pre-convention campaigns in past years.

The Republican party is going to have a hard time winning against President Johnson anyway. But it can easily sweep away all chances of victory by what it does between now and the time of the national convention.

The dificulty really lies in the fact that many of the supporters of the various candidates are ignoring the rank-and-file opposition to the administration in power. It is being mistakenly assumed that to project the virtues of this or that prospective nominee and to ridicule or denounce or smear some other rival candidate is the way to win delegates.

The public is generally unfamiliar not only with how delegates are chosen at a national convention but with the part that "grass roots" sentiment truly plays. The psychology of party conventions is not easy to analyze. Yet certain things are clear. They have happened in the past and are likely to happen again.

When, for instance, there is a prevalent sentiment in a party, it is important that no faction shall alienate it. The sentiment may not have a majority behind it, but as long as it is the only organized expression within a party definitely related to certain principles and issues, there is every reason not to attempt to demolish it.

Of all the candidates whose names have been advanced for the Republican nomination, the one who has been most tactful in avoiding antagonism against the other candidates is former Vice President Nixon. He knows something about convention psychology and realizes that, if he is to have a chance himself for the nomination, it will come only by being friendly to all the groups supporting other candidates.

Basically, the one point that has to be recognized in analyzing the Republican situation is that in the number of delegates Sen .Barry Goldwater is today in the lead. He already has a large bloc of delegates pledged to him and, in addition, a sizable group who are uncommitted but lean in his direction. By all the rules of politics, he should have his chance at the convention to demonstrate his maximum strength. If in the next eight weeks his opponents gang up on him, by secret coalitions or otherwise, a substantial number of people in the Republican party, who believe that Sen. Goldwater reflects in a dedicated way the opposition to the Democratic party policies of the last several years, will be alienated.

This could produce a large stay-at-home vote among Republicans on Election Day. For many of the Goldwater supporters would prefer Lyndon Johnson rather than some Republicans now being boomed for the nomination. To put it another way, if the Republican party is, in effect, to join the opposition with a "me-too" philosophy, instead of making a real fight against what are considered to be today's socialistic trends, not a few of the same Goldwater people would rather continue Lyndon Johnson as President.

What should be the strategy of those Republicans who are anti-Goldwater? It should be to let the Goldwater movement take its natural course and endeavor by the platform planks to express their principles so that any candidate named will be bound by the platform declarations.

The first two or three ballots will, of course, register the maximum strength of Sen. Goldwater. If he continues to gain on each ballot, he may win some of the uncommitted delegates, who usually climb on the bandwagon if they think the front runner is in reach of a majority. But if the Goldwater majority fails to materialize after two or three ballots, this question arises: To what candidate should the Goldwater strength be given? Should it go to some candidate who represents diametrically opposite policies and principles? Should it go to someone who has been friendly to the Goldwater side?

There has been a decided anti-Goldwater tone in many of the speeches by the other candidates, some of whose supporters have outspokenly criticized or belittled the Arizona Senator. One Republican Senator from the East has even intimated that he might not support the party's candidate if Mr. Goldwater is nominated. These are hardly the tactics that will produce harmony in a party.

At the moment, nobody knows whether Sen. Goldwater will have enough votes to win the nomination, but it is conceded that he has the largest number and will go to the convention with a good margin. If he should fail to get a majority after two or three ballots, it seems likely that his strength will go to former Vice-President Nixon more readily than to Gov. Rockefeller or Gov. Scranton or Ambassador Lodge. There is no evidence, of course, that Sen. Goldwater is in any sense out of the running.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

It is possible that some men in our government hope that a U-2 plane will be knocked down over Cuba. They do not want to lose the pilot, but, if he dies, they feel he does so in an excellent cause. The U. S. has been waiting for three years for Castro to make an overt move. The time appears to be now.

The government, under Eisenhower and Kennedy, permitted itself to be roped off from Cuba. President Johnson inherited the earlier commitments. The last one, agreed upon in secret amid public saber rattling, stated that the government of the Soviet Union would remove its intermediate range ballistic missiles at once, provided that the U. S. did not interfere with the sovereignty of Cuba, and granting that the Americans would have the right to inspect the missile sites.

Fidel Castro refused to acknowledge the Russo-American agreement, and, even though the Russians took their missiles away, he would not honor the right of the Americans to inspect the missile sites. President John F. Kennedy, on the advice of his chiefs of staff, agreed to inspect by aerial reconnaissance. It has been going on ever since.

The Soviet Army removed the missiles, suffered the American blockade, and smoothed Castro's ruffled feelings by installing ground-to-air missiles; weaponry intended solely to knock planes out of the sky. His Cubans were taught the use of these weapons. Now the Soviet government pretends that it has no further responsibility for the iron birds. They are in Cuban hands. If the Cubans want to aim them at American military planes flying over Cuban airspace, then the Americans are obviously wrong, and Castro is properly protecting himself.

In four years, I have been to the American base at Guantanamo twice. Gitmo sits in the southeastern corner of the 700-mile island. It bristles with naval power. An admiral stood on a hill with me and pointed to a missile cruiser at anchor in the jade roadstead. "There is more power on that cruiser," he said, "than there is in the rest of Cuba."

Guantanamo is a forward base. It is supported by a bigger base in Puerto Rico. It is also supported by regiments of U. S. Marines, a blockade of carriers, destroyers and submarines which circle Cuba perpetually; B-52 bombers at Homestead Florida; troop carriers and airborne soldiers; the I.R.B.M. missiles at Cape Kennedy, and the Eastern Sea Frontier command at Mayport, Florida, and Norfolk, Va.

It requires a lot of money to keep these forces in readiness for three years. They have been ready. Whether they will see action is a matter which is in the hands of an emotional man with a beard. He alone can make the decision whether to fire at a U-2 photographic plane flying over Cuba.

President Johnson has said that American planes will continue to "inspect" from the air. The Russians say that there is no reason for this inspection; the primary cause — the missiles — are gone. But Johnson intends to continue. Castro says that his short-range missiles will knock the high-flying Americans down.

If they do, the first order of the day will be "take those short-range missiles sites out." The action will come from Homestead A.F.B. in Florida. Dozens of fighter-bombers are briefed and ready. They already know where the targets are.

Should Cubans fire on these planes, the big B-52's are ready to drop heavier stuff on the island. It is doubtful that atomic weapons would be used, but it is possible that the Soviet Union may issue an ultimatum to the U. S. to cease fire or risk a holocaust. It is at this point that each nation is going to pause for a moment, and then decide its course.

I have known a number of ranking officers and a couple of Presidents, and I would guess that the President would reply to the Russians by stating that this country has been "provoked" by Cuba into taking this action, and that, if the Soviet government cannot be dissuaded from starting a big war over a small and belligerent nation within the American sphere of influence, then the U. S. will just have to retaliate.

In this way, Castro has his finger on the trigger. Should the trouble reach the stage where the Johnson government finds itself committed to invade Cuba, it will be done with airborne divisions, with Guantanamo Marines, and sea power. Conversely, if the Russians find themselves in a spot where they cannot back down in the face of world opinion, they will be forced to risk total war, or lose the leadership of the Communist world.

The last two great powers on the face of the earth are at the mercy of a boob.

Meany Supports N. Y. Plumbers

NEW YORK (AP) — George Meany, AFL-CIO president, is supporting union plumbers who have refused to work with a Negro and three Puerto Rican plumbers who are not union members.

"This union won't work with non-union men," Meany said Thursday night. He denied that Negroes or Puerto Ricans had been excluded from the union.

The white, union plumbers walked off the construction site of the city's $25 million produce market in the Bronx two weeks ago when the four newcomers, hired by the contractor, reported for work.

The walk-out threatens to stop all work on the project.

President Johnson has asked Secretary of Labor W. Willlard Wirtz to investigate.

Meany said the union men are "completely justified in refusing to work."

Charge Withdrawn By Trooper in Ridge Driver Case

A Stone Ridge man involved in a traffic accident on Route 213 west of High Falls in the Town of Rosendale on April 24, appeared Thursday before Justice of the Peace Edmund Ruffner, Town of Marbletown.

John Campola, 30, pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct, and a reduced charge of driving a car while his ability was impaired. He was fined $10 on the misconduct charge and $25 on the second charge. His license was suspended for 60 days.

It was reported that a second degree assault charge, lodged by Trooper Norman Kilfoyle after a scuffle, was withdrawn by the trooper yesterday. A charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated was reduced.

At the time of the incident earlier this month, Trooper Kilfoyle reported he was investigating the accident in which Campola was involved, when the Stone Ridge man wrestled with him and became abusive. Kilfoyle, who said he subdued Campola, was treated in Kingston Hospital emergency room for body bruises and a sprained finger, it was reported. Campola received a cut on the left temple as the result of the accident.

Approve $190,000 For Remodeling of Hyde Park PO

A $190,000 grant for remodeling the Hyde Park Post Office at East Market and Main Streets, was approved Thursday by the General Service Administration in Washington, D. C.

It was reported the grant was made through the efforts of U. S. Senator Kenneth B. Keating. Bids for the "face-lifting" project, which town and post office officials at Hyde Park contend are needed to meet growing increase in business, will be opened in Washington on Monday, June 15.

The present post office was constructed during the early administration of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, with WPA funds, and he laid the cornerstone at appropriate ceremonies.

Capitol News in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

SURPRISE GUEST: Friends threw a dinner party Thursday night to celebrate Justice William O. Douglas' quarter century on the Supreme Court. The surprise guest, arriving after the dessert, was President Johnson.

Johnson dropped in at the party, in a private club three blocks from the White House, after flying back to Washington from the funeral of Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., in Elsberry, Mo.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., one of those attending the Douglas party, said the President spoke a few words and after staying about 90 minutes returned to the White House.

CENSORSHIP: The Army was reported Thursday to have barred from publication in an official magazine an article critical of Pentagon policy written by retired Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson.

Davidson is a former West Point superintendent and commander of the 1st Army.

Before he retired last month, the general wrote the Defense Department of his criticism of the program for reorganizing Army divisions. He said it was being carried out at the cost of traditions.

Then he put his views into an article for the magazine of the Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., an official Army publication.

The unofficial service magazine, Army Navy and Air Force Journal and Register, reported that editors of the Ft. Leavenworth publication submitted the article to the Department of the Army for review.

The army refused to permit publication, the Journal and Register said, "because of inconsistency with existing policy, and because publication would be tantamount to public criticism by a senior commander of official policies and programs."

FOREIGN AID: The House Foreign Affairs Committee rejected Thursday new efforts to cut President Johnson's $3.4-billion foreign aid bill, and Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., said he expects the measure to reach the House floor virtually intact.

Final action was put off until next week.

Deadline Saturday For Juror's Dinner

Reservations must be made by Saturday for next week's annual banquet of the Ulster County Grand Juror's Association, Secretary Anne M. Ashdown announced today.

The spring event is scheduled for Wednesday night, May 20, at the Alpine Restaurant.

Sewer Project OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Facilities Administration announced Thursday it had approved an advance of $8,020 for Louisville, St. Lawrence County, N.Y., to aid in planning water and sewer facilities.

Tear Gas Again In Cambridge Against Negroes

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — National Guardsmen had to use tear gas again Thursday night to break up a Negro demonstration in this racially divided town.

Leaders in the white community called for the immediate removal of Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston, National Guard commander, charging that he was not enforcing the modified militia law which includes a ban on demonstrating.

About 150 integrationists, most of them Negroes, left St. Luke's Methodist Church Thursday night marching and singing for the fourth demonstration in as many nights.

Gelston intercepted the marchers about one-half block from Washington Street, which leads into the white section of this town of 12,600.

Most of the demonstrators dispersed, but about 20 youths refused, and began heckling the guardsmen. A few stones were thrown, and Gelston ordered tear gas fired. It took only two cannisters, a spray from a new type gas gun and the youths scattered.

Guard troops have been here since last June 12, following an outbreak of racial violence. They had been reduced to a token force of 10, but an additional 350 were brought in Monday for anticipated demonstrations in the wake of a Monday night speech here by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. The troops still are here.

Rocky Will Get Briefing Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration turns out its top-level officials today to give Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller an insider's look at U.S. security problems and world affairs.

The New Yorker thus becomes the first of the contenders for the Republican presidential nomination to take up President Johnson on his offer of intelligence briefings.

Rockefeller, fresh from his campaign for votes in today's Oregon preferential primary, is to be briefed at the State Department by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and John A. McCone, Central Intelligence Agency director.

Johnson made the briefing offer to "major candidates for the office of president" in a New York speech April 20. He said he did so because "those who seek to discuss great public issues must be informed of those issues."

Rockefeller accepted with the provision that it would not hamper his criticism of administration policies.

Training School Band to Play on Sullivan Show

Joseph Connerton, president of the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for Retarded Children, said that the Mansfield, Connecticut State Training School Band — which is comprised of young people who are retarded — will be featured on the Ed Sullivan television show on Sunday night.

He said, "We consider their appearance on the Ed Sullivan show an excellent example of the accomplishments that have been realized in the education of retarded young people."

"The Boys' Band from Mansfield was invited to appear at the annual convention of the National Association for Retarded Children last October," Connerton said. "That conference was honored by a visit by the late President John F. Kennedy. The band was flown from Connecticut to honor him on this occasion."

"To honor the president, the band had arranged and rehearsed a special number entitled 'Did Your Mother Come From Ireland, Cha-Cha-Cha.' They also played 'When the Saints Come Marching In' and 'Moon River'," Connerton said.

1,500 Population Swells to 10,000 For Cannon Rites

ELSBERRY, Mo. (AP)—With President Johnson and former President Harry S. Truman somberly looking on Thursday, this small, rural community buried its most famous son, Rep. Clarence Cannon.

Cannon, who became one of the most influential men in Washington, will lie beside his parents in the cemetery outside his home town. He died Tuesday at the age of 85 in Washington.

Residents of northeast Missouri's 9th District first sent him to Congresss in 1922. He remained there 41 years, 19 of them as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Most of the town's 1,500 residents gathered to pay their final respects. The crowd swelled to an estimated 10,000 as mourners came from throughout the rolling hills surrounding this Mississippi River community. People lined the sidewalks, four deep, outside the First Baptist Church.

President Johnson flew from Washington to St. Louis by jet and transferred to helicopter for the 50 mile flight to Elsberry.

Cannon's wife, two daughters and other relatives sat in a small room to the right of the pulpit.

The Rev. Paule Grimes delivered the eulogy.

A 43-man delegation from the House of Representatives and Missouri's two senators, Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long, also traveled from Washington for the service.

Construction Contracts Awarded

Progress Good at Mt. Marion Addition; To Open in Fall

A report from architect Albert E. Milliken that work on the Mt. Marion School addition was proceeding satisfactorily and would be completed by September was heard by Saugerties Board of Education this week. Contracts on bids opened Monday for the new elementary school and high school addition were awarded to the low bidders.

Saugerties Central Schools Board of Education, at its regular meeting received an analysis of bids on construction of the high school alterations and additions, and the new Grant D. Morse Elementary School.

Authorized Negotiation

The board voted unanimously to authorize Board President Robert Herb to negotiate contracts as follows: HIGH SCHOOL—General Construction, Louis Nuzzo Construction Corporation, Newburgh, $878,400; Heating and Ventilating, Tougher Heating and Plumbing Company, Inc., Albany, $163,494, with an alternate of $1,540; Plumbing, C. B. Strain, Kingston, $120,400; Electric, ERA Electric Construction Corporation, Kingston, $140,968; Paving, William E. West, Inc., Woodstock, $25,095.

GRANT D. MORSE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL—General Construction, H. A. Swart and Son, Kingston, $506,807; Heating and Ventilating, Tougher Heating and Plumbing Company, Inc. Albany, $94,446; Plumbing, C. B. Strain, Kingston, $123,900; Electric, ERA Electric Construction Corporation, Kingston, $75,032; Paving, William E. West Inc., Woodstock, $13,505.

The bids on heating and ventilating by Tougher and electrical by ERA were combined for work on both projects.

Quotations were within the amounts estimated for the projects by architect Milliken, who announced that high school costs were at $15.50 per square foot as compared to his estimate of $17 per square foot, and the cost of the Grant D. Morse School, $16.60 per square foot as compared to his estimate of $17.26 per square foot. Additional work not included in the contracts will probably increase these cost figures slightly.

Milliken reported to the board that complete plans were in the hands of the State Education Department and that he would press for an early approval in order that work may be commenced. Contractors are ready to begin immediately as soon as approval has been received.

The State Education Department had approved the request for bids to final approval of the plans in order to expedite construction. Negotations of the $1,875,000 bond issue must await final approval of the plans.

Reject Cowhey Offer

The board received a letter from the McBride Agency of Fairlawn, N. J., offering to sell the Cowhey property, which adjoins the Main Street School. This is the former Seamon property which was used by the school for kindergarten purposes but was later discontinued. The offer was rejected.

The board approved a summer school program for 1964 including the following classes: Personal Use Typing—teacher, Milton Sommers; Personal Use Shorthand — teacher, Patrick Rodden; Advance Chemistry — teacher, Roy Ohno; Improving of Reading — teacher, Mrs. Elsie Ketelaar; Driver Education — teacher, Leon McLaughlin. Preliminary registration indicates considerable interest in these courses. Pupils interested in registering who have not already done so should contact David Cunningham, high school principal.

Although the procedure had been generally followed for some time, the board, at the request of the superintendent, voted the following policy:

"Non-residents will not be admitted to Saugerties schools. Cases that involve change of residence to another district near the end of the school year will be considered on an individual basis, but permission to attend Saugerties schools will not be extended for a non-resident beyond the end of the school year."

Presents Bids

Business Manager Gerald Snyder presented bids for lockers and wire baskets, classroom wardrobes and shelving, paper and other supplies, and athletic equipment.

The board agreed to participation of pupils on a voluntary basis in a fund-raising project for the John F. Kennedy Library.

Dr. R. B. Wenger was reappointed school physician for the school year 1964-65.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, reported resignations had been received from Mr. and Mrs. Neal B. Silvernail, teachers at Mt. Marion and Main Street Schools, who have accepted positions in the Richfield Springs School and from Mrs. Linda Conner, home economics teacher at the high school, who is moving to Mantana with her husband. The resignations were accepted.

Upon nomination of the superintendent, the board elected Morris Salkind to teach general science at the junior high school. Salkind will graduate from New Paltz this June. A resident of Kingston, he is currently a cadet teacher at the high school. Also elected was Mrs. Marla Mastin to teach a second grade at the Mt. Marion School. Mrs. Mastin, a 1963 graduate of Onteora, taught last year at the Wappingers Falls Central Schools, and has currently moved to Saugerties with her husband.

Dr. Arnold reported that nine vacancies for elementary positions in 1964-65 are still unfilled, as well as French, library, and home economics positions in the junior-senior high school.

PRIZE WATER COLOR—Bonnie Jean Fous, (left) Saugerties High School senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fous, Elm Street, Saugerties, was the second prize winner for her water color entered in the New York State Hallmark Art Talent Contest. She received a $25 Savings Bond. The awards were announced at the recent State Federation of Women's Clubs convention held at Grossinger's. The talented senior displayed her prize winning water color at this week's Monday Club session held at the home of Mrs. Fabian L. Russell. Mrs. William Ziegler, Monday Club president is at right.

WSCS Unit Elects Officers, Adopts Budget for 1964

Mrs. Betty Whritenor was elected president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Saugerties Methodist Church Thursday at the annual pledge service conducted by Mrs. Gertrude Waldele.

Mrs. Waldele retired from her position as treasurer after seven years of service. She said retirement was necessary due to other church duties. Her resignation was accepted with regret.

Others elected were Mrs. Lois Wells, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Hildebrandt, secretary, and Mrs. Patricia Brogan, treasurer.

The annual meeting was rescheduled from May 5 due to the conflict of the annual school meeting.

The next meeting of the group will be held June 13 at 12:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Whritenor. A picnic meeting will be held.

The food sale held under the auspices of the commission on missions May 8 at two local super markets was reported successful with the proceeds, $80 to go to Alaska Methodist University which was damaged by the recent earthquake.

Ulster Allotted $137,573 State Per Capita Aid

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt announced today that Ulster County's share of $11½ million per capita assistance to cities, towns and villages in the first quarterly installment in the state's 1964-65 fiscal year was $137,573.88.

The checks were mailed to the fiscal officers of the state's 61 cities, 550 villages and 932 towns. Unlike other types of state aid, which are granted for a specific purpose such as education, highways and health, the per capita aid can be used for any general municipal purpose.

The payment is allocated to the local units of government on a per capita basis. Each city receives annually the sum of $6.75 times the amount of its population, towns receive $3.55 for each inhabitant, and villages $3 for each inhabitant.

Installment amounts to other area counties include: Columbia $55,085.68; Dutchess $191,579.54; Greene $35,922.15; Orange $232,682.82; Delaware $52,100.42; Schoharie $25,594.64, and Sullivan $45,118.07.

Farmers Welcome Rain

Farmers of the area yesterday welcomed the rain that fell yesterday and early today, bringing some relief to the parched ground, and relieving the dangers of possible forest fires. Thundershowers were reported in most local sections, and a severe thunderstorm hit the Middletown area, which was pelted with large hailstones. No serious damage was reported in that section.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass, May 15—The greatest miracle, of course, is the conception and birth of a helpless baby with its unparalleled opportunities. It is said that one reason the Chinese nation has had such a long and matchless history is because the Chinese figure their children's age from 9 months earlier than we do. Hence the mothers also give much more attention to what they do and think during those nine months.

Importance of Seeds

The next-wonderous miracle to the birth of babies is the "birth" of seeds. This will be the real subject of this week's column. I have just returned from the Evers Flower Farm at Lakeland, Florida—run and operated by Orris R. Evers who raises over 275,000 plants every spring and 100,000 more every fall. He is a graduate of the University of Florida and has a Master's Degree from Ohio State University. I mention this to show the importance of an education to a "farmer"! This should be an inspiration to those college graduates who think that they must be doctors, lawyers, or insurance agents in order to build a large business and make a better, happier, more beautiful world. This my friend Evers is now doing. God Bless him. He knows that every seed contains a miracle.

Each Seed a Little Computer

Two facts about seeds interest me intensely; the first is the billions of seeds—both vegetable and flower — going to waste every year. The head of one company which raises and sells only vegetable seeds sells over one hundred billion (100,000,000,000) live and active seeds each year. The second fact is that each seed is a complete factory. Had I the space I would prove this to every reader. Moreover, each "factory" knows exactly when to commence operating without the need for any labor union or any legislation. Each seed is a most marvelous automated device—far more extraordinary than any computer.

What Computers Are Now Seeking

Computers are a very wonderful invention; but they give out only what has been fed into them. This is probably true also of seeds; but nature "programs" the seed. As yet, computers do not think; but seeds apparently do "think"—at least they know when to sprout or burst their shell and grow into a vegetable or into a flower or into a magnificent oak tree. You say this is merely done by the seed "listening" to the sun. Or to put it another way, the sun "programs" the seed to send a sprout upward to form leaves, and a fiber downward to form roots. Truly it all is very wonderful.

Possibilities of Computers

Computers also are wonderful; but none of the five leading computer manufacturing companies (a list will be sent gratis on request) will claim that their computers will work by doing their own thinking. They need to be "programmed," which means that the information must be fed into them by some human brain. Psychologists tell me that the time is coming when brain waves —in leaving our heads—will operate computers. I feel sure, too, that the day is coming when the computer will secure its knowledge from the rays of the sun, from the direction of the wind, or from other invisible data fed to it by nature.

Every Seed Is a Thinker

Now let me get back to my favorite subject of "seeds". Each seed is a miniature computer already being "programmed" by nature. It, however, depends greatly upon environment and almost wholly upon what has happened before. Let me again refer to the writings of Dr. Rufus Cole of Mt. Kisco, N. Y. Every seed proves his basic claim: That there is nothing new under the sun, and that what happens today is dependent upon all that has happened for generations before. Furthermore, seeds will someday become real economic forces, though this possibility is now almost entirely ignored. I wish I were a young man and could enjoy the great changes ahead of us; we have only tapped the great computer era! Even Edison once said to me: "Give me a few more years, and I would have seeds perform wonders such as the incandescent light and the electric motor have done for the industrial era."

SHOKAN NEWS

SHOKAN — David and Ann Newman, New York City, were weekend callers in the hub of the reservoir country. Mrs. Newman, a teacher, and her husband are members of the large and growing summer bungalow colony in Silver Hollow near Chichester.

Also here recently were Mr. and Mrs. William P. Batty and two children Albany Post Road at Buchannan. Batty, a collector of old farming implements, acquired hand-powered corn sheller and a couple of steel buggy axles.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bobell, Creek Locks, called on local friends last Sunday. They had been visiting relatives in the Detroit, Mich. area.

Birthdays May 14 include that of Mrs. Martin Gulnac of Van-Steenberg Road. The former Olive Barclay was brought up at Ashokan. The Gulnacs have three married children who reside in the Los Angeles area.

The Zadock Pratt Museum up at Prattsville will open May 30 for the season with visiting hours Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday afternoon. The museum, named after the father of Col. George W. Pratt who commanded Ulster County's Civil War Old Twentieth Infantry until he fell mortally wounded at second Bull Run, contains many interesting historical items including two bedrooms furnished with early marble top stands and dressers, books, manuscripts, old clocks and kitchen gadgets together with a restored life-sized painting of the senior Pratt who was Greene County's leading industrialist and landowner.

Harrison Gridley, Glenford, who during his 55 years of teaching was principal of the Ashokan School 12 years, was a caller in the village center last Saturday.

Joseph Cohen, Kingston, was a recent caller at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. Elefant, Route 28. The youth is the son of Frank Cohen, uptown businessman.

Edward Geier, New City, Rockland County, was a local caller Saturday in the course of a fishing trip to the reservoir. Geier is a friend of Ken Murray, also of New City who with his wife has friends in Shokan.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens having sold their large Route 28 house, the one time Reformed Church parsonage and later the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Gearon, are residing temporarily at Glenford. Stevens is a Thruway collector and his wife is secretary to the principal of George Washington School in Kingston.

Louis Elefant, student at the Onteora School, received an average of 85 in his classes last month. He plans to go to Southern California where his older brother, Dr. Harold Elefant, and sister, Betty make their home.

Carl Lane, formerly of Wittenberg, has one of the L. Ruckert bungalows in the village center.

Mrs. J. L. Deutche, Woodstock, was a local caller Tuesday.

Maverick Road people here during the weekend included Mr. and Mrs. Steve Durkee and Gerd Stern.

DISCUSS RESORT PROMOTION—A meeting of resort owners, businessmen and heads of political subdivisions met this week at Governor Clinton Hotel to discuss resort and area promotion. Guest speaker was Joseph J. Horan, state director of travel, who outlined methods used by other areas to successfully promote resorts. The number attending was described by the speaker as good, but not great, and said it symbolized the apathy in this resort area. The session also served as a deadline meeting for Ulster County Resort Directory which will go to press shortly. Principals at the meeting were (l-r) Supervisor George Majestic, Town of Gardiner; George Rothmann, Olive Bridge; Hermann Krickhahn, president of Big Indian-Olivera Board of Trade; Edwin France, mayor of Pine Hill; Michael C. Starkman of Valley Advertising, publisher of the directory; Horan; Walter Williams of Williams Lake Hotel; Gerow Smiley of Lake Mohonk; Sol Rosenthal, councilman of Town of Esopus and Frank A. Byer, (rear) of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., who coordinated with Ulster County Publicity Committee. (Tom Reynolds photo)

Methodists Hear Plan For $460,000 Increase

GOUVERNEUR, N.Y. (AP)—A program aimed at boosting the income of the Northern New York Conference of the Methodist Church by $460,000 a year was placed before delegates today at the conference's annual meeting.

The plan was outlined Thursday by Dr. Gilbert Stout to permit delegates to study it before today's scheduled vote.

The goal of the program would be to increase by $10 the annual contribution of each of the 46,000 church members in the conference. Laymen in the church would receive special training and would call on all church members to explain the needs of their churches.

The conference's meeting opened Thursday and will continue through Sunday. About 300 [illegible] and lay delegates are attending.

Mettacahonts

METTACAHONTS—Leroy Kelder was honored at his home by the Town of Rochester Republican Club for his 18 years as tax collector. A donation and scroll were presented by former supervisor, Richard Terwilliger. Mr. Kelder is now retired.

Mrs. Vivian Lewis of Saugerties spent a few days recently with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Osterhoudt.

Francis Churchwell of Marlboro was a Sunday visitor at the home of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelder.

Mrs. Frank Hanigan spent a few days in New York recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gazlay were Friday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelder.

Mrs. Stanley Kelder was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Kelder Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Osterhout were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Ethel Hendrickson in honor of her birthday.

Top Alfred Tech Post To Dean Roger F. Rawe

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dean Roger F. Rawe is acting president of the Agricultural and Technical Institute at Alfred, by designation of the State University Board of Trustees.

The trustees named Rawe Thursday to fill the post until Aug. 1, when Dr. David H. Huntington will become president.

Walter C. Hinkle had announced plans to retire from the presidency, but he died May 2. Huntington, associate dean of the University of Maine's Agricultural College, had been selected last month to succeed Hinkle.

Homemade Torpedo Is Confiscated From Exiles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A homemade radio-controlled torpedo—tested on an open lake near Miami International Airport—has been confiscated from two Cuban exiles.

Cuban underground sources speculate the 11-foot-long torpedo was intended for use against the Cuban freighter Las Villas, reportedly loaded in France on May 4 with 300 trucks for Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government. Exiles said the freighter was due to pass near Florida en route to Havana.

Fred Patton, supervising U.S. Customs agent in Miami, said in a statement Thursday: "An unarmed torpedo was seized while it was being transported by two Cuban exiles. We don't know the intended specific use. The matter is still under investigation."

Customs agents refused to say if the Cubans were under arrest.

Hyde Park PO Bids Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration said Thursday it would open bids June 15 on a contract for extension and modernization of the post office in Hyde Park, N. Y. The project is expected to cost $190,000.

Bounty Set Upstate On Pigeon Poisoners

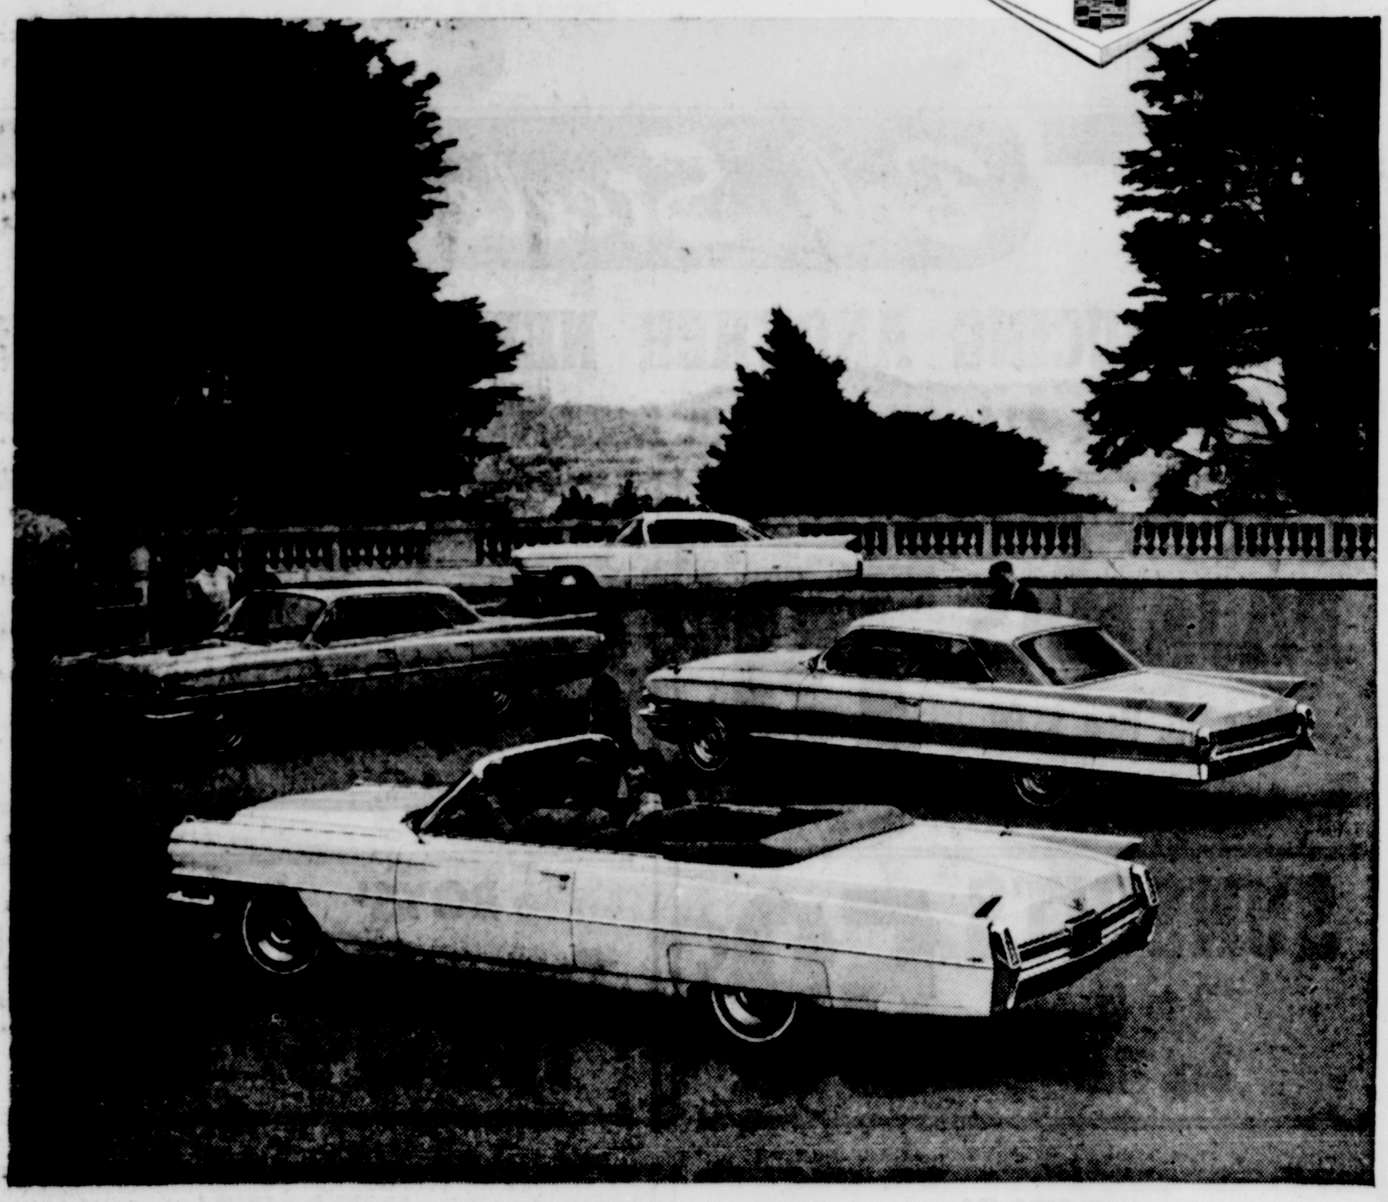

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Mohawk and Hudson River Humane Society has posted a $50 reward for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of a pigeon poisoner.

Mrs. Floyd Walker, the society's executive director, said Wednesday that five dead pigeons, found on the grounds of the State University of New York at Albany, apparently ate poisoned bread crumbs.

The state conservation law prohibits killing pigeons within any municipality unless the bird is "sick or injured beyond recovery" or for "food purposes."

Guthion

the standard fruit insecticide for all-season insect control

This season, give your fruit low-cost insect protection from bloom to harvest. Use Guthion, the standard insecticide of fruit growers for many years. Guthion is the broad spectrum insecticide that gives season-long control of major insects of economic importance on fruit.

Guthion's long residual effect lengthens the interval between cover sprays and frequently reduces the number of sprays per season required. Guthion leaves lower residues and helps to give fruit better finish and color.

Start your fruit off right this season. Use Guthion, the standard with fruit growers.

As with any pesticide, follow label directions carefully.

In areas where post-bloom mite infestations are severe, use Systox . . . another product of Chemagro. 7396

No Reopening Of Baker Case, Senate Decides

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican move to reopen and expand the Bobby Baker investigation threw the Senate into turmoil before it was defeated by a 42-33 vote.

The short, snappy election-year set-to Thursday was one of the most tumultuous the Senate had seen in many a day.

The highlight was a shouting match between Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., with freshman Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., caught in the middle as the temporary presiding officer.

It was on Mansfield's motion that the Senate voted to table and thus kill a resolution to bring members of the Senate specifically within the scope of the Baker probe and to broaden it to cover the handling of campaign funds and other matters.

The resolution, offered by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., also would have extended the investigation by the Senate Rules Committee until Sept. 1. The committee's authority now expires at the end of this month.

All by Democrats

All 42 votes for tabling the resolution were cast by Democratic senators. Voting against the tabling motion were 24 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

The committee's investigation, in which President Johnson's name figured, was launched after Baker had resigned under fire last Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year post as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

The Senate directed the committee to find out whether Baker or other employes or officers of the Senate had engaged in outside business dealings that conflicted with their official duties or that involved other improprieties.

Refused Answers

Baker pursued lucrative business ventures while on the Senate payroll. When called as a witness he refused to answer questions, invoking the protection against possible self-incrimination provided by the 5th Amendment to the Constitution.

Williams introduced his resolution to extend and expand the probe after Case went before the committee Tuesday and urged it to ask each senator about any financial dealings they may have had with Baker and any campaign contributions Baker may have helped them get.

Accuses GOP

In leading the fight against the Williams resolution in Thursday's wild uproar, Mansfield accused Republicans of "thinly-veiled innuendoes" and said if they had any specific charges to make against any of their colleagues they should submit them to the rules committee. "Put up or shut up," he said heatedly.

In a voice breaking with emotion, Case protested that Mansfield had imputed conduct unbecoming to a senator to him, in violation of the rules, and demanded that he be recognized on a point of personal privilege.

Case kept shouting for recognition. Kennedy told him to take his seat and after consulting the Senate parliamentarian ruled that the clerk should call the roll.

Set Twilight Fruit Meeting for Tuesday

A twilight fruit meeting will be held Tuesday 7 p. m. at Hurd cold storage plant, Clintondale. All fruit growers are urged by William H. Palmer, Ulster County agricultural agent, to be on time.

Featuring the meeting will be information on insect and disease control recommendations for summer spraying by Professors Hickey and Brann and a discussion by Dr. Hoffman on chemical thinning of fruit.

Every Fined $50

Donald Every, 19, of 27 Van-Gaasbeck Street, charged recently with disorderly conduct, was fined $50 in city court today and given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. He was charged by Officer Otto Short with refusing to move as Short ordered a group gathered on Broadway near the Trailways bus terminal to disperse. Every paid the fine.

Names Garden Week

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—People with "green thumbs are particularly to be envied," said Gov. Rockefeller in proclaiming next week "Garden Week" in New York State.

In the proclamation issued by his office Thursday, Rockefeller observed that many New Yorkers now were preparing and planting their gardens.

Medical Laboratory Technology

RVCS Girl First to Sign For New College Program

Miss Joyce Anne Barrett, 46 James Street, Rosendale, today became the first student accepted for Ulster County Community College's new program in Medical Laboratory Technology. Miss Barrett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Barrett and she will graduate in June from Rondout Valley Central School.

To Enter UCCC in Fall

Miss Barrett will enter UCCC in September and will become a member of the first class in the new program in Medical Laboratory Technology recently announced by the college. The two-year program leads to the Associate in Apllied Science degree and includes general education, extensive science and laboratory work at the college, and cilinical experience at the City of Kingston Laboratory and its branches at the Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals. She and the other young people who will enroll in this new program at the local community college in September will find their two years to be an exciting experience as they prepare themselves for a rewarding career.

Surveys completed by college officials, in cooperation with the City of Kingston Laboratory, have revealed that employment opportunities for graduates of the new program are good and that starting salaries are attractive. Other attractive features of the new program include the good possibility of summer employment during the first and second years of study at the college. Summer employment not only provides income for further education but would also serve as additional background experience to make the second year of study even more meaningful.

Response Pleasing

College officials are pleased with the response of the community to the introduction of the new Medical Laboratory Technology program, which is one of three brand new programs being introduced at the college in September. Introduction of these three new programs, all of two years in length and leading to the Associate in Applied Science degree, are in line with the philosophy of the college to provide a comprehensive program. Trustees, faculty and administration of the college are all deeply involved in studies and investigations which will lead to the development of additional program to be introduced just as soon as permanent facilities are available for the college.

Anyone interested in the new Medical Laboratory Technology program, or any of the 10 other programs at the college, are invited to make inquiry at the College Admission Office, 214 West Chestnut Street.

Smoke Over Roof, Acid Fumes Call Out Fire Units

Atmospheric conditions affecting smoke and fumes resulted in a fire call Thursday night and another this morning.

A telephone call at 8:06 p. m., for what was thought to be a fire at 32 Broadway, was followed by an alarm from Box 2141, East Strand and Broadway, ordered by Capt. Harry L. Sills on arrival of firemen.

Investigation revealed that dense smoke, which had settled over a roof area, was caused by atmospheric conditions. It came from the third-floor apartment, where firemen said, Kenneth Gordon, had been burning wood and refuse in a stove, and chimney smoke settled low above the roof. The building houses the B & F Market on the ground floor.

The two alarms brought out units from Central, Cornell and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks, Rapid, Union and Cordts volunteers.

Heavy acid fumes settled close to the ground and along an area of the building housing Utility Platers Inc., 416 Washington Avenue, resulted in an alarm at 7:07 a. m., today from Box 1611, Washington Avenue and North Front Street. It summoned units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks and Wiltwyck volunteers. Wicks Company lost a helmet, which, fire headquarters reported has been found.

Ellenville School Seeks Option for Expansion Site

Ellenville Central School Board of Education has authorized Benjamin Lonstein, school attorney, to secure an option on the Nordland property, located on the westerly side of Route 209 in Napanoch, for a school building site.

Lonstein was authorized to spend up to $250 for the option, which would include the purchase of the property and a restrictive limitation on the triangular piece of property for private dwellings.

In a report to the Board, Attorney Lonstein indicated that as of April 22, the attorney for the Nordland property had indicated the selling price was $32,000 for the property, plus an additional $2,000 to control the use of the triangle, which reportedly is not for sale.

The Board of Education has scheduled a meeting for May 18, at 8 p. m. to discuss the 1964-65 budget which was defeated at the annual meeting last Tuesday.

Seedless Pineapples

HONOLULU (AP) — Pineapples don't have seeds, and the food market shopper probably doesn't care one way or the other anyway. But this fact has irked horticulturists in Hawaii — one of the greatest pineapple growing areas — for years, so the University of Hawaii and the Pineapple Research Institute of Honolulu have teamed up to find out why the succullent, yellow pineapple is barren.

Kiwanis Speaker

quiths for the troubles in the educational system were given as "bad laws, the bureaucracy of the State Educational Department, and local school boards who do not face up to their responsibilities."

Members of the State Legislature were censored by the speaker because of their lack of knowledge of education and thus the support of the "bad laws." He pointed to the Teacher's Retirement Plan in the state "as costing about 20% — not 12% as has been found adequate in other professions." He further stated that the State Legislature had instigated various details which were not conducive to better education, and here revealed a plan which gives teachers a raise every year for 10 years "regardless of ability," and an additional raise for a 30-hour course "regardless of the course."

"There is no demand for efficency in education," said Jacquith, as he emphasized that the Legislatures were subject to pressure groups "and some think that education is not their responsibility."

Rubber Stamps, He Says

The State Board of Regents was next referred to by the speaker as a non-political organization of members who serve without pay and work but "two days per month." He stated that half of the work of the Board of Regents does not directly concern the educational system and that "they have become rubber stamps for the educational bureaucracy which hands down rules and regulations under which schools operate." Jacquith said that the qualifications for teachers as set up by the State Superintendent "are ridiculous," and was a reason for the shortage of teachers. He pointed to a recent law which allegedly makes it mandatory for a teacher in the elementary grades to have a Master's Degree in order to teach.

"Excessive cost of education are sins of commission and omission on the part of local school boards," said Jacquith as he brought local school boards into his line of criticism. He opinioned that too many local school boards are "concerned primarily with bricks and mortar—to build schools to keep up with the Joneses.

Chides Local Boards

Local school boards do not dwell on better education, according to the speaker, who charged that many of them hired architects to build buildings with no thought of economy. He said that buildings should be the number three consideration of a board.

The number one consideration of local school board should be the "quality of the teacher in the classroom and the calibre of the top administration." Jacquith stated that top administration was generally poor, and that school boards did not take steps to ascertain the quality of the teaching performance. He alleged that teachers today were not well prepared due to the inferior quality of the education they receive in the state teacher's colleges. This condition, according to Jacquith, is emphasized by the fact that "productivity is continually going down more than any other profession."

That the local school boards pay little attention to the school curriculum and whether or not a child learns to read was another current fault scored by Jacquith. He suggested that any citizen check the senior themes as turned in to a high school English class and decide for himself how well the pupil was educated.

Suggests Answers

Jacquith suggested some answers to the evils of the state educational system. He said that "the legislators should be pushed to assume some responsibility for education and spending" — "that the Legislature should change the set up of the Board of Regents to give some of its work to other departments and leave the Board to deal strictly with educational problems."

As for local members of the school boards, the speaker stated that "local school board members should be required to use three or four hours per week for his position on the school board or he should be replaced."

In conclusion, Jacquith charged that the public is paying for education which the children are not getting—"that we should endeavor to get one hundred cents of the educational dollar."

Rose Sale Report

A total of 503 dozen roses were reported sold by members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club in its annual Rose Day Sale—with two weeks remaining for the sale.

Rose Day is June 13, with the past two year's sales reaching a total of 1,500 dozen roses. Proceeds are utilized by the service club for its boys and girls work and scholarship funds.

MJM Students Are To Do Excerpts From 'Oklahoma'

For what is believed to be the first time in local school history, pupils of Myron J. Michael Junior High School will devote an entire half of their annual Spring Music Festival to a full costume production of excerpts from the famed Broadway hit, "Oklahoma," it was announced today. That phase of the program is entitled "'Oklahoma'—Kingston Style."

The festival will be at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 26 in the Kingston High School auditorium.

Music and chorus production for the program is under the direction of Miss Sandra Lockerman and Leon Renaud, music teachers at MJM. Dennis Kennedy, English teacher at the school, is director of the play presentation.

School officials said tickets for the festival are available from members of the chorus and also will be available at the door.

May Finalize Sale of Adin's Food Store Today

Negotiations for the sale of Adin's Food Market, 70 Franklin Street, to the Big Deal Food Stores of Spring Valley and New York City, recognized as a leading firm dealing in foods, are expected to be finalized today.

The business has been operated here by Lawrence and Gilbert Adin for about 10 years. It was formerly operated for many years at 73 Franklin Street, by A. D. Rose and others and was one of the oldest retail food establishments in Kingston prior to retirement of the Rose family.

About 10 years ago, Joseph F. Saccoman, local real estate dealer, purchased the building at 70 Franklin Street, and leased it to the Adins, who since have operated a successful business.

The purchasers, who were represented in the transaction by Irwin Gray, Spring Valley and New York City attorney, operate businesses in both Spring Valley and New York.

Saccoman, who appeared as broker in the sale, said the transaction has been consummated with the exception of a few minor details.

Charles Saccoman appeared as attorney for the owner of the one-story brick building where the Adin store is presently located, and Aaron E. Klein appeared as counsel for the sellers.

The retail food business conducted for many years by the Rose family, was continued successfully by the Adins.

CBS Withdraws From Emmy Show

NEW YORK (AP)—The CBS television network Thursday announced its withdrawal from participation in the industry's Emmy awards because of "misgivings about nominating and voting procedures."

The action, announced in a statement by the network president, James T. Aubrey Jr., followed a similar decision on Tuesday by Fred W. Friendly, president of the network's news division. Friendly's decision applied only to his news staff.

Aubrey's statement noted that "our action is binding only on employes of the CBS television network and obviously can not preclude the participation of those in outside organizations whose programs are broadcast over our network."

That means, in essence, that stars of shows produced by outside companies are still free to take part in the May 25 Emmy awards special program produced by NBC. Most performers in entertainment shows are in this category.

A similar announcement was made two days ago by the ABC television network president, Thomas W. Moore.

Profesor Is Held

MALONE, N.Y. (AP)—A professor at a junior college south of here has been arrested on a charge of possession of obscene photographs and films, State Police report.

Prof. Donald Trumbull, 49, of Paul Smith's College, waived an examination on the charge after his arrest May 8 and was released in $100 bail, pending grand jury action. The next grand jury convenes in the fall.

Troopers said Thursday that postal authorities had been investigating for two or three years.

Walston, Leading Broker, Dies of Gun Blast in Office

His chauffeur, who found the body, told police Walston talked repeatedly about suicide during a day-long drive around the city.

No note was found. Police said they had no clue to the reason for Walston's apparent despondency. His physician said Walston, 58, had been in good health, but may have been working too hard.

Walston & Co., which he founded in 1932, reported assets of $151 million and a net worth of $17.5 million last Aug. 30. It has nearly 100 branches.

Last December the firm absorbed J. R. Williston & Beane, Inc., another brokerage house, which was one of the many victims of the $150-million soybean oil scandal that broke in November.

Chauffeur Hears Shots

Gustave Puigdollers, Walston's chauffeur, told police that after he watched Walston enter the office suite he went to a lobby telephone to call Mrs. Walston.

While he was talking with her, he said, he heard two shots, ran into the office, and found Walston sitting in front of his desk. A shotgun was on the floor beside him. He shot himself in the mouth, police said.

The 20-gauge shotgun was one of several Walston kept in his office. Walston was a big-game hunter and he had lined the walls of the office with trophy heads, elephant tusks and bear skins.

Started as Clerk

Walston, born in Perry, Okla., started his career as a clerk for the Bank of America in Visalia, Calif. He formed his own brokerage firm in San Francisco. The headquarters moved to New York City about 10 years ago. His sons, Carl and Jack, are vice presidents of the firm.

Walston & Co., although not itself involved in the soybean oil scandal last year, went to the aid of the Williston firm, which had been suspended from the New York Stock Exchange for two days until Walston's loan restored its required minimum capital account.

Williston had extended $610,000 credit to Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp. of Bayonne, N.J., which went bankrupt last Nov. 19 contributing to the failure of a score of businesses here and abroad.

Walston's loan to Williston was not enough to restore full confidence in the firm and a few days later, Walston & Co. took over its 16 offices and 9,000 accounts.

Solon, Attorney Push, Punch in Row Over Ballot

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The battle over Pennsylvania's absentee ballot count in the Democratic senatorial primary flared into a pushing and punching fight Thursday between State Sen. Benjamin R. Donolow and attorney Philip Kalodner.

Backers of state secretary of internal affairs Genevieve Blatt for the Democratic nomination were trying to have the opening of the envelopes containing the absentee ballots stopped, so they could challenge 544 of them. Absenteee ballots may be important in Miss Blatt's close contest with state Supreme Court Justice Michael Musmanno.

Misss Blatt is leading by 1,742 votes, based on the official total from 52 of the state's 67 counties, official returns without the absentee count from two counties and unofficial tabulations from the remaining 13 counties.

Shortly after the outbreak, Chief Justice John C. Bell ordered the county elections board to stop all action until further orders. By that time, however, all but 125 of the 544 challenged ballots had been opened. None had been counted.

High Falls Driver Hurt in Rt. 32 Crash

While driving his 1962 car south on Route 32, Town of Rosendale, at about 12:30 a. m. today, William St. Clair, 28, of 93 Park Circle, High Falls, lost control of his vehicle as he avoided an animal on the highway.

State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes, Kingston sub-station, said St. Clair told Troopers Robert Houghtaling and Norman Kilfoyle an unidentified animal ran in front of his car and he turned sharply to avoid hitting it. The vehicle went off the left side of the pavement and hit a tree.

St. Clair was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for lacerations of the head and contusions of the body.

Paltz College Trustees Outline Expansion in 1960-70 Master Plan

Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of State University College at New Paltz, reported in conjunction with the five-day program from May 13-17 in recognition of the recent expansion and future growth of the college, that the overall expansion of State University has been programmed by its Board of Trustees in the 1960-70 master plan.

Working with State University to achieve this physical growth are:

Others Cooperate

The New York State Dormitory Authority, which undertakes the design, supervision and construction of all dormitory units and dining halls, and the State University Construction Fund, also an independent agency, which undertakes the design and construction of academic and related buildings.

Dr. Haggerty notes that construction costs are financed through bond issues placed by the State Housing Finance Agency which, in effect, serves as the loan agency for the State University construction program. Bond issues are financed from tuition income, in the form of rent payments.

The architectural firm of Ballard Todd Associates, New York, developed the comprehensive campus plan and is designing five of the buildings announced with the $30 million expansion master plan.

Development Assistance

Assisting Ballard Todd in developing the comprehensive plan was Raymond & May Associates, New York, planners; Slocum & Fuller, New York, mechanical, heating and electric utility engineers, and Lockwood, Kessler and Bartlett, New York, soils and utility engineers.

George Diamond Associates, New York, is designing the 1,000-bed dormitory cluster and related dining hall. The firm of Davis, Brody and Associates is designing Science Building 2, while Hart, Benvenga and Associates, New York, the building firm which designed most of the dormitories now in use at New Paltz, is designing the infirmary. The architectural firm of Fordyce & Hamby of New York designed Science Building 1. Landscape architect is Sasaki, Walker & Associates, Watertown, Mass.

Consulting engineers are: structural — James Hufnagel, New York, and Fraioli-Blum-Yesselman, New York; mechanical — Syska & Hennessey, New York and Slocum & Fuller, New York; soil — Lockwood, Kesseler & Bartlett.

Dr. Haggerty in his report on the Master Plan expansion program lists the type of buildings included in the $30 million projects, estimated date of completion, and estimated costs of each as follows:

Costs Listed

Heating plant — August, 1965, $1,555,000; dining hall (500 seats), — September 1965, $1,188,000; dormitory (400 beds)— September 1965, $1,790,000; dormitory (600 beds) — September 1965, $2,970,000; Service group —September 1965, $648,000; outdoor athletic-recreation facilities —October 1965, $324,000; infirmary — Februry 1966, $329,000; president's residence — June 1966, $75,000; administration building, September 1966, $1,099,000; Humanities-Social Science-Faculty office building — September 1966, $2,068,000; lecture hall — same time, $1,443,000; library — same completion time, $2,013,000; Science Building 2 — same time, $1,659,000; rehabilitation present library — April 1967, $110,000; dormitory (400 beds — September 1967, $1,980,000; dining hall—(500 seats, same completion time, $1,040,000.

The Fine Arts Building and the Science building under construction will be important segments of a greatly expanded academic core, which will be constructed in a generally rectangular form on a north-to-south line from Plattekill Avenue.

Existing dormitories between Plattekill and Mohonk Avenues and directly south of the proposed academic core, will be supplemented by a third cluster of 1,000 beds to the southeast. Two additional 200-bed dormitories will be constructed in the area of the Plattekill-Mohonk Avenue cluster.

The new heating plant and service group will be just beyond the third dormitory cluster, off Route 32. The health and physical education building is located adjacent to the new athletic and recreational fields, off Route 208.

Plan New Entrance

A new entrance to the college will be constructed from Route 32 and lead to the new administration building on the edge of the academic core.

A peripheral road will enclose the entire campus, connecting with Plattekill Avenue and campus entrances from both Route 32 and 208. The road will also keep campus vehicular traffic at a minimum and separated from campus walkways, connect with parking areas near the athletic fields, dormitory and academic areas, and facilitate delivery of supplies and fuel to the heating plant and service area.

Dr. Haggerty's report shows that a landmark of the new campus will be the student plaza and concourse which will be bounded by the Fine Arts Building, the Student Union, the Humanities-Social Science Building, Library and Science Building. The college infirmary will be constructed to the south of the Health and Physical Education Building, near the dormitories and athletic fields.

Three buildings will be connected to comprise the segment of the academic core on the west side of Excelsior Avenue, and they are:

Will Be L-Shaped

Humanities-Social Science-Faculty Office Building: The first floor of the academic wing of this L-shaped structure will contain the psychology laboratory, including special testing space; a child therapy room and a 50-seat amphitheater; a speech clinic with 10 therapy observation rooms; and a music practice area which will include rehearsal rooms, instrument storage space, three music classrooms, and a music listening room.

a statistical laboratory. The secnd floor of the academic wing will contain three language classrooms, a speech laboratory, two classrooms and third and fourth floors will contain a total of 24 classrooms, four seminar rooms and a cartography laboratory.

The office wing will be a nine-story faculty office tower, providing space for chairmen and department heads of both the Humanities and Social Science divisions, general faculty offices and space or secretarial service and office machines.

Nine Lecture Halls

Lecture Hall Center—A multi-level structure, it will contain nine lecture halls, four seating 60, two seating 120, two seating 240 and one 480.

The ground level of the building will house three studios, which will be utilized primarily in closed-circuit television instruction, associated control and office spaces as well as maintenance and mechanical areas. The third level of the building will contain audio-visual projection equipment which will be utilized in programs and teaching in the lecture halls.

Library—A three-story structure, it will have a capacity of 250,000 volumes. On the main floor will be the cataloging areas, periodical reading room, open stack reference areas, reading and reference rooms and office areas for the library staff.

The concourse level will contain the open book stacks, typing rooms, seminar room, world study center, film library, music library and book repair and bindery facilities. On the ground floor will be additional stack space, an additional seminar room, typing rooms and building maintenance facilities.

Science Facilities

The college's science facilities will be expanded by the construction of Science Building 2 which will actually become a wing of the one now being built, forming the easterly segment of the academic core.

This second science structure will include laboratories for instruction in such areas as nuclear science, earth science, general physics, crsytallogrphy and mineralogy, sedimentataion, astronomy and meteorology paleontology, geophysics, and acoustics and mechanics. In addition, the building will contain faculty and secretarical offices and a seminar room and three classrooms.

Administration Building — It will be a multi-story structure, but at the same time it is still in the preliminary design stage. However, it will contain offices for the college president, his administrative staff, business and academic, as well as two large conference rooms and related file and records storage rooms.

Infirmary—It will provide offices for the director and nurses, examination and treatment rooms, a laboratory, eight two-bed rooms, five isolation rooms, a kitchenette, two conference rooms, a medical record room and accommodations for a resident nurse.

Food Service Plan

Service Building — A two-level structure, it will be the central distribution point for the campus food service and maintenance operations. On its upper level will be baking facilities with storage and refrigeration space, a frozen food storage area, a meat processing section, vegetable storage and washing area, a dry bulk food storage room, employes' lockers and offices for the food manager.

On the lower level will be a blueprint room, repair shop and garage, paint, plumbing, electrical and carpentry shops, as well as headquarters for the service superintendent.

The new central heating plant will be adjacent to service building. The new dormitory cluster will be constructed in five 200-bed split-level units, each of which will have a main floor resident director's office and living quarters. Specific design details on the remaining buildings announced are incomplete.

PREPARING CORNERSTONE BOX—New Paltz State University College officials sort materials in preparation for depositing in the cornerstone box to be placed at the new gymnasium of the college. At the ceremony here during the five-day schedule of events at the campus are (l-r) Douglas Sheppard of the physical education department, describing a document to be placed in the box; Dr. Loren D. Campbell, chairman of the physical education division, holding box, and Dr. William J. Haggerty, college president. (Freeman photo)

Kitchen economy: The bones from a roast leg of lamb will make a good soup when it is combined with extra broth, onion, carrot, barley and seasonings.

Seizure Kills Driver, Pupils Escape Injury

MARILLA, N.Y. (AP)—Seventeen kindergarten children escaped injury Thursday when a school bus swerved off the road after the driver died of a heart attack.

Police said the bus crossed a ditch into a field. The driver was Alton Fix, 60, of Alden.

The children, pupils at Townline elementary school near this Erie County village, were examined by a physician.

None was injured, but several were "shaken up a bit," said Dr. Wilson R. Conrad, the school superintendent.

Pushes Notes Aside

Lucy Speaks From Heart in Lecture For UCLA Group

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The eminent scholar, Lucille Ball Morton, paid a visit to the University of California at Los Angeles to act as guest lecturer and present the 10th annual Samuel Goldwyn Creative Writing Award.

No Academic Robes

Instead of academic robes, she was wearing a smartly tailored suit. Before the ceremonies she donned professional-looking glasses to pore over some notes she had made on the back of a "Lucy Show" script. She was interrupted by an inquiring reporter.

"Dr. Ball, where did you matriculate?" she was asked.

"I never did that in my life," she replied indignantly.

"But where did you get your degree?"

"Oh," she said. "Well, I graduated from the Goldwyn girl line." 3

"Let's see, that was class of 19—0"

"We won't go into that."

"Just how far did you get in school?"

"Me? I never even finished night school. I couldn't wait to get into show business, and at that time show business meant vaudeville to me."

She returned to her notes, confessing a nervousness about the upcoming program.

In a few minutes she turned on the bright Lucy smile and walked onstage in the UCLA Playhouse to warm applause from the youthful audience. She mugged a bit as Goldwyn extolled her, and the students laughed at a mere flash of outsized eyes. Then she got up to deliver her address.

"I don't need these notes," she said, pushing them aside. She spoke instead from the heart, and her comments might give some testimony on what makes Lucy tick.

Enjoy the Progresses

"You students are well protected here in this wonderful university where you get the best of instruction and advice," she said. "You are surrounded by love. But I know you must be worrying about what will happen to you when you go out in the world and there will be no one to guide you and look after you.

"I think it will help if you will remember to recognize the small successes that you will have. Don't let the brightness of that big goal blind you to what happens on the way toward the goal.

"Meet one wave at a time and enjoy what progress you make. I want you please not to be taken up in the undertow of pessimism. Never lose your interest in people."

She didn't try for one laugh, but when she finished, the heartened students applauded her vigorously. She then presented the $2,000 prize to Larry H. Johnson for his play, "Remittance Man."

Just one trick to remember in making Hollandaise Sauce (so delicious with fresh asparagus!): cook the sauce over hot, not boiling, water.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Creative people—artistic people—in television are as obsolete as buggy whips," said writer Roger O. Hirson. "And now that it is being flooded with second-rate stuff, the people responsible are going to kill it the way the big studios killed movies with all the Grade B and C stuff."

Hirson is one of the comparative handful of major writing and directing talents that produced some of TV's most memorable moments, almost all of whom have quit the medium in favor of Broadway or Hollywood—Paddy Chayevsky, Tad Mosel, Horton Foote, Fred Coe and a few others. Hirson, with a Broadway show now in the works, has not written a television show for almost a year and one-half. This Sunday, however, his "Don't Go Upstairs," will be broadcast by NBC's "Show of the Week."

Hirson, who has had plenty of offers, flatly refuses to write scripts for the dramatic series, even the superior ones.

"I think that I, personally, must not use characters like Dr. Kildare and the Prestons of "The Defenders," because it involves hewing to a format. Of course, it is possible to write moving cliche stories—it is always sure-fire when you start off with a man who is going to die.

"But I believe that drama involves taking the principal character—your hero—on an emotional trip that changes him. Television series are not personal drama. Lawrence Preston never changes; nothing happens to him. Things happen always to some secondary, temporary character who disappears. But the heroes ride in on the white horse and ride out on the same white horse. Audiences know this and it keeps the audience from becoming involved—and they are never surprised. And they love to be surprised. But that is why television today is essentially anti-drama."

Hirson, a New Yorker, was an English major at Yale, worked as a newspaper reporter and—by writing at night—got into television in 1954. Among his shows were "The Weston Strain" on Studio One, "Journey to the Day" and "The Long March" on Playhouse 90 and "The Outpost," on "Show of the Week."

Lamp Contest Winner Attends C-H Event

The Industrial Arts Department at New Paltz Central School held its annual lamp building contest sponsored by Central Hudson recently. Twenty lamps were entered by students in grades 9-12.

The winning lamp was constructed by Phillip Dippel, who turned the lamp on the wood lathe. Others who placed in the contest were David Rohers, second, Jeff Ackert, third, Berger Hansen and Wayne LaTulippe, honorable mention.

May 13, Dippel was the guest of Central Hudson at a luncheon where his lamp competed in the lamp building contest sponsored by Central Hudson for schools in Ulster and Dutchess County.

Paul Kelley and Joseph Helhoski, Industrial Arts teachers accompanied Dippel to the luncheon.

Offered by Students Tutoring Service Is

The Civil Rights Study Group of the Social Science Club of State University College at New Paltz is working cooperatively with the Guidance Department of the New Paltz Central School in offering a tutoring service. This service is to be available to students having academic difficulty who would not otherwise be able to secure the services of a tutor.

All of the tutors in the group are potential teachers and are using this opportunity to supplement their education courses with the practical experiences of working with school children. They are also concerned with the availability of educational opportunity to all students regardless of race, color or socio-economic status.

Miss Judith White coordinator for the Civil Rights Study Group along with Thomas P. Benenati and Miss Barbara Berlin of the guidance department of the Central School are directing the program.

Mother-Daughter Fete

The Girls Athletic Association of the New Paltz Central High School is holding the annual mother-daughter banquet Monday, May 18.

Plans are under way for an evening of entertainment for the GAA members and their mothers. After the buffet dinner, girls will receive awards for their athletic activities and service to the organization for the past year. The officers of next year's council will also be announced. This year's senior council members will then present the entertainment program.

The banquet will be held in the school cafeteria at 6 p. m. Miss Jean Brownlee, Girls Physical Education teacher, is advisor to the Girls Athletic Association.

School Board to Meet

The regular meeting of the New Paltz Board of Education will be held Tuesday, May 19, instead of Monday, May 18.

Orientation Session

An orientation session for the sixth graders who will be entering junior high school in the fall, was held recently at the Duzine School.

Miss Barbara Berlin, guidance Junior High Ahead, to the children and explained the subjects and program that they, as seventh graders, would be following next year. Information regarding the length of the class period, time alloted for passing between classes, absences, rules and regulations, homework, report cards and co-curricular activities were but a few of the many topics discussed

A very informative question and answer period followed the presentation.

Charities Appeal Tops Last Year's Drive for Funds

Returns to date in the 1964 New York Catholic Charities Appeal are ahead of the results obtained during a similar period in last year's fund drive, it was announced Thursday by The Rt. Rev. Msgr. George H. Guilfoyle, PA, executive director.

The results thus far, including returns from 402 parishes of the Archdiocese and contributions received through the special gifts committee of the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity total $2,510,050.49, the highest amount raised at this point of the campaign in the 45-year history of the appeal.

Under the chairmanship of John A. Coleman, the Special Gifts Committee of the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity will continue throughout the year its solicitation of business and professional men. The parish appeal and the special gifts committee are the major sources of the more than $5,000,000 needed for the organization's 1964 operation.

During 1963 New York Catholic Charities and its 194 affiliated health and welfare agencies assisted over 600,000 men, women and children.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, May 15, the 136th day of 1964. There are 230 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, air mail service was inaugurated between Washington and New York. The Army Air Service turned over six planes to carry the mail and detailed six lieutenants to make daily flights.

On this date

In 1888, Belva Lockwood was nominated to run for president by the Equal Rights convention at Des Moines, Iowa; she was the first woman so honored.

In 1920, the Arlington Memorial Amphitheater was dedicated in Arlington National Cemetery.

In 1925, Gen. Nelson Miles died after a career of nearly 50 years as one of America's outstanding soldiers.

In 1942, gasoline rationing began in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia.

In 1943, U.S. heavy bombers attacked the naval base of Emden, Germany.

Ten years ago . . . Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburg arrived in London, ending a tour of British commonwealth nations.

Five years ago . . . Prime Minister Fidel Castro announced an end to military war crimes trials. with the future trials to go before civilian courts.

One year ago . . . Air Force Maj. Gordon Cooper was launched into space in a try to orbit the earth 22 times.

Today's birthdays:

Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago is 62. Film actor Joseph Cotten is 59.

Not Watered

DURBAN, Natal Province, South Africa (AP) — It was not water that suddenly began coursing down the dry bed of a stream at Edendale, near Pietermaritzburg, in the Natal Province. But a cow standing listlessly on the bank was not to know that. She took a few tentative licks — and than began drinking with extraordinary enthusiasm. The result was a hangover that lasted for days. The source of her jag? Upstream a squad of policemen had emptied nearly 3,000 gallons of moonshine into the bed of the stream.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received a letter from A. V. Sutton, of 32 Spring Street, Ilion, in which he writes: "I have just received a letter from Lester G. Clark of the Clark Lumber Co. on Washington Avenue. Mr. Clark has a story on the Rosendale mountain slide which will serve to give you a local interest angle, suggest that you call him."

Mr. Sutton also writes a column on old times and is a former resident of this section, and so suggests the following interesting subjects which he feels will interest my readers: When Mullen's Fine Cut tobacco was made on North Front Street. When the odor of the tannery bothered folks who lived near the corner of North Front Street and Washington Avenue. When dozens of two, three, and four team wagons hauled bluestone from the mountains over Washington Avenue, North Front Street and on down to the river docks. Alfred Ronder, has a fine large photograph of a tremendous piece of bluestone on the corner of North Front Street and Wall Street as I remember, near the Bernstein building, being drawn, by I think six horses. He loaned me those photographs and I remember that one picture especially.)

Mr. Sutton also mentions, when No. 11 school burned down, I think Mr. Ronder has a picture of that also. Mr. Sutton also remembers, when the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. had all their teas and coffees in open bins in their store on Wall Street. When the Ontario and Western Railroad was built, he also remembers. Perhaps old timers remember when the Esopus Creek would overflow and flood "Dutch Billy's" melon patch down on the flats?

Mr. Sutton also suggests I ask my readers about, when they had rousing camp meetings up in the Dark Woods, and when there was a toll gate out in Mutton Hollow way? He also mentions the "Lady in Black" who came out at night. In the days when children were timid, and afraid of policemen, school teachers, and their parents, often to bring them in off the street when the street lights were turned on, they were told about the "Lady in Black" roaming the streets. Mr. Sutton also mentions when the American Cigar factory on Broadway shipped Havana cigars to Cuba.

I just received another letter from Mr. Clark also, and he enclosed a letter written to him from Mr. Sutton, as these two gentlemen found a common interest through this column. Mr. Sutton's letter to Mr. Clark reads in part: "It was truly a fine gesture on your part to take the time to write and send me the clipping from The Freeman. I had written to the Rosendale Public Library for some data on the mountain cave-in but have had no reply as yet. Mrs. Foley, mentioned in the clipping, suggested that I write to Sophie Miller, and that's my story to date." Mr. Sutton is writing a story on this Rosendale mine, and will use the incident about Mr. Clark's father.

Mr. Sutton writes further to Mr. Clark: "You mentioned Fred Suppies as an old timer in Higginsville but the name is not familiar to me. My people moved to Kingston from High Falls about 1899. Our first place was at 66 Hurley Avenue, the three-story brick house just off the intersection of Taylor Street. Later we moved to the second floor of the Martin house on Taylor Street . . . Mr. Suppies will no doubt remember Bill Martin who had the Print Shop next to the Excelsior Hose Co., building." More from the interesting letters real soon.

Crime Rate Drops In Windy City

CHICAGO (AP)—Crime — of all things — is falling off in rough, tough Chicago.

And most of the credit for the dropping crime rate belongs to Police Supt. Orlando W. Wilson, 64, who says it's "all been easier than I thought it would be."

Wilson, a former dean of criminology at the University of California, is beginning his fifth year as head of the 13,000-man police department, one of the nation's largest.

When Wilson took over, some said it was also one of the most corrupt.

"I'm not going to bury my head in the sand," Wilson said in an interview Thursday. "There was a lot of corruption and graft in the department before I came.

"We had then and still have a lot of organized crime in Chicago. We haven't got it whipped yet, but we're working on it."

Last year while the nation's major crime rate rose 10 per cent, a dropoff of more than 3 per cent was recorded in Chicago.

"We've broken the trend," Wilson said, and he gives much of the credit to a host of major revamping programs.

Negro Soprano Wows Atlanta, 95 PC Whites

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Leontyne Price, who began her career in a Mississippi church choir, brought her rich soprano to Atlanta and received in her words, an "overwhelming response."

Miss Price won prolonged applause during her performance in the Metropolitan Opera's production of "Don Giovanni."

After the final curtain call, exhausted but excited, the Negro singer was besieged by dozens of admirers backstage. She received Dr. and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. and several other Negroes in her dressing room.

"I'm so thrilled," she said. "It brought tears to my eyes."

King, Southern integration leader, told the soprano: "You will never know what you did for Atlanta. I was so thrilled at at the response. This was a genuine expression of appreciation—and about 95 per cent of the audience was white."

Miss Price told King and his group that she enjoyed her Atlanta debut tremendously.

"It is my first visit but I assure you not my last," she said.

Half an hour after the performance, more than 30 persons waited outside the theater for a glimpse of the soprano whose voice had captivated them.

The audience burst into thunderous and prolonged applause after Miss Price's first lengthy solo in the first act and repeated the acclaim after intermission when the soprano's rare quality obliterated everything else.

It seemed clear that the audience, composed mostly of Atlanta's white elite, agreed for the moment with Miss Price's credo that "singing is the only important thing in the world."

Miss Price's previous appearances in the South have been before integrated audiences in her hometown of Laurel, Miss. where she was warmly received.

One Plant Difference

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Just one tomato plant separates the professional grower from the amateur in Thomasville.

The dividing line was decided Thursday in preparing regulations for the first annual tomato fair June 19.

If you grow up to 49 plants you're an amateur. If you grow 50 or more you're a pro.

High Motivation Among Them

Cuban Refugees Glad For Training in U.S.

By JOE MCKNIGHT

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP)—Fernando A. Mata speaks English reasonably well but has trouble reading it.

Roberto Ravelo can understand English better than he speaks it.

Dr. Jose Morell, like all his fellow Cubans here, hopes some day to return to his island nation.

The three are among 25 Cubans taking part in a high-level rehabilitation program at Kansas State Teachers College. All were professionals in law, medicine or education before fleeing Fidel Castro's regime.

Different requirements and standards prevent them from continuing their chosen careers. So they came to the campus from Miami, Fla., last February to begin preparing for new professions.

After a year of academic training — including summer school—they expect to become teachers or library workers in this country.

The Cubans say they are happy and grateful for another chance at a career. The group —which with families numbers 76—keeps one common thought, to return some day to Cuba.

Mata and Jose Amaro, both working for temporary teacher certificates, were observers being observed in a junior high social studies class of a public laboratory schoool operated by the college.

Mata, a junior high school teacher in Cuba for 21 years, is impressed by the difference in teaching methods.

"I like the active social groups here," he said. "It helps develop the student. In Cuba the traditional system of teaching is used."

"There is very high motivation and industry among them as students," said Dr. Robert McAdo, a professor of education and faculty advisor for 18 of the Cubans.

Dr. Robert Lee, director of the department of library education, reported a high degree of enthusiasm among the seven students studying for library work. All of the group, he said, mingle well with the approximately 5,000 students enrolled here.

A cooperative arrangement between the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the National Defense Education Act and grants from private and religious groups makes the retraining possible.

Are in Demand

"These Cubans, like most older students, are more serious in their studies," said Dr. McAdo. "They know what they want.

"One of the big problems we've had is in handling requests for them to make personal appearances at civic clubs. They've been in real demand all over the state."

Each family, depending on size, draws $230 to $353 a month while in school.

Former Senate Employe Appeals Contempt Jailing

NEW YORK (AP)—James O. Hoyle, former legislative consultant to the New York Senate, has been released in $1,000 bail pending his appeal from a six-month jail sentence for criminal contempt.

Seate Supreme Court Justice Gerald P. Culkin granted the bail late Thursday when Hoyle announced he would appeal on the ground that the sentence was excessive.

The sentence was imposed earlier in the day by Chief Criminal Court Judge John M. Murtagh. Hoyle had pleaded guilty last month in the case, which involved legislation to license chiropractors.

Hoyle, 63, of Albany, was dismissed from his senate job when he pleaded guilty.

The case against Holye was an outgrowth of his testimony before a Manhattan grand jury about a $2,000 check he received from an insurance man, Anthony Mignone. The grand jury accused Hoyle of both perjury and contempt. His plea of guilty to the contempt count covered all the charges.

Some Progress Is Noted

'Gringo' Brains Are Bringing Tax Reforms to Latin Nations

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Latins long have been known for their reluctance to pay taxes. But "gringo" electronic brains are helping bring about needed tax reforms in Latin America.

So far there have been no reports of demonstrators carrying signs "Yankee computers go home," but officials in Caracas, Venezuela, claim their electronic brain has been occasionally sabotaged by conservative-minded civil servants.

Rely on Indirect Levies

Nowhere in Latin America do tax collections approach the efficiency of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, but progress is being made.

A recent report from the Alliance for Progress said tax systems still are characterized by a high reliance on indirect levies falling heavily on low- and middle-income groups; a lack of adequate real estate taxes; and tax evasion costing some governments close to 50 per cent of their potential public revenue.

The goals were set forth by the Organization of American States.

In the charter of Punta del Este, the hemispheric nations pledged: "To reform tax laws, demanding more from those having most, to punish tax evasion severely, and to redistribute the national income in order to benefit those who are most in need."

The idea is to improve standards of living, which is seen as a weapon in the war against communism.

Reviews of existing tax structures have been completed in Costa Rica and Guatemala as part of an over-all study to harmonize tax laws.

Mexican Laws Best

Reports on Panama, Colombia, Ecuador and Uruguay are to be published this year.

Next in line is providing trained personnel and proper equipment to carry out tax programs. It is here that the Latin-American nations are turning to sophisticated electronic brains to help oversee their programs.

Mexican tax laws probably are the strictest—and the best enforced — in Latin America. There were no evasion penalties before 1961. Now tax evasion can bring an $800 fine, and false registration a six - year prison term.

When President Adolfo Lopez Mateos' government began its tax drive in 1961, only 700,000 persons were on tax rolls. Today, well over four million are registered and the figure may reach seven million this year, about 20 per cent of Mexico's estimated population.

No Deductions

A prime complaint of the Mexican system is failure to provide deductions. A family man and a bachelor pay the same tax on equal earnings.

Venezuela's Finance Ministry has obtained help from U.N. and U.S. advisers. Penalties are light, loopholes are many in the country's tax law. Oil and iron ore taxes and royalties paid by foreign firms account for 60 per cent of the national revenue.

Peru, which had a notoriously inefficient tax system, has also found relief in use of an electronic brain. With the machine's help, each taxpayer is being numbered.

A Colombian tax reform program was begun last year under auspices of the OAS. A data processing system soon will complete the country's new withholding system and help in tracking down evaders.

The new Brazilian government is drawing up a tax reform bill which, among other things, will make nonpayment of taxes a crime punishable by imprisonment.

Chile adopted a tax bill early this year and steeply increased taxation.

Argentine President Arturo Illia said in his May 1 state of the nation address, "our income tax collections are running behind in terms of real value. There must be reforms."

50 PC Evasion

Argentina estimates income tax evasion runs more than 50 per cent, and blames this on the steep income tax.

An example of the widespread evasions was seen last year when the government allowed what was called "whitewashing of capital."

Persons or firms who had income or capital which had not been declared and on which taxes had not been paid were permitted to declare the amounts and pay a one-time 5 to 10 per cent tax without penalty, with up to eight months to pay.

The result was almost $2 billion worth of capital declared by some 485,000 individuals and firms. At least half had never before been on the income tax rolls.

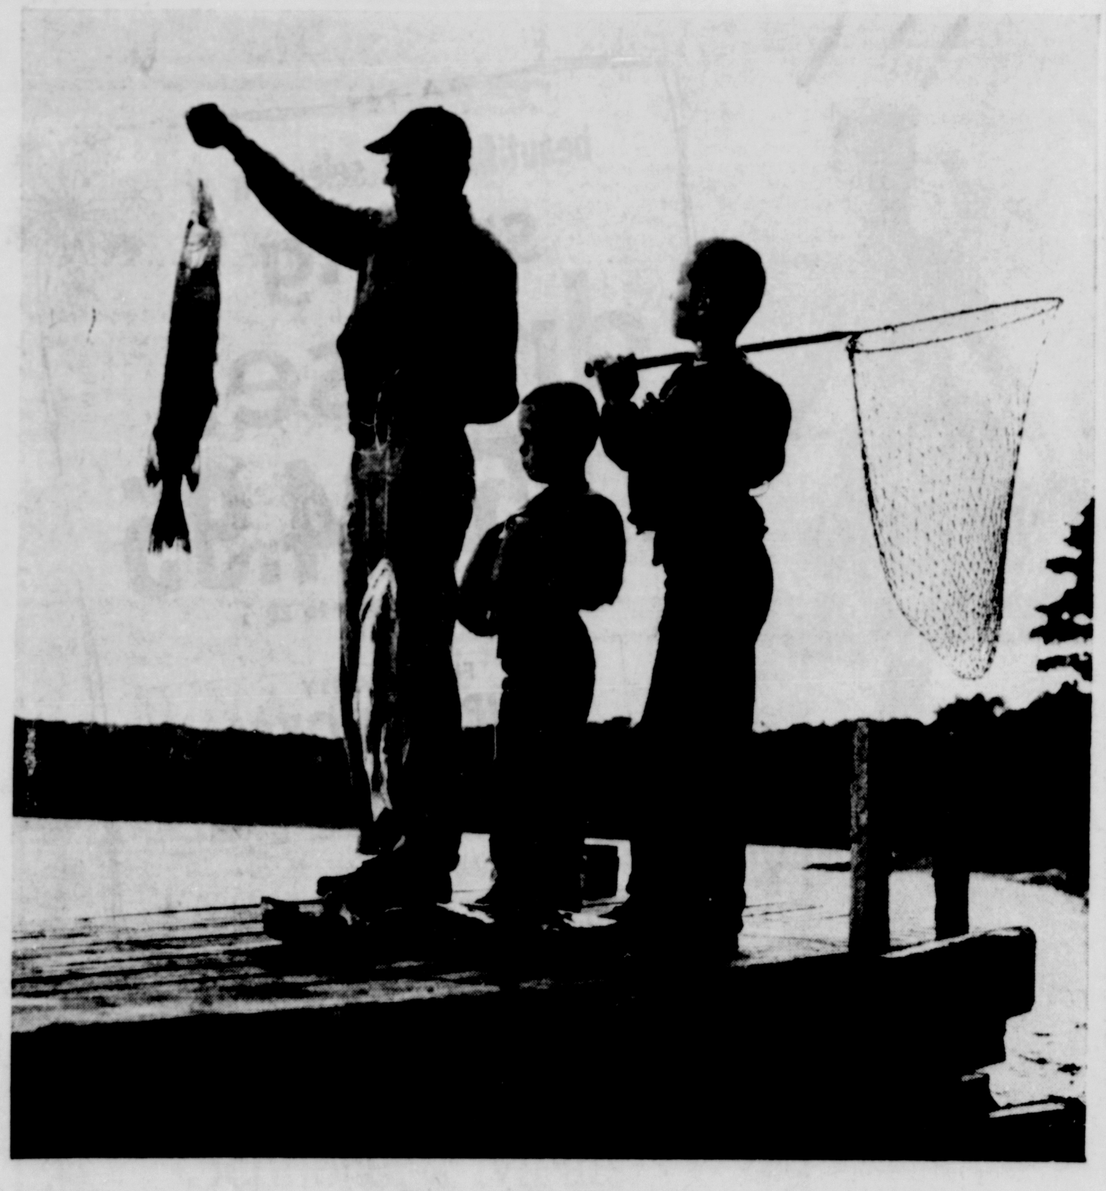

Re-Worked Rockets

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Thor missiles, 60 of which were stationed in Great Britain as a stopgap measure until the United States developed intercontinental range rockets, are being converted for use as space boosters.

Why We Say--

COMB HEMP: This word, which means to tease, has an interesting background. It originally meant to comb hemp or wool. In this action the hemp had to be pulled apart with an instrument called a "hackle." In the 16th century the pulling apart of the hemp by the hackle was figuratively compared to the action of someone passing "cutting" remarks or "heckling."

MAY BRIDE WEAR STRAPLESS DRESS?

Q: My wedding dress is white satin and lace. That is, the underneath dress is a white lace strapless evening dress with a white satin jacket over it. It was made this way purposely so that the underdress could be worn separately as an evening dress. Would it be proper to remove the jacket at the reception which is taking place at an evening hour?

A: The jacket should definitely not removed. A bride in a strapless dress would be in very bad taste.

Doesn't Wish Presents

Q: When I was graduated from high school, many people to whom I sent announcements gave me gitfs. Now that I am graduating from college I would like to notify friends and relatives but I do not want them to feel that they have to send a gift. Would it be proper to include a request for no presents?

A: To include, "No gifts, please" on graduation announcements would be unusual and unnecessary since they carry no obligation to send presents. If, however, from past experience, you think your friends will do so, you may include this phrase on your announcements.

Passing Friends Talking Together

Q: When encountering two friends who are talking together, is it proper to say "hello" or to pass them by without a word? I don't think it is right to ignore them but a friend of mine says it is rude to interupt their conversation.

A: If you catch the eye of either of them you naturally smile and say "hello," but if they are engrossed in conversation and do not notice you, you do not interupt their conversation to say "hello."

Ulster Garden Club Wins Founders Fund Award Totaling $3,000; Planning Festival

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The Ulster Garden Club of Kingston, N.Y., today received the $3,000 Founders Fund Award from the Garden Club of America.

The check was presented at the conclusion of the club's 51st annual convention. The club makes the award each year to assist one of its clubs in a restoration or conservation effort.

The Ulster Club will use the money to restore the colonial Garden surrounding the Senate House in Kingston. The Senate House was the first meeting place of New York's Senate during the Revolutionary War days.

The following information has also been received by The Freeman from the club.

In keeping with its program of maintaining the gardens at the Senate House, and the Academy Green in Kingston, the club is planning a "Country Festival." It will be held on Saturday, June 20 from 1-8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Jay A. LeFevre, Old Fort Road, New Paltz.

The festival will feature booths of all types. There will be also plants, ready for the garden, a gourmet corner, a boutique featuring a variety of gifts and a unique silent auction.

A feature of the day will be a tour of the house where flower arrangements will be shown and refreshments served on the patios.

Mrs. Kenneth Davenport is general chairman of the festival and in charge of the boutique. She is assisted by the following chairmen: silent auction, Mrs. Jay LeFevre; plants, Mrs. Frank Johnston; gourmet corner, Mrs. Sherman Hasbrouck; flower arrangements, Mrs. Philip LeFevre; refreshments, Mrs. Conrad J. Gross; tickets, Mrs. Burton Davis; publicity, Mrs. Robert Russell, Mrs. Robert F. Moseley.

Tickets may be obtained from members after May 26.

Spring Concert Will Be Given at RVCS This Saturday Night

The Rondout Valley Central School Choral Department will present a spring concert Saturday evening at 8 in the Rondout Valley High School auditorium. Featured groups will be the Marbletown Fifth and Sixth Grade Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Jean Russak; the Combined Kerhonkson and Accord Chorus under the direction of Donald Lepore; the Junior and Senior Choirs directed by Mrs. Barbara Lottridge.

Senior Choir will present Choral selections from "Oklahoma," highlights from "The Pirates of Penzance," "Tonight," "Consider Yourself," "Star Dust" and "Go Down the Wishin' Road."

The final selection called "Let's Sing the Old Songs" is a group of members which includes several familiar songs for audience participation. It is hoped that all will enjoy singing along with the slides.

Soloist Elaine Jacobson will sing "O Mio Babbino," Puccini. Christina Gorham will do "Un Bel Di" from "Madame Butterfly," Puccini. Other special numbers are planned by the Junior Girls' Ensemble, Senior Girls' Ensemble, Boys' Ensemble, and by Charlene Strong and Christine Benton

Accompanists will be David Feinberg, Marsha Green and Arnold Weintraub. Tickets may be purchased from any choir member or at the door.

Famous Last Words

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) — For three hours, the speakers discussed the pros and cons of a flood control project proposed for mountainous Harlan County. "I think it is improbable we'll have another flood like 1963 . . ." said one speaker. He stopped short as a loud clap of thunder echoed through the room and the rain poured outside. It turned out to be only a spring shower.

Art Treasures, Collected by Such Notables As Mrs. Roosevelt, Rescued From Warehouse

An art collection worth several million dollars has gathered dust, forgotten, in a Brooklyn warehouse for more than 20 years.

Composed of reproductions of paintings by Renoir, Picasso, Van Gogh and scores of other world renowned artists, the collection was gathered in 1937 by a voluntary national committee for art appreciation.

One of the prime forces on that committee was Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt whose dream it was to make great art available to the American people at a price within the range of everyone.

More than $1,000,000 was spent on the project and 3,000,000 prints were made. Then, for some unknown reason, the project was abandoned.

The prints were stored and forgotten. More than 20 years later, E. Joseph Cossman of Los Angeles, Calif., followed up a chance remark made during a business luncheon.

He found the prints in the Brooklyn warehouse — packed and sealed. He had them examined by art experts and modern found to be in perfect condition.

And now, through the efforts of Cossman, the original purpose of the 1937 committee is being realized. The prints are now being made available to the public at a very low price.

Mr. Cossman has made some portfolios available to the Society Editor of The Freeman for distribution to schools of her choice.

In making the presentations this week, Mrs. Narel said: "I wanted to make sure these portfolios went to people who are not interested in art, but who would make the best possible educational use of them."

Complete sets will be distrubuted nationally by Mr. Cossman and his company, Mrs. Narel learned. Each set is made up of four portfolios and each portfolio contains nine full color, high fidelity reproductions of artwork of five centuries.

Each portfolio also contains an informative and authoritative art appreciation course that covers the entire history of art and artists.

The schools Mrs. Narel has selected to receive a portfolio include the following:

Onteora Central School System, Ulster County Community College, Saugerties Central School System.

John Wood Awarded Rutgers Scholarship

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.— John Wood of Cottekill, N. Y., standout in track at Rondout Valley Central High School, has accepted an Alumni Scholarship to Rutgers University, it was announced by Dean of Student Affairs Earle W. Clifford, chairman of the University's Scholarship Committee.

The scholarship is tenable for four years provided the recipient maintains a satisfactory standing. It is made available from funds contributed by Rutgers graduates to the annual Rutgers Fund Campaign.

Wood participated in track and cross country, serving as captain in the latter sport. Also, he was student councilor, class officer, sports editor of his school paper and active in a number of clubs.

At New Jersey's State University, he plans to study engineering.

The scholarship is based on the following qualifications: literary and scholastic ability and achievement; participation in school and community activities; qualities of manhood, force of character and leadership.

Bright, Lavish Show Enjoyed Last Night; Kingstonians Watch 'Boys From Syracuse'

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

The program states that "The Boys from Syracuse" is based on Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors," but whatever its origin, it is certainly about the liveliest and most uproariously funny production to hit town. It was given last night in Community Theatre.

The spicy tale of the wrong twin brother being reluctantly drawn into a connubial relation with his brother's unsuspecting wife, is complete with Rodgers and Hart favorite hit songs, top notch comedy actors, even some very exuberant dance routines.

Those who missed this production, missed an evening of sheer relaxation and fun — and who doesn't need that?

"The Boys from Syracuse" is considered one of the classics of American musical comedy. It's one of those plays you can enjoy, over and over again. It's light, gay, spirited, entertaining.

It's one thing to listen to the musical score on a recording and quite another to watch the actors and actresses paint their own interpretations into the music and lyrics.

Marcie Stringer, with her beribboned braids and portly attire, brought the house down several times with her hilarious lines. Martin Ross as her husband and servant to one of the twins, was a complete delight. His counterpart, Ralph McWilliams, was equally as funny and a finer pair of actors would be difficult to find.

Portraying the other set of twins were handsome John Smolko and Chet Sommers.

You will enjoy thoroughly the female leads in this production and if you have a chance to catch the show elsewhere, put it on your date list because the performance by Fatima, played by Myrna Charles, is hysterically funny.

"The Boys From Syracuse" was a Dick Weaver production presented by the National Performing Arts, Inc., in association with Len Bedsow and Hal Grossman.

Weekend at Wendy Slated by Kingston Troops May 15-16

Girl Scouts of the Kingston District, Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts will be putting the out-back in Scouting this weekend May 15-16 as they participate in the Cadette-Junior Weekend at Camp Wendy.

One Senior Troop, seven Cadette Girl Scout Troops will arrive at camp Friday evening and stay overnight. They will be joined by five Junior Girl Scout Troops who will spend Saturday with the older Scouts.

The Girl Scouts have been preparing for this weekend for some time by studying outdoor skills at troop meetings and having joint meetings and workshops with other troops.

Plans for the weekend include a bag lunch for Friday night arrivals, and a campfire hootenanny after their tents have been prepared for the night. Each girl will assist in the preparation of breakfast in patrol groups Saturday morning. While awaiting the arrival of the Junior Troops on Saturday morning Senior Girl Scouts will prepare a nature trail for the other Scouts to find. At this time the Cadette Troops will be occupied in service projects suggested by the camp committee to prepare the camp for the summer season. After lunch their will be games and fun for the entire group until 4 p. m. departure time.

Troops participating are Senior Troop 131, St. James Church, Mrs. Reynolds Van Keuren, leader; Cadette Troop 29, Hurley, Mrs. Bruce Stout; Troop 40, St. Joseph's Church, Mrs. David Ennis, leader; Troop 51, Port Ewen, Mrs. Harry Hults, assistant leader; Troop 60, Lake Katrine, Mrs. John Schlegel, leader; Troop 98, Fair Street Reformed, Mrs. Horace Brown, leader; Troop 105, St. Mary's, Mrs. Frank Graney, leader.

South Swindles to Make Game

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Ernie Rovere, who writes books about bridge, points out that South really should have raised his partner to four hearts and that North would probably have managed to collect 12 tricks at that contract. All he would have to do would be to set up dummy's clubs for two diamond discards.

However, South did bid three no-trump and West opens the five of diamonds. South has to struggle along and he is not all happy.

There is no point holding up a diamond. He will have to win the second trick anyway. The holding will merely give away his weakness, so South takes the first diamond.

He can cash five hearts and hope for diamond discards, but the opponents have plenty of spades to throw away so that idea should be abandoned.

Then how is South going to make his ninth trick?

Maybe he can try a little deception.

South leads the ace of hearts at trick two and the king of hearts at trick three. Then he plays the king of spades.

East may decide that South is trying to set up that queen of spades as an entry to dummy's hearts and duck, whereupon South will be able to make nine tricks after all. Or, if South wants to try for 10, he can lead the jack of spades also and maybe get away with a second spade trick.

Woman Injured In Area May 4 Taken to W. Va.

A West Virginia physician's wife, who was injured in a traffic accident at Stone Ridge on May 4, has been transferred from Benedictine Hospital to Beckley Memorial Hospital, Beckley, W. Va.

Mrs. Marjorie Luscombe, 59, wife of Dr. Harold Luscombe, 58, of Beckley, suffered severe back injuries. She was taken from the local hospital Wednesday to the Beckley hospital by Doctor's ambulance, according to Gilbert Gray.

The accident occurred on the morning of May 4 in front of the Marbletown Reformed Church. A bus operated by Gilbert Turner, 58, of Wawarsing, had stopped the vehicle to allow a passenger to alight, and Dr. Luscombe stopped his car behind the bus.

Trooper Fred Cooper of the Kingston sub-station, who investigated the accident, reported at the time that a pickup truck driven by Deroy Miller, of Stone Ridge, collided with the physician's car, which subseqently hit the bus.

Dr. Luscombe and his wife were taken to Benedictine Hospital by George J. Moylan's ambulance of Rosendale. The physician suffered minor injuries. Miller received lacerations of the mouth and lips. Troopers said he was issued a summons for following to close.

Orange County Man Built Muckland Into Onion Empire

WARWICK, N. Y. (AP) —On the strength of the onion and a foundation of fertile muckland, Vincent Kosuga has built an empire of more than a score of varied businesses.

"It has been a grind since 1937, when I bought 12½ acres of muck with a $100 down-payment," the 48-year old, ruddy-faced son of a Polish immigrant told a reporter.

Now he owns 1,500 acres in the heart of the Orange County vegetable belt.

Top Onion Grower

Kosuga believes he is the largest individual onion and celery-grower in the United States, grossing $5 million annually. He raised 650 acres of onions, mostly yellow globes; plus 300 acres of celery and 125 of lettuce. He also finances the crops of several other farmers.

Kosuga paid about $400 an acre for his first land, near where his father had farmed. Now the land is worth $1,000 to $1,700 an acre, he says.

The onions — and celery and lettuce — also have helped finance a truck and produce brokerage, a motor speedway, car wash, dry-cleaning plant and construction business at Middletown; a construction firm at Branchville, N.J.; an import-export company in New York City, and a butchering company at Wayne, N.J.

At Pine Island, Kosuga built a $60,000 water system, sells house lots and builds homes. He operates a public garage, a section of which he rents to Uncle Sam for Pine Island's postoffice.

Started in Wallkill Valley

Kosuga's first crop was lettuce. He said he pioneered in the Wallkill River Valley with a western, firm - headed iceburg type. He obtained 10 pounds of seeds, and he and Mrs. Kosuga counted the number of seeds in an ounce to determine how many heads they might expect.

Kosuga has no managers and no partners except his wife.

"I supervise everything myself, often working from 3 a.m. to dark," he said.

The short, energetic one-time truck-driver directs all planting, culture and harvesting, makes all marketing decisions and handles all sales.

He also introduces new menu items, cooks and bakes bread for the restaurant.

"He enjoys cooking," said Mrs. Kosuga.

The Kosugas' modest house overlooks fields, huge onion storage houses, equipment sheds and camps for his peak-time 200 migrant workers.

Neighbors and competitors attribute much of Kosuga's growth to his willingness to experiment, to mechanize and automate.

He first used old poultry crates to pack his vegetables. Since then he has pioneered in the area in bulk storage plants, vacuum coolers into which 45-foot loaded trailers are driven before heading for market, and motorized "mule trains," which move into the fields and from which workers pick, wash, pack and load lettuce and celery.

"You have to keep up with the times," Kosuga says simply.

Tours Sea Home

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter Thursday toured the 40-foot long capsule he will call home for eight days beneath the sea.

Sealab 1, a 62,000-pound capsule under construction at the U.S. Navy Mine Defense Laboratory, will be submerged near Bermuda in July. Carpenter and four other Navy men will enter the capsule on the 13th day of its 21-day stay 200 feet below the surface.

The Sealab project will test man's ability to live at the ocean bottom, eventually for as long as 30 days.

3 Crewmen Die, 4 Injured as Freights Crash

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP)—Three crewmen were killed and four injured when two Pennsylvania Railroad freight trains crashed headon Thursday on a single track branch line near this Ontario County community.

The trains - one going north with 48 cars, the other heading south with 114—each carried six crewmen.

The dead, all from the northbound train, were engineer James Golden of Elmira, brakeman Carl Cylvick of Elmira and George Reid of Williamsport, Pa., also a brakeman. Golden was a brother of the Elmira police chief.

The injured are Michael Moda of Williamsport, Pa., fireman on the northbound train; and Cleveland Russell of Rome, Pa., and William Bruhl of Grandville Summit, Pa., both of whom were crewmen on the southbound train.

The three were taken to a hospital at Clifton Springs and were reported in satisfactory condition. A fourth crewman was treated and released.

Plunge Into Ravine

Two of the six locomotives pulling the two trains plunged down a 50-foot ravine into Flint Creek. About 17 freight cars were turned upside down, lay on their sides or were split open.

The crash occurred on the Pennsylvania's Sodus Bay Branch, near the hamlet of Orleans.

In an unconfirmed report, state police said a crewman told them that a switch signal at Stanley did not work, placing the trains on the same track. A railroad spokesman said a thorough investigation was under way.

Rounding Curve

The trains collided as they were rounding a blind curve, W. J. Smith of Elmira, firemen on the southbound train, said. There was no whistle signal and neither train could stop in time, he said.

Smith said the southbound train was traveling about 25 miles an hour. The speed of the other train was not known.

Railroad officials said the southbound train carried 110 empty cars and four loaded ones. The northbound train was hauling 47 loaded cars and a disabled diesel unit.

King Would Top LBJ's Proposal on War on Poverty

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. plans to take to President Johnson a proposal for a far more gigantic attack on poverty than the President has proposed—a "bill of rights for the disadvantaged."

The Negro leader, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said today his plan would immediately transform the conditions of Negro life—as well as conditions for millions of indigent white persons.

"I don't see any possibility of bringing the Negro into the mainstream of American life without some type of compensatory consideration to make up for all the things he has been deprived of," King said in an interview.

"Economists concerned with poverty feel we could do it with about $15 billion," King said. "The President has proposed something over $9 million, which is only a beginning.

"I plan to discuss it with the President in a month or so as a concrete proposal after it has been worked out more thoroughly."

Military Chaplains Parley

Twenty thousand military chaplains will be represented in Chicago next week when the Military Chaplains Association of America holds its annual convention at the Sherman House, May 19-21. The theme of the meeting is "Unity — Its Problems and Promises." Representing the military chaplains who have served or are serving in America's armed forces and in the Veterans Administration, the MCA meeting will present a stellar group of religious and lay authorities in learned discussion of how unity may be achieved in international and national affairs, in the world of religion, and in the military services.

Albany Man Elected

Garman succeeded Carl Greiner of Binghamton.

Others elected Thursday night at the group's 35th annual meeting were:

Harold Ranger Jr. of Hornell, vice president; Andrew Parry of Utica, secretary; Merle Bement Jr., of Buffalo, treasurer; Hubert Goodrich, Binghamton, Ralph Destephano, Rochester, Thomas Butler, Elmira and Greiner, directors.

The meeting ends Saturday.

Khanh Abolishes Buddhist Curbs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Khanh signed a decree today officially recognizing the Buddhist Church in South Viet Nam and abolishing restrictions imposed on the faith by the French and the Ngo Dinh Diem regime.

The decree abrogated a holdover decree from the French regime in Indochina, which gave the Roman Catholic Church favored treatment. That decree sparked Buddhist demonstrations last summer which Diem harshly repressed, a major factor in his overthrow.

The new decree permits the Buddhist Church to own property and accept legacies. Under the old decree the Buddhist Church was not allowed to own property outside its pagodas and accept legacies. The Catholics were permitted both.

Put Own House In Order, Two Advise Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican congressmen, who visited six tenant families on Alabama land owned by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, called Thursday for President Johnson to "put your houses in order" before preaching an antipoverty program.

The two, Reps. Dave Martin of Nebraska and M. G. Snyder of Kentucky, said they visited Mrs. Johnson's property in Autauga County last weekend at the expense of the Republican Congressional Committee.

"We saw people living in deplorable poverty, with little evidence of concern by their millionaire landlords," Snyder said.

"If I owned property like that," Martin said, "I would believe it was my moral obligation to build decent housing."

The White House said Wednesday that several elderly families occupy tenant houses on Mrs. Johnson's land.

Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary, told reporters Mrs. Johnson inherited 2,800 acres occupied at one time by some 20 tenant families, most of whom have moved to cities or died.

"Mrs. Johnson's lawyers advisd her several years ago to put all 2,800 acres of Alabama land into the money crop—pine trees," Mrs. Carpenter said. "But she did not do so, preferring to let the remainingly elderly families, who occupy three houses there, to stay. They pay $5 a month rent and use some of the land to raise cotton and corn.

"Most of the families are very elderly and have no place to go. They want to stay there. She is really making it possible for them to live out their days at $5 a month and she sends them boxes of clothes."

Both Martin and Snyder, members of the House Education and Labor Committee, told a news conference they oppose the antipoverty bill now before the committee.

Florida Couple Killed

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) —A Florida couple, driving to Canada to visit relatives, were killed Friday when their automobile veered across the State Thruway and slammed into an oncoming truck, State Police reported.

Police identified them as Jay Protas, 66, of Sarasota, Fla., and his wife, Helen, 45.

State Police said they were driving to Hamilton, Ont., to visit Mrs. Protas' parents. They have a son and daughter in Brooklyn.

Heaviest Losses Yet

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Western military sources say some 300 men of the right-wing army were killed or wounded in a battle with pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces in a remote jungle near the border with Communist North Viet Nam.

Some 300 to 400 anti-Commmunist Meo tribesmen also were reported killed.

If confirmed, it would be the largest number of casualties in a single engagement of the Laotian civil war. Battle casualties in the dozens have been the rule.

AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE: Harry Simon (right) director of the Onteora Symphonic High School band accepts the New York State Music Association A-6 Plaque Award from Watson I. Goodrich, Jr., assistant to the superintendent for general administration of the Onteora Central Schools District. This is the seventh consecutive year the Onteora band has won this significant award. Two years ago, Simon was awarded the Kingston Newspaper Guild's Page One Award in music for his fine record in music education.

Highest Rating Again Accorded Onteora HS Band

The Onteora High School Symphonic Band has been notified that it received the highest rating that may be attained in New York State, A-6, at the music competition held Saturday, May 9 at the Cobleskill High school in Cobleskill.

The 80 piece band, under the direction of Harry Simon, received an "A" rating in grade six music. The annual competition is sponsored by the New York State School Music Association.

This makes the seventh consecutive year that the Onteora Symphonic Band has attained the highest possible rating in the state.

The rating plan used in adjudicating bands, as presented in the New York State School Music Association Manual is as follows: Grade six music is intended for organizations of symphonic caliber. Music in grade six will meet the standards expected from the largest schools in the state with the largest enrollments. This grade is recommended for schools with excellent music organizations. "A" is to be considered an outstanding performance. Selected music is divided into six grade levels. For each grade of music a group may receive an A, B, C, or D. The highest any group can possibly receive is "A" in grade six music.

Judges at the Cobleskill Competition were H. Stanley Robards, Syracuse, and John Wilkie, Rye, both prominent New York state music educators. Lawrence Bunney was the New York State School Music Association Representative.

The Onteora Symphonic Band prepared the following numbers: "Mount of Might" concert march by Eric Osterling; "Suite of Old American Dances" by Robert Russell Bennett; "Pageant" By Vincent Persichetti and "Symphonic Suite" by Clifton Williams.

The band was marked in 36 different categories and received 32 A's out of a possible total of 36. In the numerical scoring the band received 236 out of a possible total of 240 points.

Some of the comments made by the adjudicators about the concert march "Mount of Might" were: "Good control, good dynamic contrast, good spirit, a good sound.

The judges had this to say about "Pageant" by Vincent Persichetti; "A good ensemble sound, good start, good brass entrance, nice flute phrasing, this is a fine work done in very good fashion, your percussion section does well and does not get carried away, fine work, a fine job."

Concerning the final number "Symphonic Suite" by Clifton Williams the judges commented: "well controlled sound and rhythm, fine work, good conducting, I'm very impressed, this is a fine, well trained band. Congratulations to both the Onteora Band and its conductor."

Seven consecutive A-6 awards has made the Onteora High School Band gain so in stature that today it is considered as one of the most outstanding high school bands in New York state.

Bazaar Group Makes Report

The bazaar committee of Woodstock Fire Company No. 4 (Zena), headed by R. Mellert, has scheduled a meeting Monday, May 18, at 7:30 p. m. to discuss purchasing of prizes for the various booths. Plans for the bazaar are progressing smoothly, it was announced.

A water pump was donated to the company by Belmont Towbin and a committee was appointed to install it as soon as possible. John Cutler is chairman of the committee which also includes Bob Oberkirk and Chris Donoghue.

Robert Nelson, industrial representative for the boy scout troop being sponsored by the fire company, announced that a special meeting will be held Wednesday, May 20, at 8 p. m. in the Zena fire house. All interested parents and friends of Zena and the surrounding areas are invited to attend to discuss formation of the scout troop. A representative of the Rip Van Winkle Council will be present to explain and answer any questions concerning scouting.

Wiltwyck Steel Band Appears at Bennett

The Wiltwyck School Steel Band under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Moncure of Woodstock recently entertained at the Reginald Bennett School in Boiceville.

The band consisted of steel drums, bongos and other percussion instruments. The boys played many numbers, some well known as "Blue Moon" and "When the Saints Go Marching In" and other songs not so well known. The concert was greatly enjoyed by the students.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Virginia Anderson, chairman of the P-TA Cultural Arts Committee.

Registration Dates Set for Kindergarten

Kindergarten registration for the Onteora Central Schools will be held on Saturday, May 16, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon at the Bennett School, Boiceville, and the West Hurley School, West Hurley, and from 1-4 p. m. at the Woodstock School, Woodstock.

A child must be five years old by December 1, 1964 in order to be eligible to enter kindergarten in September, 1964.

Parents should bring the child's birth certificate and completed health history form when they register on Saturday.

Phys Ed Demonstration Slated at Woodstock

A physical education demonstration will be held at the Woodstock elementary school Wednesday, May 20, from 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. Due to lack of space the audience will be limited to adults only.

The demonstration will show class work as well as more advanced activity worked out by students in the special after school physical education program. This program, conducted twice weekly, is under the supervision of their physical education instructor, Andrew Shekitka.

Card Speaks Well Of Area Resorts

There is no longer any doubt about what some people think of Kingston and Ulster County as far as tourism is concerned, according to information released by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce office today.

To start with, a postcard was received at the Chamber of Commerce office merely addressed, "Tourist Paradise," Kingston, N. Y. On the other side was this message, "Please send brochures or material on your cabins, rates and explicit directions from New York. You were highly recommended by a former vacationer. Any information greatly appreciated."

This is only one of hundreds of similar letters and cards received. Information on hand, including a list of members in the hotel, resort hotel and motel business, as well as a classified directory and a Kingston Brochure, are mailed out in answer to this type of inquiry. When available the new Ulster County directory being prepared by the Valley Advertising Agency also will be distributed.

Japan Backs Call

TOKYO (AP)—Japan agreed today to back Premier Khrushchev's call for a joint offensive to ban all nuclear weapon tests—provided the Soviets accept an adequate inspection system.

Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda spelled out Japan's position to Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, who brought Khrushchev's proposal when he arrived Thursday for a two-week visit.

Mikoyan did not comment on Japan's insistence on inspection safeguards, which is similar to the position of the Western powers with which the Soviet Union has refused to agree.

Rookie Cop Is Killed in Crash

WAYLAND, N.Y. (AP) — A patrol car, driven by a rookie policeman and carrying two truck-drivers who were under arrest, crashed into a tree today in this Steuben County village. The policeman was killed and the truckers injured, one seriously.

Police said Patrolman Charles E. Rose, 36, a member of the Wayland Police Department for five weeks, had been responding to an accident call. He was married and the father of two.

The truck-drivers, who had been arrested on charges of violating a traffic law, were awaiting bail, State Police said. Troopers said they had not determined why they were in the patrol car.

Willard Caskey, 40, of Iron Station, N.C., one of the drivers, was reported on the danger list at Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester. He suffered internal and head injuries and a fractured leg.

The other driver, Elburn Christy, 31, of Kannapolis, N.C., was reported in fair condition at Wayland Hospital. He suffered head and chest injuries.

SF Loses, Mays Goes Hitless; HR Happy Twins May Trade

Late Rally Pins 3-2 Loss on Shaw; Mets Win, 12-4

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Say Hey, look what Bob Bruce did!

Bruce held Willie Mays hitless for the first time in 21 games, setting the San Francisco slugger down four times Thursday night and slicing Mays' average 19 points to .449 as the Houston Colts defeated the National League-leading Giants 4-3.

It was the first time Mays had been held hitless since April 16, when he was stopped by St. Louis' Curt Simmons in the third game of the season.

While Mays was having his first difficult night in almost a month, the Los Angeles Dodgers swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 6-4 in 10 innings and 5-0, but ace left-hander Sandy Koufax again failed to turn in a strong performance.

Koufax was unable to finish for the third straight game and was clipped for four runs in four innings of the opener. Don Drysdale, however, turned in a brilliant effort in the nightcap for the Dodgers, winning his fifth straight complete game with a four-hitter for a 5-1 record.

Elsewhere, Richie Allen homered in the seventh inning for Philadelphi's 3-2 victory over St. Louis and the Ne[illegible] Mets drubbed Milwau[illegible] Cincinnati and Pittsbu[illegible] not scheduled.

Bruce, who brought his record to 4-1 with ninth-inning relief help from Hal Woodeshick, was tagged for a two-run triple in the sixth inning by Tom Haller and went into the seventh trailing 3-2.

Rally Wins It

The Colts tied it when Bob Shaw was touched for singles by Eddie Kasko and Nellie Fox before forcing in a run by walking Al Spangler and Walt Bond. When Shaw walked John Bateman in the eighth, Billy Pierce came on, but it was too late. Singles by Kasko and Spangler got the winning run home.

The Cubs bolted to a 4-0 lead against the Dodgers in the first game, three runs scoring on Ron Santo's homer. The Dodgers caught up in the eighth on Jim Gilliam's homer ar[illegible] won it in the 10th when Tommy Davis singled and Frank Howard hit his 11th homer.

In the nightcap, the Dodgers provided Drysdale with a 3-0 lead in the first two innings, cashing in on four stolen bases and five walks by Fred Norman. Davis stole three bases.

Ernie Broglio was pitching a two-hit shutout for the Cardinals when the Phillies tied the score in the sixth with two runs. Singles by Tony Taylor and Allen plus two grounders get one run across before John Herrnstein singled in another. Allen's homer then won it for Jim Bunning, now 4-1 with the aid of Ed Roebuck's relief help.

The Mets stroked 15 hits against Braves' starter Warren Spahn and three successors. Dick Smith slammed three key doubles for New York while Ron Hunt also chipped in with three hits. Spahn, now 2-3, left in the fifth inning after Joe Christopher tagged a homer. The score was the Mets' highest of the season.

Torres Favored Over McClure

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Torres is a 13-10 favorite to whip Skeeter McClure, an old buddy and fellow Olympian, in the middleweight television fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The 10-rounder will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV. Starting time is 9 p.m., EST.

They have been good friends since the Puerto Rican-born Torres won a narrow, disputed decision over the tall, Toledo boxer in the National Golden Gloves final in 1958.

"We're friends but it won't mean a thing when we get into the ring," said Torres, now a New Yorker.

"Some of your hardest and best fights have been between good friends," said McClure, a teaching graduate of the University of Toledo.

McClure won the Olympic light - middleweight crown at Rome in 1960 when he was a teammate of Cassius Clay. Clay captured the light-heavyweight gold medal.

Torres won a silver medal in the light middleweight class at the 1956 games in Melbourne. He lost a split decision in the final to Laszlo Papp, who now is the undefeated European middleweight pro champion.

As a pro Torres, 28, has a 29-1-2 record, including 22 knockouts. McClure, 25, has a 16-2 record, including seven knockouts.

Hit Seven More In 15-7 Triumph; Yanks Bow, 7-3

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vic Power used to be Minnesota's starting first baseman. Along came outfielder Tony Oliva, and Power was the Twins' No. 2 first baseman. Now comes Don Mincher, and Power again may be a starting first baseman—for some other team.

Mincher's recent slugging feats have made the veteran Power even more expendable than he had been when Oliva's presence forced outfilder Bob Allison to first base.

Mincher hit his fourth home run in five games Thursday as Minnesota clobbered the Chicago White Sox, 15-7.

Power probably is the best defensive first baseman in the American League. But rookie Oliva is hitting even better than expected while sluggers Allison, Jimmie Hall and Harmon Killebrew are producing at their usual home run pace.

Now, with Mincher acting as if he wants in on a good thing, Twins' Manager Sam Mele finds himself with five power hitters for four positions. That doesn't leave much room for Power, who conceivably could bring Minnesota a badly needed pitcher in a trade.

The 25-year-old Mincher trails Hall 9, Allison 9 and Oliva 7 in home runs, but he's tied with Killebrew at six each. His .356 batting average is second only to Oliva's .414 for the Twins.

The first baseman has hit three of his last four homers with two runners on base. His blast Thursday, one of six for the Twins, was good for three runs.

Only two other games were played in the AL. Washington downed Baltimore 4-1 and Detroit halted New York 7-3.

Two for Killebrew

Killebrew clouted two homers for the Twins, one with two men aboard. Allison, Rich Rollins and Zoilo Versalles also connected against the White Sox.

Rollins wound up driving in five runs, three on his fifth homer and two on a double.

Minnesota now has slammed 51 homers in 26 games, a rate that would give the Twins a major league record of 318 at the end of the season. The New York Yankees hold the record of 240.

Despite the Twins' onslaught against Gary Peters and Eddie Fisher, starter Gerry Arrigo was forced from the game in the fifth inning after Chicago got to him for five runs and nine hits. Tom McCraw hit a two-run homer for the White Sox in the ninth.

Don Zimmer cracked a grand slam home run for all of Washington's runs as the Orioles' Robin Roberts suffered his second setback in three decisions.

Buster Narum held Baltimore to four hits in winning his third game against one defeat.

Detroit trailed the Yankees 3-2 going into the seventh. Then the Tigers erupted for five runs singled home the tying run, and Steve Hamilton's wild pitch with the bases loaded sent home the deciding tally.

The Tigers added three runs on singles by Dick McAuliffe and George Thomas.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Frank Howard, Dodgers, collected single and double before hitting two-run homer in 10th inning for 6-4 first game victory over Chicago Cubs, then completed 5-for-8 performance by stroking two singles and driving in two runs in 5-0 nightcap triumph.

PITCHING — Don Drysdale, Dodgers, brought his record to 5-1 with his fifth straight complete game victory, allowing the Cubs only four hits in the second game of a doubleheader.

Willie Thrilled by Early Start for Homer, Bat Title

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays' early seasor attack on Roger Maris' home-run record and his threat to become the first in 23 years to hit .400 has the baseball fans agog.

But none are as excited about Mays' batting feats as Willie himself. The brilliant San Francisco Giant center fielder is thrilled by it all, but he is fighting a battle within himself to prevent his true feelings from cropping out.

A wonderfully cooperative person, Mays has to use utmost restraint from being rude as he parries questions hurled at him concerning his chances of finishing with a .400 batting average. Or his chances of bettering Maris' 61 home runs over the course of a 162-game season.

'I'm not saying anything, but not anything," Willie backed off when the suggestion was made to him that he could be the first since Ted Williams in 1941 to hit .400.

Mays' true nature, however, came to the fore.

"I'm like this," he said, "If I'm going to break a record, please don't tell me. If I'm thinking about doing something real bad, I won't do it. Someone comes up to me and says, 'If you get a hit today, it will be your 2,000th.' You can bet I won't get the hit.

"Don't tell me things like that. Just let me go and play. Don't tell me nothing and I don't think about it and then I do it."

Through the Giants' first 21 games, Mays had a batting average of .481 with 11 home runs. No one in years had gotten off to as fast a start. How long did he think he could keep that up?

Ball Looks Bigger

"Amazing, ain't it?" he said and laughed. "But it won't last. But I'd sure like to keep it going for a little while longer. I'm not doing anything different, but somehow the ball looks bigger coming into the plate. It always does look bigger when you're hitting."

There is another explanation although Mays is reluctant to talk about it. At 33 and with 12 full seasons behind him, Willie opened this season in his best frame of mind since his rookie year as the laughing Say-Hey kid of 20 in 1951.

It isn't so much that he's smarter and more experienced although that could be one of the underlying reasons. But, for the first time in years, Mays is playing without the weight of marital or financial troubles on his mind.

It is two years since Willie's divorce became final. He had to borrow on his $100,000 slary from the Giants, and it took another year for Mays to dig out from his financial morass.

"I've got real peace of mind now," Mays said. "The way I feel right now, as far as my health and frame of mind are concerned, I think I can go on playing for another 10 years."

Trout Unlimited To Hear Expert On Fish Policy

Kenneth F. Wich, Regional Fish Manager, Region 8, New York Conservation Department, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Catskill Mountain Chapter of Trout Unlimited, Wednesday, May 20, at 7:30 p. m. at Kahil's Rainbow Lodge in Mt. Tremper.

The theme of Wich's speech will be "New York State Stocking Policy," with a slide lecture covering the stocking policy and the method by which they determine the allotment for each stream.

Discussion topics to be covered are: (1) What the Conservation Department is doing to save trout streams. (2) Are the streams and waters of New York State classified, and if so, when last classified? (3) What is the written policy on trout by the Conservation Department in New York State. (4) What control directly does the Conservation Department have in making the conservation laws on fish and fishing, and is it possible to change existing laws to further trout protection programs?

Also to be discussed is what Trout, Unlimited can do to assist the Conservation Department to preserve trout and prevent stream pollution.

All chapter members, as well as all interested non-members, are requested to pull off their waders and boots Wednesday night and join in full force to support this important trout program.

KERMIT, Tex. — (NEA) — Those who do not think athletes are improving from year to year should note the case of Lewis Hernandez. Lewis, a seventh-grade student in Kermit, pole vaulted 11 feet 1 inch. In 1945 first place in the Southwest Conference was taken by a Texas A & M vaulter who cleared 10 feet, 6 inches.

Maras Speaker At New Paltz Sports Dinner

Joseph T. Maras, assistant director of admissions at Union College, will be the principal speaker at the second annual Sport Night Tuesday, June 2, at 8 p. m. in the cafeteria of the central school at New Paltz.

Maras joined the Union College faculty in 1960 as an assistant professor of physical education and coach of football. After guiding the varsity team for four seasons, he was named in February, 1964, as assistant director of admissions.

During his first year as Union's coach, he guided the team to its first win in three seasons.

Coaches of the various sports at New Paltz Central will present letters to members of the athletic teams. The parents are invited and encouraged to attend.

Duquesne Graduate

A native of Hibbing, Minnesota, he is a 1938 graduate of Duquesne University, where he was an All-American honorable mention center on the football team. Among the other honors he earned at Duquesne was the Weiss Prize as the senior athlete with the highest scholastic record. Following graduation he played professional football with the Pittsburgh Steelers for three years. Maras began coaching in 1946, after a wartime hitch in the Navy, as a line coach at Champlain College.

From 1948-50 he was assistant football and head wrestling coach at Amherst, moving on to Harvard for the next seven years, where he continues his work with Lloyd Jordan. From 1957 until his appointment at Union he was an assistant football coach at Columbia University. In 1950 he was awarded a master of arts degree in personal administration and vocational guidance by Columbia University's Teachers College.

Maras is married and the father of three daughters.

50 Club Field Day Scheduled July 4

Saturday, July 4 has been set as the date of the annual Children's Field Day, sponsored by the 50 Club of Kingston.

Tom Coughlin will serve as general chairman of the event, which features games and prizes for city children.

Individual Rule Adopted by KBA Is Boon to Sport

Adoption of the individual membership sanction by the Kingston Bowling Association at its annual May meeting removes a long standing irritant among bowlers, particularly those who roll in several leagues.

Under the new setup, every bowler in the KBA will be required to pay for an ABC membership card which will sanction him to bowl in any number of leagues in the local association.

This plan will also supersede the policy currently in effect whereby the league collects a team sanction of $7.50 on five-man teams, or $1.50 per number of bowlers on three and four-man teams to forward to the KBA and ABC.

Many Advantages

The obvious advantage of the new rule will be financial relief to bowlers participating in more than one league, as well as a saving to all leagues who no longer will have to divert part of the sponsor's fee to paying the team sanction, which will be eliminated.

Duties of officers of the executive committee are now specifically designated. For example, the first vice president will serve as tournament manager; 2nd vice president, auditing chairman; 3rd vice chairman, publicity; 4th vice president, awards; 5th vice president, chairman of rules committee.

The new rules also authorize the election of an assistant secretary-treasurer.

Another change in policy is that the executive committee will meet in June to elect its officers. However, no member of the executive committee can be elected an officer unless he has served at least one complete term on the executive committee.

Woodstock Riding Club Sets June 21 Date for 17th Show

The Woodstock Riding Club of Woodstock has announced Sunday, June 21, as the date for its 17th annual horse show.

The American Horse Show Association-recognized Class C show will be held at the club's Ohayo Mountain grounds starting at 9 a. m. and continuing until all 38 classes are judged.

Judging will take place in two rings and on the outside hunt course.

Four divisions, each providing a stake class as well as money prizes, trophies and ribbons, will be scheduled. A fifth division, equitation, will contain the big medal classes as well as others. Appropriate ribbons and trophies will be awarded. Special classes, some of which carry challenge trophies and ribbons, are traditional at this show.

Divisions for three-gaited saddle horses, working hunters, jumpers, morgans, and equitation will be included.

Those wishing prize lists will receive them in response to requests addressed to the Woodstock Riding Club, Woodstock. Prize lists will be mailed to an exclusive list during the last week of May.

Olympic Goal For Three Crews

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Harvard and Yale—both unbeaten and both hoping for the United States Olympic rowing assignment this fall — will give some Olympic answers Saturday in the Eastern sprint championships at Lake Quinsigamond.

And Cornell, beaten one-half length last week by Yale, hopes the top two will be so busy watching each other that it can slip past.

The race is at the Olympic distance of 2,000 meters, where one slip can be fatal.

Harvard is top-seeded and is in the first heat, along with Penn, Rutgers, MIT, Navy, Dartmouth and Columbia.

Yale, seeded second, is in the second heat along with Cornell, No. 3, Wisconsin, No. 4, Brown, Syracuse, Princeton and Boston U.

The two heats go off in the morning with the leading crews advancing to the late afternoon final.

Harvard and Yale each has the fourth lane, but that is not necessarily advantageous here. Cornell strength could be decisive if the usual southwesterly headwind or an easterly quartering breeze prevails.

Oklahoma Opener Is Rained Out

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Another attempt to play the first round of the $40,000 Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament was scheduled today, but thunderstorms which wiped out play late Thursday again were forecast for the area.

Play was halted Thursday when lightning flashed threateningly over the 7,042-yard Quail Creek Country Club course. All but 21 players had finished their rounds when the end came. None of the scores counted.

PGA officials promised a decision early Friday whether to play 36 holes Sunday or carry the tournament over another day and finish Monday.

Involved in the decision are local television commitments. Another complicating factor is that the field will be cut to the low 70 scorers after 36 holes and to the low 60 scorers after 54 holes.

A 36-hole session Sunday would necessitate drawing up new pairings in the middle of the day.

Yonkers Feature To Cardigan Bay

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A crowd of 23,395 saw Cardigan Bay score a 2½ length victory over Royal Rick in the $15,000 New Zealand prep pace at the opening of Yonkers Raceway Thursday night.

Stanley Dancer drove the 8-year-old gelding to the win in 2:05 3-5, over a sloppy track.

The New Zealand import, purchased by Dancer for $100,000 for the Cardigan Stable and Irving Berkemeyer of New Milford, N. J., returned $3.30.

Josedale Go Lucky was third.

Royal Domain, won the secondary feature, the Lt. David Lipton Memorial pace by three-quarters of a length over Mr. Childs and paid $11.

Great Credit, another New Zealand import, went off the odds-on favorite, but finished fifth.

At Buffalo Raceway, Scottish Port won the featured $2,000 invitational pace for 3-year-olds in 2:08 1-5.

The winner, driven by George Gilmour, paid $39.80, $6.80 and $4.40. Kwik Kat was second and Meadow Lou third.

Little Leaguers

Esopus Dodgers Gain 10-3 Win

Peter Koola hurled a three hitter and banged out three doubles and a single in four trips as the Dodgers walloped the Mets, 10-3, in an Esopus Legion Little league game.

The winners broke open a tight contest with a six run explosion in the fifth frame. Bob Webster singled and doubled and Kim Tresvick rapped two singles to aid in the attack.

Rich Freese, the losing hurler, had a pair of doubles for the Mets.

Tigers and Cubs Score in Peewee

Ross Carey slugged two home runs and Bob McCullough added three hits to pace the Cubs to a 6-5 squeaker over the Mets in the St. Mary's Pee Wee League.

David Jackson hit two home runs and Louis Casciaro had three singles for the losers.

Three runs in the fifth gave the Tigers a 4-3 win over the Red Sox. Mike Cline of the Tigers and Dan Gallagher of the Sox slammed home runs. Vince Marriore hit two singles.

High School Pitcher Fans 22 in 7 Innings

DALE, Ind. (AP) — Pitcher Don Kirkland of Chrisney High School struck out 22 batters in a seven-inning baseball game with Oakland City Thursday in pitching a 10-0 no-hitter.

He needed the extra strikeout in the seventh inning because his catcher let a third strike get away and the batter made it to first. Kirkland faced 23 men, walking one. Nobody hit a ball fair against him.

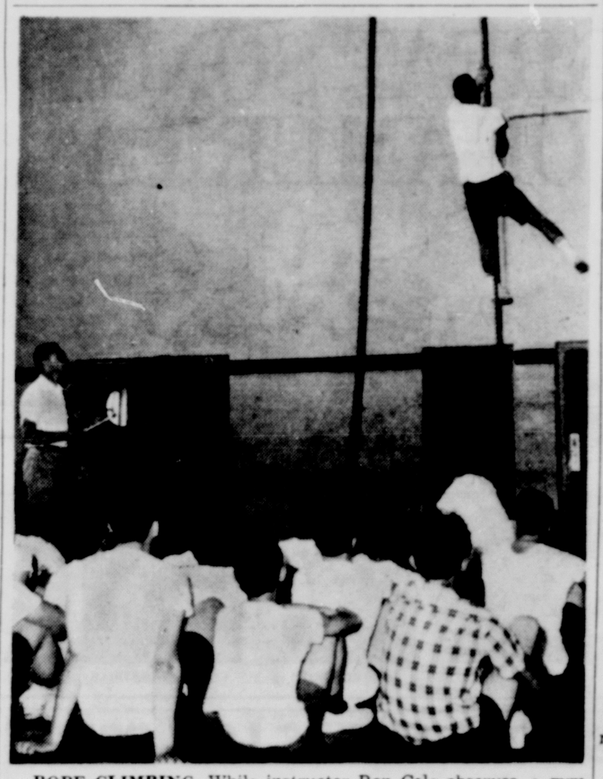

Second Hart Trophy For Jean Beliveau

MONTREAL (AP)—Big Jean Beliveau may well be the Montreal Canadiens' best center since the great Howie Morenz. He definitely is the most honored.

Beliveau won the Hart Trophy the National Hockey League's Most Valuable Player emblem, for the second time Thursday. He is the only Canadien player except Morenz to win the trophy twice, although eight others have been named MVP since the original trophy was donated in 1923.

Morenz won in 1928, 1930 and 1931. Beliveau's first time as 1956, early in his big league career.

Runner-up in the Hart Trophy was Bobby Hull of Chicago with 58 points while Detroit's Gordie Howe, who has taken the trophy six times, was third with 50.

Early to Rise

HALLANDALE, Fla.—(NEA)—Most established jockeys take advantage of their position to sleep late in the morning. Not Larry Gilligan. The 27-year-old rider arose before dawn almost every morning during the meet at Gulfstream to work out horses. Gilligan feels that riding horse in workouts is a good way to insure that his mount will perform at his best when it really counts.

Dancer and Hill Renew Rivalry In the Preakness

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Northern Dancer and Hill Rise, the David and Goliath of horse racing's 3-year-old division, meet again Saturday in the 88th running of the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico with every indication of a repeat of their Kentucky Derby stretch duel.

Northern Dancer, a mighty mite from Canada, won the Derby in record time of two minutes flat for 1¼ miles. He covered the last quarter in 24 seconds.

Hill Rise, the California-owned flash, also was under the old Derby record and ran the final one-quarter mile in 23 2-5 seconds but lost the decision by a neck.

Four other sharply trained thoroughbreds — The Scoundrel, Roman Brother, Quadrangle and Big Pete — will oppose the fearsome twosome in the 1 3-16 mile race before a crowded house of 30,000 and a national television audience.

On CBS Television

Post time is 4:45 p.m. EST, with television and radio, CBS, scheduled for 4:30-5 p.m.

The four go into the second leg of the Triple Crown, which includes the Derby and Belmont, with fine credentials except for one thing — all but Big Pete were badly beaten by Northern Dancer in the Derby.

Big Pete didn't start in the Derby and in the words of his trainer, Bernie Bond, the Preakness distance figures to be too much for this speed-loving son of Degage owned by Mrs. Harriet N. Ball of Falls Church, Va.

Hill Rise, carrying the hopes of George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, has been made the 7-5 choice just as he was in the Derby, with Northern Dancer from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm second in the line at 2-1. It wouldn't be surprising to see them go off at close to co-choices.

Found Key Hole

The Dancer gained his advantage in the Derby when jockey Bill Hartack found a hole five-eighths of a mile from the finish and shot the nimble son of Nearctic into a quick lead.

Backers of Hill Rise figured that Willie Shoemaker will not let Hartack get such an advantage this time since the field is much smaller and the El Peco colt will have plenty of room to stretch his long legs.

With six starters, the race will have a gross value of $176,700. The winner will get $124,200. To make it worthwhile for the others, $30,000 goes to the second-place finisher, $15,000 to third and $7,500 to fourth.

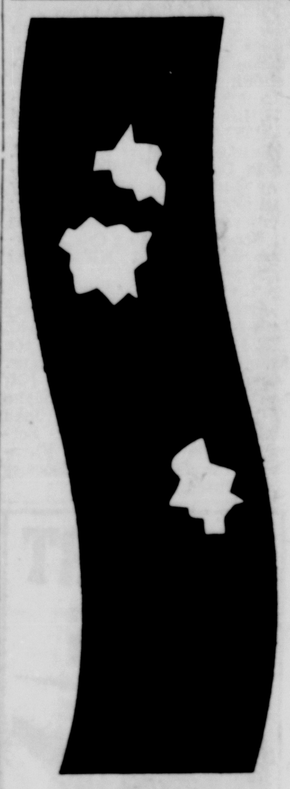

In the draw for places in the starting gate, Big Pete got No. 1 with Roman Brother No. 2, Quadrangle No. 3, Northern Dancer No. 4, the Scoundrel No. 5 and Hill Rise on the outside.

The forecast is for clear and warm with a fast track.

Rambler

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore. — (NEA) — A rambling Umpqua River steelhead wandered far a-sea to grow up. The tagged-female, measuring 25 inches and weighing seven pounds, was caught by W. A. Hudelson of Myrtle Creek as it returned to the South Umpqua on its spawning migration. The fish was tagged by Canadian authorities 10 months prior to the catch at a point approximately 720 miles, via open ocean, from where the steelhead wound up hooked.

List Candidates

Davis Is Named For Congress By Liberal Party

Hudson Valley regional office of the Liberal Party of New York, as the result of county conventions, today announced the candidacy of William G. Davis, Liberal councilman of the Kingston Board of Aldermen, as its choice for the 28th Congressional District seat (Ulster, Greene, Schoharie, Columbia and Dutchess Counties).

The executive board of Ulster County Liberal Party endorsed George A. Majestic of Town of Gardiner, Democratic candidate for State senatorial post of the 34th District (Ulster, Greene, Delaware, and Sullivan Counties).

Also endorsed was Joseph P. Torraca of Marlboro, Republican candidate for district attorney.

Others named on the Liberal slate were:

Mrs. Mabel Chapman of Woodstock for state assembly, and Stephen Korchowsky of 36 Howland Avenue, Kingston, for county treasurer.

Divis, serving his fourth term as 13th Ward alderman, is chairman of Ulster County Liberal Party Committee. He has been an employe of New York Central Railroad for the past 21 years and serves as secretary-treasurer of Local 898, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

He is affiliated with the Legislative Representatives Association, BPO of Elks and Esteemed Order of Loyal Knights.

Davis and his wife, Katherine have two children, Garry, who resides at Fitch Street and a daughter, Barbara Spears of California.

A statement from Valley headquarters says, "We feel, that in Mr. Davis, we offer the independent voter a candidate who will strive for better legislation in the field of social and economic improvement. We must have medical care for the aged, through social security, civil rights and civil liberty for all our people, a minimum salary base of at least $1.50 per hour, expansion of our educational facilities, re-training of workers to facilitate and take up the gap which automation has produced and a strong support of President Lyndon B. Johnson's fight against poverty.

"Economically speaking, neither of the other major party candidates can state this. The present congressman who represents this area has voted wrong on all bills that would have aided his congressional constituents in this field.

The Democrat aspirant, cannot be and is not a friend of labor, he has denied his own employes the right of organizational bargaining collectively for better economic conditions and grievence procedures, through his obstructive attitude towards organization at his plants. We therefore offer Mr. Davis, as the only independent Liberal canddidate and friend of labor.

Davis will oppose Republican incumbent, J. Ernest Wharton of Richmondville, Schoharie County, and Democrat, Joseph Y. Resnick, Ellenville industrialist.

Majestic, running for the state senate seat held by Republican E. Ogden Bush of DeLancey, Delaware County, is a supervisor for the Town of Gardiner, a contractor and former union organizer.

Torraca, current assistant district attorney, was formerly associated with the office of District Attorney Frank Hogan of New York City. He will oppose Democrat Herbert Weinsoff, Ellenville attorney.

Mrs. Chapman is candidate for the State Assembly seat held by incumbent Republican Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock. She is employed by Rotron Manufacturing Co., Inc., Woodstock and was the first president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union Local 259.

Korchowsky, a member of the Carpenters Union seeks the county treasurer's post held by Republican Fred H. DuBois.

Hughes Is Carpenter

George E. Yerry Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters today noted that James Hughes, who spoke at a Common Council hearing Wednesday night on downtown urban renewal, is a member of Carpenters Local 1175, and not a plumbers' union as was reported. Hughes reported that the union, at an April meeting, accepted two Negroes as apprentices. His statement followed one by Miss Blythe Miller, of the Congress of Racial Equality, who said that CORE was in favor of urban renewal, but would work to see that there is no social discrimination in carrying out the program.

Names In The News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP) — The fourth wife of Alan Jay Lerner, Broadway lyricist whose hits include "My Fair Lady," has sued for separation.

"Anything we have to say will be said in court," said Mrs. Lerner's lawyer, Roy Cohn. The papers were sealed.

ATLANTA (AP) — Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and President Johnson's antipoverty program, brushed off reporters' questions during a visit to Atlanta about the possibility of his becoming the Democratic candidate for vice president.

NEW YORK (AP)—Thurgood Marshall, the attorney who successfully argued the case against segregated schools before the U.S. Supreme Court 10 years ago, is the winner of the NAACP's Liberty Bell award.

The award was presented to Marshall, now a federal judge, by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Thursday night.

The award was presented during the closed-circuit telecast of a "freedom spectacular" by which the NAACP hoped to raise $1 million. Thirty-four entertainers donated their services to the show, which was telecast to 48 cities.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Diane Crosby, ex-wife of Lindsay Crosby, has taken out a license to marry Gerald Reed Bott, 30, businessman from Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Phone Man Hurt As Truck Tips

A 45-year-old New York Telephone Co. employe, was injured at 4 p. m. Thursday when a company truck he was driving skidded out of control on Lucas Avenue Turnpike, Town of Rosendale, and overturned on its top after hitting a tree stump.

State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes, Kingston sub-station, said Orville M. Klomps, of 608 Plainfield Street, Town of Ulster, was driving the truck north on a turn when the vehicle skidded off the east side of the highway, veered across the pavement, went off the west side, hit the tree stump and overturned.

According to troopers, traffic on the highway was interrupted for about an hour.

Klomps, a supervisor for the telephone company, and former chief of Ulster Hose Co., was treated at Benedictine Hospital for lacerations of the forehead, contusions and injuries of the right ankle.

Trooper Fred Cooper investigated the mishap.

Boy Hero to Get Citation During Police Meeting

Robert Sickler, 14, of 16 Hunter Street, who rescued a downtown boy after he had fallen into the Rondout Creek Tuesday, is to receive a Citizens Citation Award at a police board meeting Thursday, May 21 in the mayor's office, City Hall.

Sickler saved the life of Anthony Williams, 6, of 49 Meadow Street, who had fallen into the creek from a dock beyond Ferry Street while playing with other boys.

Mayor John J. Schwenk in a recent letter praising Robert, said in part, "It is our desire to present you with a Citizens Citation Award for saving this little boy's life." The mayor said he was "proud and happy" to learn of Robert's heroism.

Time of the presentation was announced Thursday afternoon.

Doctors Ask

uary of this year there had been 41 patients in the hospital but that the number dropped to 37 and then rapidly declined and it was stated that 30 beds were available now.

Is Under Study

After a lengthy discussion on the subject Supervisor James A. Rapp (R), First Ward, moved that consent be sought from the State Commissioner of Health to the effect that ten beds be made available for non-tuberculosis patient use, pointing out that the law provides that tubercular patients at all times have preference.

Minority Leader John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro, offered an amendment that "any available beds" be substituted for the "ten beds" and also asked that there be inserted in the Rapp resolution a clause the T-B cases have priority.

Rapp pointed out that the law so provides.

During the discussion Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux moved that the matter be referred to the Public Health Committee for clarification and that the committee report back at the next meeting on the matter of preference of patients. That motion was carried.

Car, Club Thefts Noted

Police were notified Thursday of a theft from a car and from the Twaalfskill Club, 282 West O'Reilly Street. Several clubs were reported missing from the pro's shop at Twaalfskill, and Ann Simrany, of 89 Wrentham Street, reported her car entered by the forcing of a window vent while it was parked in the lot at Sangi's Bowlero, Cedar Street. A gear indicator was reported missing from the steering post.

Speaker Listed For Last Nurse's Institute Monday

DR. FREDERICK A. WHITEHOUSE

Nurses attending the fourth and last session of the Heart Institute for Nurses sponsored by the Ulster and Greene County Heart Associations Monday, May 18 — 7:30 p. m. at the Brigham School Auditorium, will hear guest speaker Dr. Frederick A. Whitehouse, director of rehabilitation for the American Heart Association, discuss Psychosocial Aspects of the main theme of the Institute, Strokes.

This session will be presided over and greeted by Sister Mary Charles, co-administrator of Benedictine Hospital and co-chairman of the Nurse's Institute.

Dr. Whitehouse, Ed.D., received his Master of Arts in psychology from Columbia University in 1940 and his doctorate in Education and Rehabilitation in 1952 from New York University.

His past positions include school psychologist and vocational counselor for the Division of Vocational Education of the Connecticut State Department of Education (1943-47), and director of rehabilitation at one of the leading comprehensive rehabilitation centers in the country, the Institute of the Crippled and Disabled (1947-53).

He is the author of numerous and varied articles in the field of rehabilitation, and these have been published in many magazines of the medical and related professions.

Dr. Whitehouse serves on the board of directors of the Queens, New York Cerebral Palsy Society and the medical committee of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped and is a member of the policy committee of the National Rehabilitation Association.

"All nurses and nursing students are urged to attend this concluding session," says Katherine A. Bower, executive director of the Ulster County Heart Association, "as it should prove to be a most interesting and valuable one."

There will be no registration fee for nurses who have not attended the past three sessions, but wish to attend this one.

Any questions concerning this Institute or its topic, Stroke, should be addressed to the Ulster County Heart Association, 268 Fair Street.

Students Claim Mass Bed Mark

LONDON (AP)—"Four tons of humanity were on top of me," said Frazer Cartwright, 16. "It nearly squashed the life out of me. I thought I was being killed. Never again, thank you."

Students at Wakefield Technical and Art College in Yorkshire decided Thursday night to try to break the world record of 42 students in one bed.

Frazer and four others volunteered to form the bottom layer. Forty-five more climbed on, to make a record 50.

As the last three students scrambled to the top of the writhing mass, Frazer yelled: "Get off! Quick! I'm—"

He didn't finish the sentennce. Blood gushed from his nose and he fainted.

Other students shouted to those on top to jump. They jumped.

Frazer was unconscious and the other four on the bottom were woozy. Artificial respiration finally brought Frazer around.

Makarios, Gyani Meet

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (AP)—President Archbishop Makarios and U.N. Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani visited strife-torn Famagusta together today. Gyani tongued-lashed Greek Cypriots as at least equally responsible for terror tactics on the divided island.

Surrounded by Irish troops and Greek Cypriot police, the pair walked through dockyards directly underneath the walls of the Turkish quarter, where two Greek army officers and one Greek Cypriot policeman were killed by Turks last Monday.

Frost Warning Is

ed a low of 49.

The Weather Bureau said scattered frost could be expected tonight in northeastern New York, the Mohawk and Hudson Valleys and the western Catskills.

The bureau said those areas would warm up Saturday. The western half of the state and the area east of Lake Ontario is expected to be warmer tonight.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market nudged irregularly higher early this afternoon. Trading was the lightest in weeks.

Gains of key stocks were mainly fractional, some going to a point or so.

An exception was Du Pont, up more than 3 points as it rebounded from some sharp declines this week.

Aerospace issues, nonferrous metals, drugs, chemicals and oils were generally higher. Airlines and tobaccos continued to drift lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 306.9 with industrials up 1.0, rails up .1 and utilities up .1.

Interest seemed to be cooling in some of the recent red-hot speculative favorites. Calumet & Hecla and Texas Gulf Sulphur were off fractionally at the start, recovering later.

G.D. Searle and Parke, Davis advanced more than a point each as interest switched to the drug section.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .40 at 824.64.

U.S. Smelting rose about a point. Polaroid lost a point and Control Data more than that.

GOP Aldermen Endorse Sen. Bush For Reelection

An endorsement of the candidacy of Sen. E. Ogden Bush of DeLancey, incumbent Republican in the State Senate, for nomination in the June 2 primary was offered by GOP aldermen in Kingston Common Council today.

In a statement issued by Republican Majority Leader John Machione, 12th Ward alderman, the floor leader said the GOP aldermen of the Common Council heartily endorse the incumbent senator for the party's nomination on June 2.

Emphasizing the legislative record of Sen. Bush, Alderman Machione said the Republican council members were in a position to know first hand the senator's accomplishments for the city and county. He stressed as one example the expeditious manner in which the senator guided the city's urban renewal measures through the State Senate.

Machione further said that his colleagues in the council fully understand the value of experience and responsibility in government.

"Government needs the services of dedicated and trained individuals today," Machione said.

"Persons aspiring to high government position should spend time serving an apprenticeship in lesser position so that those they represent may be assured of the best representation.

"If such a policy is adhered to our democratic form of government would be in less jeopardy from outside forces.

"We have such a dedicated and trained representative in Senator Bush," the statement said.

Keating Critical Of Pentagon in Closing of Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says the Defense Department should give greater consideration to the impact of its activities and decisions on local economies.

Keating made the comment Thursday in supporting a request by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, also a New York Republican, for Senate hearings to get first-hand information on the economic effects of the closing of local military bases.

Javits' request was in a letter to Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., chairman of the House-Senate Economic Subcommittee on Defense Procurement.

Keating contended the Pentagon decision to close the Rome, N.Y., Air Materiel Area was made without considering that Rome is in an area of substantial unemployment.

Keating also said the Defense Department had cancelled a contract with a Schenectady firm, a step that he said would result in a sharp cutback in employment.

He argued that the items produced by the firm were not obsolete and that more of them would be needed by the department.

Keating did not identify the company or its product. But he apparently referred to the Army's termination of a contract for amphibious vehicles made by the Consolidated Diesel Electric Corp.

The company said Thursday it had furloughed 100 employes, half of its work force, because of the Army's action.

CAP Meeting Fund Drive Set

The public is invited to attend an open house at the Army Reserve Building, Flatbush Avenue, Wednesday at 8 p. m. in conjunction with the meeting of Ulster County Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol.

On Saturday Ulster County Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, will hold a fund raising drive in front of the Woolworth store on Wall Street. The purpose of this drive is to purchase training manuals for cadet use.

The Civil Air Patrol wishes to express its thanks to the managers of Shoe Giant, Shop-Rite, and the Woolworth store on Albany Avenue for the use of their facilities in the fund raising drive of May 8 and 9.

Cadets James Hall, Larry Wonderly, Stephen Toder and Richard Dugan participated in the fund raising drive on May 8 and 9.

Captain Faces Desertion

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP—Capt. Alfred Svenson, delivered into U.S. custody by Soviet authorities a week ago after spending a year in East Germany, has been charged with desertion and larceny, the U.S. Army announced today.

Svenson, a naturalized citizen of Lithuanian birth, drove acrosss the border to East Germany on May 4, 1963, in an Army jeep. His use of the vehicle, which the East Germans returned, is the basis of the basis of the larceny charge.

The Army announced on May 7 that Soviet authorities had handed Svenson over. ADN, the East German news agency, said he had been expelled after "showing himself unworthy of the asylum offered him." It gave no details.

Svenson, 31 and unmarried, lives in Washington, D.C.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Figuring Broker's 'Profit' On Over-Counter Buys

Q) "In buying over-the-counter stocks in lots of 100 or less, on what are the broker's commissions based." J. Mck.

A) The over-the-counter broker usually takes his commission in the form of a "profit." Whether on round or odd lots, the profit largely depends on how much effort the broker expends in order to effect the trade.

What the customer pays is the net price (or inside price) plus profit.

There is general agreement amongst the OTC broker fraternity that no profit on a single transaction should exceed 5 per cent, except in special circumstances.

Some member firms of the New York Stock Exchange — acting as agents — will execute an OTC trade at standard commission rates through their OTC departments. This is done by taking the best inside price obtainable and adding to that figure the exact commission charged on an odd round lot sale if the stock were listed on the Big Board.

Q) "A friend of mine, retired, wants to invest in the market. He wants only preferreds for safety and good yield. He wants to get between five and six per cent on the money invested. Could you submit such a list?" M.C.

A) If you will allow me to say so, I think your friend will have to lower his sights somewhat.

There are relatively few preferred stocks selling today to yield between five and six per cent, and of these there are none that I recommend.

Out of a long list of preferred quotations before me, I see only one that yields above 5 per cent. I do not advise purchase of that stock because the dividend on the preferred was not earned last year.

Among the more attractive listings are Pacific Gas & Electric non-callable 5½ per cent preferred, offered to yield 4.70, Southwestern Electric 5 per cent on a 4.78 basis and Beneficial Finance 5 per cent to yield 4.85.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Renovation Study at Courthouse

would have been less, "let's do it now".

$50,000 Still Left

Inquiries were made as to how much of the original $250,000 bond issue authorized was still available. It was reported that "about $50,000" was still unused. One of the major items in the renovation already made, was the discovery of the dangerous condition of the cornice on the courthouse which had to be replaced at a cost of some $40,000.

Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, said he had brought up the question of air conditioning when the original renovation plans were under discussion and inquired why it had not been included.

Defending the new heating program, Chairman Williams, said considerable money would be saved annually through a modern heating plant. It was stated that it now cost $10,800 to heat the building with the antiquated boilers and one T pipe heating system.

The board named Raymond J. Morris Jr., of New Paltz, a former New Paltz fire chief, to the position of deputy fire coordinator, on motion of Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo (R) Ulster.

Asks About Commission

A request from Jake Chichelsky that a concession for sale of papers and refreshments, other than a luncheonette, be established in the new County building on Main Street, was referred to the Building Committee. Chichelsky's comunication called attention to the convenience but stated that because of the numerous nearby restaurants, luncheons should not be included.

Oral reports of progress were made by several committees, including the Salary Study Committee, Printing Committee, Community College Committee, Parking Lot, and Industrial Development Committee.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th ward, chairman of the Industrial Development committee, reported the new Ulster County Data Book would contain 93 pages of facts about the county and would be ready to go to press by May 20. It will be ready for distribution early in June. He asked for $1,000 to cover the cost and said it was expected the total cost would be about $820 and this would be reduced by sale of the booklet.

Court Funds Transfer

Transfer of funds in the Family Court budget brought out a discussion but the request was granted by a 31 to 1 vote. Supervisor Robert F. Phinney (R), 11th ward voting in opposition. Objection was expressed to a transfer for additional salaries and for transcripts. It was stated that the office was now and when the request was made and the budget made up the Family Court Judge could not be fully acquainted with needs.

A report of a survey of county road mileage made by the State Public Works Department showing there were 413.53 miles of roads in Ulster County, outside the City of Kingston and incorporated villages, was accepted by the board.

A resolution offered by Supervisor Douglas Dye (R), town of Kingston, for establishment of County Board of Ethics as provided by law, was referred to the Law Committee on motion of Supervisor C. Raichle (R), 12th ward. The resolution calls for establishing the Board to consist of an officer or employe of a town, a village, a school district and the city of Kingston, as well as one member who is not a municipal officer or employe, but who is a resident of Ulster County. The term would be two years and the Legislative Committee of the Board of Supervisors would appoint one man to the Board. The county attorney would be an ex-officio member of the board. No salary would be attached to the positions.

A resolution by Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, calling for establishment of a Human Rights Commission under a recently signed law, was referred to the Legislative Committee for study. The commission would consist of fifteen members, serving without salary but eligible for expenses. The motion to refer was made by Supervisor James A. Rapp.

On motion of Supervisor Roger Mable (D), Esopus, the board adjourned out of respect to the memory of John H. Beaver who served as supervisor from the Town of Esopus in 1920.

The board adjourned at 12:20 a. m. today.

Margin Tapering

86 convention votes. Goldwater figures with them he would have more than 600 of the 655 votes it will take to win the nomination.

Rockefeller flew to Washington for an intelligence briefing by Johnson administration officials after telling a news conference his month-long Oregon campaign shows the kind of race he would run if he won the nomination.

"I don't think that any Republican, and I don't care who he is, is going to win in November with the kind of campaigning that's been going on in this state by absentee representation," he said.

Mid-East War

publican and royalist factions.

Douglas-Home said Britain's only objective is to protect its military base at Aden and live up to its treaty obligations to the South Arabian federation, which is menaced by rebel tribesmen supported by the Yemeni republicans and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Nasser has called on the Arab world to expel Britain from the Midddle East.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employers engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

WHY ? ? ?

Accept an older used home when we have 3, new, modern beauties. Be first to own and occupy them. One in Kingston, Two in Hurley. A split level raised ranch and a regular ranch. They have all the things you desire and are priced moderately with terms to fit your pocketbook. Ceramic tile baths, modern kitchens with built-ins, garages, spacious lots. You can even choose your own colors. Why wait to make that long awaited change?

Woman Hurt in Crash

A woman was injured and two other persons escaped unhurt as the result of a rear-end vehicle collision which occurred Thursday morning at East Durham. Leeds State Police reported the cars involved were owned and operated by Mrs. Sarah Dutton, 62, of Preston Hollow, and Dale Bates, 24, of Oak Hill. Catherine Marshman, 42, also of Preston Hollow, a passenger in the Dutton car, received a whiplash of the neck. She was treated by a physician. Troopers said Mrs. Dutton stopped her car for a school bus, when the vehicle was hit in the rear by the Bates car.

Army Reserve Is To Hold Open House for AF Day

Observance tomorrow of Armed Forces Day will be marked with Open House at the Staff Sgt. Robert H. Dietz U.S. Army Reserve Center, 144 Flatbush Avenue, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Col. Carl Hedman, commanding officer of the 654th Engineer Battalion (Heavy Construction), which is stationed at the local USAR Center, and Col. Norman Shirts, sub sector commander of the Second Army Corps, today invited the public to visit the federal establishment and military equipment used by the citizen soldiers of the area. The display will include a 30-foot model of several bridges with battery-powered tanks, simulating the work of the battalion, which was built by battalion personnel. The display is considered the first of its kind to be shown in the area.

The 854th Engineer Battalion is headquarters for four letter companies located in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Monticello and the recently-activated Company "D" located at the Kingston center.

Battalion mess personnel will be on duty tomorrow to serve coffee and cake to visitors to the center.

Cigars for Violators

MISSION, Kan. (AP)—Everyone Patrolman Jerry Pike stopped for a minor traffic violation got a cigar.

He and his wife had wanted a baby for 13 years, and Mrs. Pike gave birth Thursday to a 6-pound, 13-ounce son—Douglas Anthony Pike.

"Mother and baby are doing fine, and dad is flying," Pike reported.

Lawmakers Begin 10-Day Recess In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennnsylvania House and Senate began a 10-day recess today after clearing the way for a final big push toward adjournment when they return May 25.

The House gave unanimous approval Thursday to the Scranton administration's proposed eminent domain program, updating Pennsylvania's land condemnation laws to provide speedier and more equitable payments to property owners.

Passage of the measure opens the door for action in the Senate on enabling legislation for Project 70, the state's $70 million recreation and land reclamation program.

The Senate Forests and Waters Committee is holding back Project 70 until it can study the eminent domain proposal.

Meanwhile, in a surprise move, the House added $2.3 million to Gov. Scranton's proposed appropriation to the 14 state colleges, delaying final passage of his $1.067 billion general fund budget until the legislature returns.

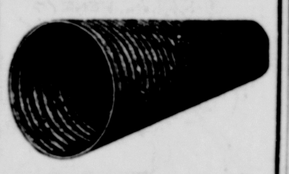

The House and Senate were forced to cancel their sesssions for next week because of two major conventions in Harrisburg, causing a shortage in hotel space.

The delay is expected to push back the tentative timetable for final adjournament from the last week of May to the first week of June.

Both Houses moved a long way toward the final goal, however, with debate and action on a large number of appropriation bills.

The House passed and sent to the Senate $23.5 million in money bills for private colleges, universities and special institutions. The Senate approved $16.2 million in governmental housekeeping bills, all but one going to the governor for his signature.

Max Dreyfus Dies

BREWSTER, N.Y. (AP)—Max Dreyfus, who published the music of George Gershwin, Jerome Kern, Cole Porter, Kurt Weill and Rodgers and Hammerstein, is dead at age 90.

Dreyfus died Wednesday at his Putnam County home. The news was withheld until today so relatives could be notified, said a spokesman for his firm.

Dreyfus was president of Chappell & Co., music publishers. He had been inactive for about a year.

Dutchess Driver Escapes Serious Injury in Crash

A 20-year-old Dutchess County youth narrowly escaped serious injury at 3:45 a. m. today, when his car skidded on wet pavement, went down an embankment and stopped in two feet of water in the Landsmankill Creek.

Sergeant William Urey, of the Rhinebeck state police sub-station, said Frank Cirone, of Rhinecliff Road, Rhinebeck, was driving north on Violet Hill Road off Route 308, Town of Rhinebeck, when his car skidded on a sharp curve. The vehicle went 20 feet down the embankment and came to stop in the creek.

According to a report of Troopers Michael O'Hara and William Shamberg, Cirone escaped with contusions and abrasions. He was not hospitalized, troopers said.
